LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Germans are attacking the line to the south of Ypres again, but the French announce that they have been repulsed. At some point along the front in Flanders and in France, the Germans each day of late made a general movement with a view to hastening their advance farther to the coast. Berlin reports a fiasco in the western war theatre. Decisive action is likely to follow any day. This assertion is made in a statement from German headquarters which says "nothing is proceeding according to our programme," and

DOG FALLS EIGHT STORIES.

Drops Squarely on Man's Head and is Killed—Man not Seriously Injured.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—"Bobs," a bull terrier, made an error of judgment today, leaped over the cornice of the roof on which he was playing and fell eight stories, squarely on the top of the head of Walter Neill, walking the street below. The fall killed the dog, but did not seriously injure the man, although the dog's claws badly scratched his face.

EXPORTS SHOW BIG INCREASE.

THE BAY CITY'S OVERSEA TRADE JUMPS OVER MILLION IN ONE MONTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 8.—Figures of San Francisco's overseas trade, as compiled by the foreign trade department of the Chamber of Commerce, reveal the cause of the greater prosperity of the Pacific Coast as compared with other parts of the country.

That the exports by sea from the port of San Francisco were over $1,000,000 greater in November than in the same month of 1913, when cotton is eliminated, is the story that these figures tell.

The total exports by sea in November of last year, including cotton, a great part of which was produced in other States, were $7,893,446. This year the total for November was $6,944,992. This shows an apparent decrease of $948,453. But in November of last year the figures include nearly $3,000,000 worth of cotton, while in November of this year there was less than $1,000,000 of cotton passing over the wharves of San Francisco. Eliminating the cotton figures, the report shows:

San Francisco exports by sea, November, 1914, $6,097,487.

Increase, $1,106,258.

The increase in San Francisco overseas trade for the eleven months ending November 30, 1914, and excluding cotton, is $7,525,260.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The dispatches from the seat of the war seem to indicate that the fate of Belgium will soon be shared by Poland. The Germans are holding Lodz. Their troops are also in pursuit of the fleeing Cossacks. If they hold what they have and get what they go after they will soon have as much of Poland as they now have of Belgium. It must also be remembered that more or less of the Poles in Poland are in sympathy with the Germanic invasion. In Belgium it was quite otherwise. The only news from the west is that the Germans have made a violent attack on the allies at St. Eloy.

Rights of Neutrals are Defined.

"Shinny on Your Own Side!" the Declaration of Pan-American Union.

Twenty Nations Protest the Invasion of Neutral Seas by Belligerents.

Epoch-making Convention of Shirt-sleeved Diplomats in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Twenty nations of the western hemisphere expressed today their disapproval of the effects of operations of the European belligerents in the waters of the two Americas, and appointed a commission of diplomats to formulate practical steps contemplating a more vigorous assertion of the rights of neutrals.

Gathered around an oval table in the magnificent Pan-American Union building, the diplomatic representatives of the American republics, most of them under specific instructions from their governments, urged united action by the nations of this hemisphere to restore trade and remove some of the burdens placed on commerce by the European war.

It was the first international conference of neutral nations which had assembled in any part of the globe since the European war began, and irrespective of its possible accomplishments during the present conflict, was regarded as the birth of a new movement in international law for the definition of the right of the neutral as opposed to the right of the belligerent.

NOTE OF WARNING.

Underlying the several speeches made by the diplomats was a note of warning that the presence of belligerent warships in the western hemisphere already had produced grave complications between American nations and European powers, demonstrating the vital need of Pan-American solidarity.

Secretary Bryan made the opening speech, pointing out that the United States sympathized deeply with the plight of its neighboring republics, and declaring the innocent nations should not be forced to suffer for the acts of the belligerents.

RESOLUTIONS.

After a general discussion the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

"The governing board of the Pan-American Union declares:

"(1.) That the magnitude of the present European war presents new problems of international law, the solution of which is of equal interest to the entire world.

"(2.) That in the form in which the operations of the belligerents are developing they redound to the injury of the neutrals.

"(3.) That the principal cause for this result is that the respective rights of the belligerents and of the neutrals are not clearly defined, notwithstanding that such definition is demanded both by general convenience and by the spirit of justice which doubtless animates the belligerents with respect of the interests of the neutrals.

"(4.) That considerations of every character call for a definition of such rights as promptly as possible upon the principle that liberty of commerce should not be restricted beyond the point indispensable for military operations.

"On these grounds the governing board of the Pan-American Union resolves:

"(1.) A special commission of the same is hereby appointed to consist of nine members, of which the Secretary of State of the United States shall form a part, acting as chairman thereof, ex officio.

"(2.) This commission shall study the problems presented by the present European war and shall submit to the governing board the suggestions it may deem of common interest. In the study of questions of technical character this commission will consult the board of jurists.

"(3.) Each government may submit to the committee such plans or suggested resolutions as may be deemed convenient, on the different subjects that circumstances suggest."

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

The committee was immediately appointed to consist of the Secretary of State of the United States, the Ambassadors from Brazil, Chile, Argentina; the Ministers from Uruguay, Peru, Ecuador, Honduras and Cuba.

The Secretary of State of the United States as chairman ex officio of the governing board of the Pan-American Union presided over the meeting. Seated to his right and left were the Ambassadors of Brazil, Chile and Argentina, and the Ministers of the sixteen other republics. There was one vacant chair—that of the Ambassador from Mexico—the country whose government remains unrecognized by the family of nations.

The setting for the conference was distinctively Pan-American. The flags of the various republics adorned the walls of the council chamber.

The meeting was comparatively brief, lasting less than two hours, but in informal conferences held previously plans for the session had been carefully worked out by the diplomats. Secretary Bryan stated in a general way the problem which had been brought to his attention by the representatives of some of the leading

MAKE WAY FOR BUSINESS SAYS WILSON IN MESSAGE.

President Declares Legislation Aimed at the Regulation of Trade Conditions is at an End—Advocates the Purchase of Ships and Declares the National Defense Policy Can Quickly be Agreed Upon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—President Wilson in his annual address to Congress today coupled with a defense of the country's military preparedness a word of assurance to business that it would not be embarrassed by further legislation.

He said the trust and currency legislative programme of his administration virtually had been completed, leaving no conjecture as to what was to follow, and that there was a clear and firm road ahead on which honest men might travel with perfect confidence.

For passage at this session the President urged measures to meet the changed conditions due to the European war, particularly the government ship purchase bill, measures to unlock resources of the national domain and to encourage improvement of navigable waters for generation of power, and the bill already passed by the House to give "a larger measure of self-government to the people of the Philippines."

GIVEN AN OVATION.

When he entered the House chamber, where Vice-President Marshall and Speaker Clark presided over a joint session of the House and Senate, the President was greeted with an uproarious ovation which continued for several minutes. Throughout his address he frequently was interrupted by applause, particularly from the Democratic side, demonstrations of approval reaching a climax when, referring to recent agitation over national defense, he declared that the administration had "not been negligent of national defenses;" that the attitude of the government would not be altered "because some among us are nervous and excited," and that a policy of defense "could easily and sensibly be agreed upon."

In advocating the ship-purchase bill the President said the war in Europe had left foreign nations more dependent upon the United States for supplies and that the government should provide ships that the nation's goods might be carried "to the empty markets."

"It is not a question of the government monopolizing the field," said he, "it should take action to make it certain that transportation at reasonable rates would be promptly provided, even where the carriage is not at first profitable, and then, when the carriage has been sufficiently profitable to attract and engage private capital, and

RESUBMIT PROHIBITION, WASHINGTON STATE PLEA.

SEATTLE, Dec. 8.—Launching a State-wide movement for the repeal of the initiative prohibition law adopted at the November election, a rousing mass meeting attended by 800 persons in Dreamland Pavilion tonight took preliminary steps for a petition to the next Legislature which meets January 1, to resubmit the question to the voters of Washington.

The resolutions which declare the meeting tonight "representative of all classes of labor, business and commercial activity and property investment of Seattle," assert that "it is the unanimous opinion of the persons here assembled that, if enforced, the State-wide prohibition measure will be the forerunner of financial disasters, added industrial inactivity and the loss of employment to thousands of persons.

"The official records show that less than 30 per cent. of the State's total registration cast ballots for or against the measure, and it is the belief of the persons here assembled that the measur was not understood and therefore not intelligently voted upon."

The meeting was fostered by the Evergreen League of Washington, an organization formed recently in Bellingham, one of the present "dry" cities under the local option law.

Gen. Bliss Ordered to the Scene, with Power to Act in an Emergency.

Administration at Last Undertakes to do Something to Save the Lives and Property of Arizonans Constantly Menaced by the Warring Factions in Mexico—Field Batteries on the Way.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—President Wilson, after a brief discussion with his Cabinet today, directed Secretary Garrison to order sufficient troops to Naco, Ariz., to handle any emergency that might arise there in connection with the firing across the American border from Mexican territory.

Secretary Garrison later announced that he had ordered Brig.-Gen. Tasker H. Bliss to start for Naco with three batteries of field artillery and "await further orders."

No cavalry in addition to that already patrolling the Arizona border has been ordered to the international line, according to Mr. Garrison.

The Secretary declined to discuss what he termed "the diplomatic side" of the case, referring inquirers to the State Department. Secretary Bryan had retired when the army orders became public, but it is known that today's action followed the exchange of telegrams between the Federal government and Gov. Hunt of Arizona, in which the latter described the firing from the Mexican factions across the line as a serious menace to residents of Arizona.

It is understood that when the telegrams from Gov. Hunt were laid before the Cabinet the President also directed Secretary Bryan to transmit a warning through American Consuls to both Mexican factions fighting near the boundary that firing into American territory must be discontinued.

While the outcome of such negotiations as will be conducted through the State Department is awaited, the artillery and cavalry of the American army will stand guard ready to carry out any orders which may develop from the conferences with the Mexican chiefs.

The forces of Gen. Benjamin Hill, loyal to Carranza, are ranged close to the line while those of Gov. Maytorena, supposed to be a follower of Gen. Villa, but often reported as independent of his authority, constitute the attacking force.

Repeated warnings have been given to the two generals to so conduct their operations as to prevent bullets from falling on American territory. The ordering of field artillery to the scene to co-operate with the Ninth Cavalry, already in position at Naco, was generally interpreted as intended to demonstrate to the Mexican forces that serious consequences might follow if the firing into American territory is continued.

The sending of Gen. Bliss to take personal charge of the situation similarly was regarded as denoting the anticipation of a delicate and critical situation, wherein the Washington government deemed it advisable to have a high officer to carry out such orders as may later be decided on

ARTILLERY SENT FROM SAN ANTONIO.

EL PASO (Tex.) Dec. 8.—Gen. J. J. Pershing tonight received orders from department headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., to dispatch batteries A, B and C of the Sixth Field Artillery to Naco, Ariz.

The battalion, under Col. F. St. J. Grebis, is expected to leave for the Arizona border at daylight.

GEN. BLISS LEAVES FOR THE FRONT.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Dec. 8.—Gen. Tasker H. Bliss left San Antonio early tonight for Naco, to take charge of the situation there. It is understood three batteries of artillery and several troops of cavalry were ordered to the same point and are expected to leave during the night.

MEXICO CITY WELL POLICED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—"Mexico City is quiet, orderly and well policed," according to official dispatches dated last night, received today by the State Department. Few political arrests are reported, although five well-known Mexicans have been executed by a military order on a charge of counterfeiting. There have been no confiscations or occupation of private property, according to official dispatches. The Cabinet of Provisional President Gutierrez has not been finally completed, the portfolio of Foreign Relations still being vacant.

RUSH ORDERS FOR AMMUNITION.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Dec. 8.—Fear that the United States may declare a new embargo on the exportation of arms and ammunition through the border ports of entries as a result of the protests made by Naco citizens, is reported to have caused the Mexican factions to place large orders for supplies for speedy delivery.

It is reported here that an order for a million rounds of rifle cartridges was placed today by Carranza agents. Three thousand rounds of ammunition for the Hotchkiss guns were received yesterday for Hill's troops at Naco.

CARRANZA TAKES OVER RAILROADS.

[BY MEXICAN CABLE AND A. P.]

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 8.—Every railroad, telegraph and telephone line in the territory now under control of the Constitutionalists, was taken over today by the Carranza government. Announcement of this action was made in a decree issued by Gen. Carranza, who asserts that this step was made necessary by the requirements of the military campaign.

CARRANZA SENDS TROOPS FOR ATTACK ON TORREON.

EL PASO (Tex.) Dec. 8.—Strong columns of Carranza troops were reported today as moving from Coahuila State with the object of attacking Torreon, strategical point in Central Mexico, now held by the Villa convention troops. The garrison at Torreon consists of less than 1000 men, with about an equal number at Chihuahua City and less at Juarez, the border port here.

The former Huerta Federal leader, Gen. Ines Salazar, moved his small force today to the line of the Mexico Northwestern Railroad between Juarez and Casas Grandes. American ranchmen arriving here reported that Salazar was awaiting arms before making any attacks on the Villa garrisons.

They stated that he had a large number of unarmed men at his command in several sections of Western Chihuahua State. Salazar has been joined by two former Federal generals. Assistance is expected from the former "Cientifico" party, which upheld the Diaz and Huerta governments. No aggressive movement by the Villa troops has been made either against Salazar or the Carranza forces as far as officials here know.

Official Villa reports from Mexico City said today that the committee composed of twenty-one members of the Aguascalientes convention had met yesterday, elected new officers and adjourned until January 1, when the entire convention will meet. This body is the only executive group of the Villa government working in connection with Provisional President Gutierrez and Gens. Villa and Zapata. All was reported officially as quiet at the national capital.

COLORADO COAL STRIKE HAS BEEN DECLARED OFF.

DENVER (Colo.) Dec. 8.—The Colorado coal strike was called off tonight, effective December 10.

This action was taken by the convention of District No. 15 of the United Mine Workers of America by a unanimous vote late tonight after an all-day session, and ratifies the report of the international executive board introduced today recommending the termination of the strike.

TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Secretary Garrison, upon being informed tonight that the Colorado coal strike had been called off, said that in all probability the Federal troops would be withdrawn immediately. The order for their withdrawal, following the usual course, will be issued by President Wilson through the Secretary of War.

Berlin.

GERMAN OPERATIONS PROVING SUCCESSFUL.

Everything is Reported to be Progressing According to Programme.

Message from Headquarters Says a Decisive Engagement in the Western Theater of War is Expected Any Day — Encouragement is Derived from the Fact that Russian Claims of Victory are Less Confident in Tone.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8 (by wireless to London.)—A review of the situation in both theaters of the war up to the end of last week reveals little change as compared with the preceding week. This is especially true as regards the western theater, where the allies made a number of attacks which always were defeated.

That decisive action may be expected any day is indicated by a report from headquarters saying that "Everything is proceeding according to our programme." This is taken here to mean that thus far the German operations have been successful.

Much encouragement has been derived here from the recent Russian reports, which are considered much less confident in tone than formerly. If an investment of Warsaw should result from the present operations, military men say it will deprive Russia of a most important center of railway communications and place the Russians in a serious position.

Vienna.

SIXTY THOUSAND WOUNDED IN AUSTRIAN HOSPITALS.

VENICE, Dec. 9 (via London, 12:10 a.m.)—Reports received from Austrian headquarters admit that 60,000 wounded soldiers are now in the hospitals and that at least double that number are slightly wounded or convalescent.

By order of the police all public resorts in the Austrian capital are closed at 1 o'clock, and no music is allowed after midnight. The official order declares that it is unseemly that the residents of Vienna should be dancing or otherwise amusing themselves by night while the young manhood of the nation is fighting at the front. The municipal authorities have decided to abandon the annual ball of the city of Vienna and so far no arrangements have been made for any large functions but possibly two or three will be arranged for charitable purposes.

A dispatch from Warsaw to the Secolo says the population of Cracow has been reduced to 20,000, the remainder having been sent away. There are provisions for four months at this place. The garrison is composed of Germans and Austrians. All the magnificent trees which surrounded the city have been cut down to afford space for the artillery and various lines of fortifications and barbed wire entanglements have been constructed.

Endless trains of military convoys, continues the dispatch, are passing through Warsaw westward with new regiments of fresh troops, for the most part Cossacks and Siberians. The Vistula is beginning to freeze. Seventy thousand fugitives are reported in Warsaw. Four months of the war has caused fearful devastation in Poland and the inhabitants are suffering terribly.

JAP FLEET IS SEEKING GERMAN SHIPS IN PACIFIC.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

TOKIO, Dec. 8.—The Japanese Minister of Marine, Vice-Admiral Yashiro, makes the announcement that while the war in Europe endures the Japanese navy's duties will continue, and that the Japanese fleet in conjunction with the British warships is seeking the Germans in South American waters.

The Japanese Foreign Minister, Baron Kato, announces also that it has not been decided whether Japan would return the captured German base at Kiao-Chow to China.

Baron Kato discussed the progress of the war and the problems growing out of it as the result of Japan's participation. He said that he had regretted to announce that the war in Europe was still far from a termination and that as yet there were no prospects of peace.

Speaking of the relations of the Japanese empire and the allies, Baron Kato said that a most frank exchange of views had taken place and that the relations had been cemented closer than ever.

"The relations with the neutral powers are also excellent," the Foreign Minister said.

Speaking of the taking of Kiao-Chow by the Japanese, Baron Kato declared that various questions in connection therewith had arisen with China, but, thanks to a conciliatory spirit, the negotiation has resulted as a whole satisfactorily. The Japanese, he said, had undertaken the administration of the railroads of Kiao-Chow and Tsinan, and he also told of the military occupation of the principal islands of the Marshall, Caroline, Marianne and Pelew groups, where special guards have been established.

Baron Kato thanked America for its kind offices in securing the release of Japanese in Germany. He said he believed others were still detained and that he would rely on further assistance from America in their behalf.

Of conditions in China the Foreign Minister said:

"The maintenance of peace and order in China is not only of the greatest importance to China, but is fraught with grave consequences to ourselves. The government hopes that nothing will arise to disturb the tranquility there."

THE BUDGET.

Japan's budget for the coming year estimates expenditures of 556,000,000 yen ($278,000,000,) and a decrease in the revenue of $40,500,000. The war has caused a decrease of $8,500,000 in the customs. Curtailments of expenses to be made in some departments of the government will permit of credits for two additional army divisions, the completion of three dreadnaughts, the construction of eight torpedo-boat destroyers and two submarines, and the addition of ten torpedo-boat destroyers authorized last summer.

Insurance.

END OF WAR IN MARCH, THE BETTING AT LLOYDS.

BY EDWARD PRICE BELL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The betting at Lloyds today was eighty guineas ($400) to 100 guineas ($500) that the war would be over by the end of March. In other words, a person asking insurance against the continuance of war after March 31, next, pays eight guineas for a policy of 100 guineas. The premium fluctuates with the amount of business offered. The greater the demand for insurance the higher the premium.

The majority of the people in London do not realize that Lloyds does this kind of a business. As a matter of fact, one can get any conceivable form of insurance at Lloyds. For example, prospective parents may pay a premium of three guineas ($15) and get 100 guineas in the event twins are born.

Contracts.

TO BUILD NEW HIGHWAYS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 8.—The State Highway Commission let contracts today for the construction of 16.65 miles of roadway in Southern California, accepted as completed 19.31 miles, and declared to be public highway two unusually small but difficult and important strips, amounting to 1.869 miles.

A contract was let to J. W. Colback of San Diego for the construction of 4.91 miles between Alcatraz and Los Cruces in Santa Barbara county. The bid was $55,923.30 and the engineers' estimate $63,047.26.

The second contract was in Imperial county, between Coyote Wells and Dixieland, a distance of 11.74 miles. The successful bidders were Ruce & Ducher of Imperial, $72,173.60; estimate $87,277.52.

A unit of the highway, 3.5 miles, between San Juan Bautista and the southwest boundary of San Benito county was accepted.

The second unit accepted was in Orange county between the northern boundary line and Santa Ana, a distance of 11.16 miles.

Contracts will be called for the construction of 1.8 miles between the Alvarado road and Overtaker's Corner in Alameda county, and for .69 mile near Seneca in Santa Barbara county.

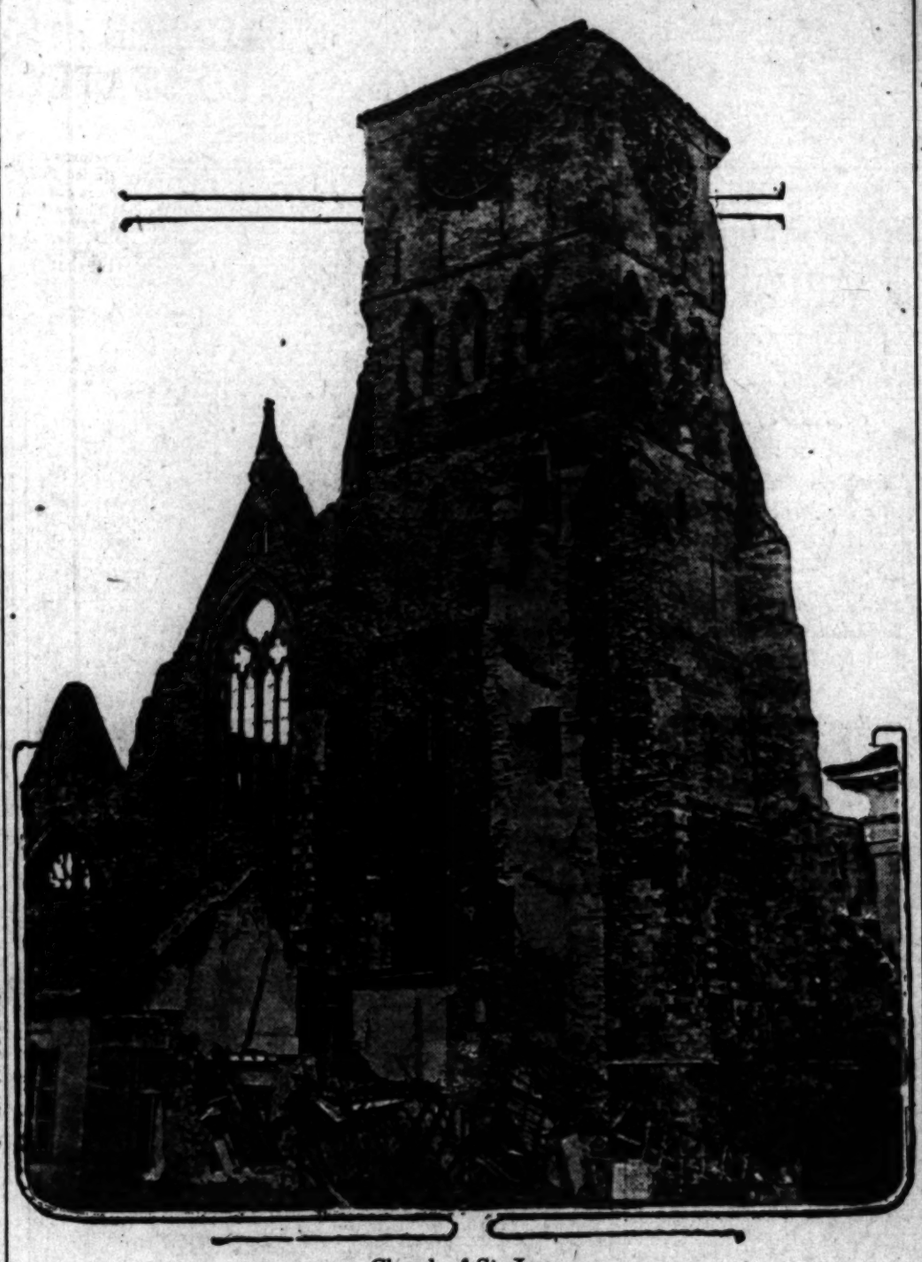
Dixmude Church After the Bombardment.



Church of St. Jean.

In West Flanders the battle raging between Ypres and the coast continues with unabated violence, the destruction wrought in the fighting area being incalculable. A correspondent of the London Daily Mail recently wrote in the following terms concerning the shelling of churches, houses and towers: "A terrible battle still rages from Dixmude, which is still under bombardment, to the dust of Arras. Churches topple down and factories burn with every fresh explosion of shell fire. No tower which might be used for observation is allowed to stand, and while explosive shells are fired at these, incendiary shells are dropped on the factories. It is a costly and a terrible method and it comes to mean this, that every town which is occupied by the allies is in its turn battered and destroyed. Nieuport, Dixmude, Roulers, Ypres, Armentieres, Lavantie, Arras—some of them priceless relics of history—lose day by day in this fighting one beauty after another." The illustration above shows the damage wrought to the church of St. Jean, in Dixmude. As a result of the continual bombardment the town has suffered the church is almost in ruins, whole portions of the structure being torn away.

STEAMER BURNS AT SEA; THIRTY-FOUR LIVES LOST.

BARROW, Dec. 8.—Wrapped in flames and with the sea about her ablaze from the cargo of gasoline she was carrying, only two men of her crew of thirty-six escaped death today when the British steamer Vedra piled on the shore near Barrow during a heavy gale, broke up and was consumed.

The two men rescued were severely burned while swimming through the flaming sea to a tug. A majority of the crew were trapped in the forecastle of the Vedra and perished.

So suddenly did the fire break out when the vessel grounded that only four of the ship's company had time to reach her weather side. These were the chief engineer and three sailors. Their predicament, however, was almost as bad as that of the others on board who were unable to reach a vantage point, for hardly had the vessel touched bottom when the jagged rocks cut through her keel and broke the cofferdam containing the oil.

Flowing in a torrent from the rent in the cofferdam, the gasoline invaded the engine-room. In a second it had ignited and spread to all parts of the doomed vessel, also pouring through rents in the hull into the sea.

Reaching the weather side of the vessel, the chief engineer gave the three seamen with him life belts he had picked up in his flight, and mounting the rail, plunged headlong into the sea, trusting to his ability as a swimmer to reach a near-by tug which was endeavoring to pull the Vedra off. The engineer had taken only two or three strokes when a huge wave picked him up and dashed him against the side of the steamer, killing him.

Two of the seamen immediately followed the engineer and swam until they were picked up, but in doing so were badly burned. The other seaman, unable to swim, feared to take the plunge, and was burned to death where he stood.

Meanwhile a number of lifeboats had come upon the scene, but they were unable to give aid to the men imprisoned in the forecastle whose screams could be heard above the roar of the flames.

The Vedra, which was bound from Port Arthur, Tex., for London, is a total loss. She was commanded by Capt. Brewster and was owned by the Associated Oil Carriers' Company of London.

IOLA (Kan.) Dec. 8.—Whether the short, stockily-built man who sprang from a train at Carlyle, near here today, was a major-general in the United States army, the captor of Aguinaldo, and the commander of the American forces at Vera Cruz, or not, did not seem to greatly concern a little woman clad in black, who met him. He was "Fred" Funston, her boy. Deeds of valor were forgotten as he swept her into his arms, for Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston, U. S. A., was with his mother. —Since the withdrawal of the expeditionary forces from Vera Cruz he has been in Galveston preparing a report of the occupation for the Department of War. Now he is spending part of his two months' leave with his mother, Mrs. E. H. Funston, the first with the home folk in two years.

Because of his home-coming a spirit of celebration has been in the air in Allen county all day. Farmers and townsfolk alike gathered at the station to do Funston honor. As the train slipped in an awelike air of waiting held them. Then they cheered.

Funston, clad in civilian clothes, tanned by the sun of Mexico, sprang from the train. He smiled to friends in the crowd and caught sight of the little woman in black. "Mother," he said, as he caught her in his arms.

South American countries. Speeches followed by the Ambassadors from Brazil, Chile and Argentina, the Ministers from Bolivia, Uruguay, Peru and Cuba, supplemented by brief remarks from the other diplomats.

The Ambassador from Brazil, Domicio de Gama, pointed out that a council such as the governing board of the Pan-American Union was necessarily political in character, and suggested the advisability of co-operating with the six boards of jurists appointed by the last Pan-American Congress to codify international law. One of these boards, which meets in Washington, is headed by John Bassett Moore.

Educardo Suarez Mujica, the Chilean Ambassador, said the questions that had arisen demanded prompt settlement and that the commission should not regard its task as academic but practical. He remarked that it should propose steps to relieve the intolerable conditions during the present war and not some remote conflict.

NAON'S SPEECH.

Ambassador Naon of Argentina made the longest speech of the meeting, submitting the proposal for a commission, which was adopted.

"The various equally well-founded and just initiatives, taken by several American governments as well as the continuous and vigorous propaganda of the press from one end of the continent to the other, show to what extent the non-recognition or non-definition of the rights of the neutrals constitutes for America the most absorbing and intense problem of the present moment.

"Face to face with the rights of the belligerents, we now have the rights of the neutrals; the rights of those countries which, though compelled to halt, at an unfortunate moment, in their onward progress, to permit the rancor and hate of the conflicting interests engendered by the war to vent their satisfaction, bitter though it be, as a recognition of the control which every country exercises over its destinies cannot allow their sovereignty to be encroached upon, unmindful of the right and imperative duty we have to protect and defend it."

FROM PERU.

The Peruvian Minister submitted a memorandum which was referred to the new commission, declaring that his government believed the time had come for the joint action of all the American republics to guarantee the inviolability of their commercial routes from the hostile activities of the belligerent navies. The memorandum suggested the adoption of a resolution declaring that America could not admit its commerce within the maritime area belonging to the two countries as subject to the contingencies of the present war. A line equidistant from the American continents and the other continents, both on the Atlantic and Pacific side, was suggested as a boundary.

Other concrete proposals, such as the limiting of the supply of coal to belligerent warships, and measures which would make it impossible for battle craft to sustain themselves for any length of time in American waters, will be taken under consideration by the commission.

ALLIES TAKE AGGRESSIVE GERMANS RESTING AT L

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 8.—The unconfirmed report of an advance by the British to Passchendaele, six miles east of Ypres, indicates a beginning of an aggressive move by the allies. The Russian situation calls urgently for the allies in the west to bring to bear as much pressure as possible upon the German armies in order to force the latter to retain as much strength as possible in France and Belgium.

Both British and Belgian interests demand that the main effort of the allies shall be made along their northern flank. If they should be successful in regaining Belgium north of the Lys, it would give new courage to the Belgians and would be of great advantage in the British campaign. One feature that so seriously affects the British campaign is the exposure to submarine attacks of their transport service route across the English Channel. If they should be able to clear the Germans from Northern Belgium they would force them back to Emden, 250 miles east of Zeebrugge, as a base for their submarine expeditions. The advance from Ypres toward Passchendaele seems to be directed toward this end. If the British capture Roulers they will be in a position to take in flank the German forces from Dixmude to the coast. The latter must then be reinforced or must fall back to a line near Thorout and Ostend.

THE GERMAN DEFENSE.

tions. Members of the committee were particularly anxious to know why the German fleet was permitted to remain bottled up in its harbors. The admiral said that as long as the German fleet was bottled up it was performing no useful purpose and that therefore it was unnecessary for the enemy to bring about an engagement. He said probably no commander-in-chief of a fleet would subject his ships to the attack of a great fort or to the danger of submarine mines as a preliminary to fighting with another battle fleet, as it would mean running the risk of going into an engagement in a damaged condition.

The influence of the British fleet, he added, was that without the firing of a gun it had accomplished its purpose of driving German commerce off the seas, of insuring sufficient transportation of the English army to the Continent and of protecting neutral trade with England.

Admiral Badger expressed the opinion that it would be a mistake to station submarine craft at any particular ports along the Atlantic or Pacific or Gulf for coast defense, saying that handling the submarines as flotillas rather than as separated coast defenses would make for greater efficiency. He added that while opinions differed as to the number of submarines necessary for protection of the insular possessions and for coast defense, he regarded 100 submarines altogether as adequate. He wanted these to be of different classes, the sea-going as well as the smaller ones for shore operations.

The committee listened eagerly to the admiral's account of tests made by the air craft scouts of the Atlantic fleet. It was demonstrated, he said, in the Caribbean Sea and at Guantanamo, that an airship could locate a submarine mine submerged to a depth of fifty feet. He declared that approximately the same results could be obtained anywhere in the ocean, or where there were no rivers to muddy the water.

The admiral dwelt upon the efficiency of the American warships. He said in the Atlantic fleet every gun was fired twenty times a year in target practice. Personally, he advocated devoting more time to target practice.

Rear-Admiral Fletcher, who succeeded Admiral Badger in command of the Atlantic fleet, gave some supplementary testimony. He will be on the stand as a witness tomorrow, when Secretary Daniels is expected to be before the committee. Brig.-Gen. Scott, Chief of Staff of the army, will be the witness at the Military Committee's hearing tomorrow.

ASKS BIG SUM FOR AEROPLANES.

AVIATION DIVISION OF THE ARMY WANTS FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Four hundred thousand dollars to equip the newly-created aviation division of the army was urged today by Brig.Gen. George P. Scriven, chief signal officer, before the House Military Committee. Gen. Scriven said the service planned to equip four squadrons of eight aeroplanes each with a reserve which would give the army about fifty machines.

Manufacturers in this country were severely handicapped, he said, by lack of demand for their products and estimated that for the government to get 100 aeroplanes in an emergency would take a year or more.

At present the army has eleven aeroplanes on hand. Eight machines and two training aeroplanes are under construction.

Representative Stephens is Trying to Get a Hearing Before the House Committee.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 8.—Representative Stephens is trying to arrange for a hearing before the Rivers and Harbors Committee in behalf of Los Angeles Harbor. It has not been definitely decided yet whether there will be a lump sum appropriation covering all river and harbor work or whether the bill will be made up in the usual form with each item specified.

Stephens expects at the least to secure for the harbor the money already recommended by the engineers and which was cut out of the last bill on account of the demands for economy.

ROCKHILL DIES AT HONOLULU.

Former American Ambassador Passes Away.

Half of His Life Devoted to Government Service.

Had been Named Adviser to Chinese President.

HONOLULU, Dec. 8.—William W. Rockhill, the distinguished American diplomat, died here today at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Rockhill, who was en route to Peking, there to take up his duties as the newly-appointed adviser to President Yuan Shi Kai, left the liner Chiyo Maru, on which he had booked through passage to Japan last Friday, because of a severe cold he had taken since sailing from San Francisco. At the hospital to which he was removed, his condition failed to mend. Symptoms of cardiac weakness developed yesterday and last night he was known to be critically ill. He sank rapidly and died at 1 o'clock this morning.

William Rockhill was a veteran of diplomacy. He had served his country as Minister to China, Minister to Greece and as Ambassador to Russia and to Turkey. In his younger days, disguised as a Chinese, he made a notable expedition into the forbidden land of Thibet. His appointment by Yuan Shi Kai was both a tribute to and an acknowledgment of his remarkable knowledge of and sympathy with Chinese affairs, thought and aspirations.

When he left San Francisco on November 28, he seemed in normal health.

Commodore Dennis N. Mahan, U.S.N., retired, and Lucius E. Pinkham, will take charge of the funeral and the burial will be here.

LONG SERVICE OF MR. ROCKHILL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—With just half of his life span of sixty years devoted to the diplomatic service, or subjects directly related thereto, William Woodville Rockhill could fairly claim to be among the best equipped of Americans to deal with international issues. He also had attained scientific distinction, being a student of ethnology of high repute, and was regarded as an authority on history, manners and condition of such little known people as the Thibetans.

From long residence among the Chinese and from personal exploration, in many cases afoot for months at a time in distant parts of the Chinese empire, he acquired a knowledge of the various dialects and characteristics of the different elements that make up the complex Chinese empire, which placed him in the first rank of orientalists.

The Smithsonian institution was long ago attracted by some of his reports when he was a second secretary of the American legation at Peking, upon little known phases of the rural Chinese. They resulted in his being dispatched into Thibet on two different occasions, in 1888 and 1892, when that country was forbidden to foreigners and was supposed to be entered only at great peril. One of the results of these researches is the monumental work on Thibet which has come to be regarded as a textbook on the subject.

Mr. Rockhill was born in Philadelphia in 1854, and was educated in France, being one of the few American graduates of the great French Military School of St. Cyr. He entered the diplomatic service as second secretary at Peking in 1884, and was afterward charge of the American legation at Seoul, Korea. At the conclusion of his Chinese and Thibetan explorations, he held the post of chief clerk in the Department of State for a brief period and in 1894 became third Assistant Secretary of State from which he was promoted to be first Assistant Secretary.

In 1897 he received his first mission, going to Athens as American Minister to Greece, Roumania and Servia. He returned to the United States to become the director of the Bureau of International American Republics, which post he held for six years, relinquishing it to accept the Chinese mission, where he served four years.

From Peking, Mr. Rockhill was promoted to be Ambassador at Petrograd, where he remained for two years, and at his own request in 1911, was transferred to the embassy at Constantinople. This last change was made by Mr. Rockhill in order that he might acquire material by personal observation for a literary work he had in hand relating to the history of the Turkish empire. Also, it was stated by his friends, he found the post at St. Petersburg far too expensive for his modest private means.

November 20, 1913, having been relieved by Ambassador Morgenthau, Mr. Rockhill left Constantinople and terminated his connection with the American diplomatic service. However, he was not to remain long unemployed, for President Yuan Shi Kai, his old friend, fully acquainted with his abilities and warm friendship for China, quickly retained him as one of the financial advisers of the Chinese government.

News of the death of Mr. Rockhill came to the State Department late today in a cablegram from Mrs. Rockhill to Assistant Secretary Phillips. A message of condolence was immediately dispatched in the name of Secretary Bryan and the whole of the personnel of the department.

It was recalled by some of Mr. Rockhill's friends that when he was in Washington a few weeks ago he seemed to be in ill health and was apprehensive about his condition. Because of his powerful physique and long exemption from ailments of all kinds, however, not much heed was given to his fears.

NEURALGIC PAINS

Among the causes of neuralgia the most important is the general physical condition of the patient. Neuralgia is most common in persons reduced in strength by overwork or some form of over-exertion, physical or mental, or by loss of sleep. Anaemia, or lack of good, red blood is a common cause of neuralgia. The reason for this is plain. The nerves get their nourishment through the blood. When the blood is thin and weak the nerves are badly nourished, they become inflamed and neuralgic pains are produced. These pains have been described as "the cry of a starved nerve."

Hot applications to soothe these inflamed nerves and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and carry the needed elements to the nerves is the correct treatment and one that has brought good results in so many cases that it is no longer an experiment. Headache, backache, sleeplessness, nervous debility, nervous breakdown, St. Vitus' dance and the functional forms of partial paralysis show good results under the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. engage it in abundance, the government ought to withdraw."

PHILIPPINE BILL.

The Philippine bill, the President asserted, "would nobly crown the record of these two years of memorable labor." Concerning rural credits legislation, sought by so many, he expressed regret that difficulties of the subject seemed "to render it impossible to complete a bill for passage at this session."

Members of the Senate and House listened attentively to the outline of the President's address, as they did also to his discussion of economy and the assertion "that there should be a systematic reorganization and reassembling" of the parts of the government to secure greater efficiency.

Mr. Wilson spoke with great emphasis, and deliberation when he began discussion of the military situation, and was enthusiastically cheered, the galleries joining in the applause, when he said:

"It is said in some quarters that we are not prepared for war. What is meant by being prepared? Is it meant that we are not ready upon brief notice to put a nation in the field, a nation of men trained to arms? Of course, we are not ready to do that; and we shall never be in time of peace so long as we retain our present protectional principle and institutions."

Proclaiming that the people of the United States are "champions of peace and of concord," the President emphatically opposed a great standing army, and was again cheered when he asserted that in time of national peril the country must depend "upon a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms."

When the President had concluded he was surrounded by Senators and members in the Speaker's office, who crowded about him to extend their congratulations.

CANAL FOREIGN TERRITORY.

Fine Distinction is Drawn by the Government of Much Interest to Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—So far as the customs regulations go, the Panama Canal Zone is foreign territory, and open to the shipping of all nations. The distinction is of importance to commerce, inasmuch as only American-owned ships are allowed to trade between domestic or American ports. A case in point is Honolulu, which is classed as domestic territory. American vessels have a monopoly of the trade between the Hawaiian Islands and the mainland.

In this connection the United States Department of Commerce takes occasion to announce that the visit of E. A. Brand, an official of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has been misunderstood on the Pacific Coast. He is not gathering information for a recommendation on a question already determined.

WILSON'S ADVICE IS TO BUY SHIPS.

Urges Congress to Build up Our Carrying Trade.

Declares Adequate Defense Policy Can be Built.

Would Unlock Resources of the National Domain.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—President Wilson's message read today in Congress, in part, is as follows:

Gentlemen of the Congress:

War has interrupted the means of trade not only, but also the process of production. In Europe it is destroying men and resources wholesale and upon a scale unprecedented and appalling. There is reason to fear that the time is near, if it be not already at hand, when several of the countries of Europe will find it difficult to do for their people what they have hitherto been always easily able to do—many essential and fundamental things. At any rate, they will need our help and our manifold services as they have never needed them before; and we should be ready, more fit and ready than we have ever been.

It is of equal consequence that the nations whom Europe has usually supplied with innumerable articles of manufacture and commerce of which they are in constant need and without which their economic development halts and stands still can now get only a small part of what they formerly imported and eagerly look to us to supply their all but empty markets. This is particularly true of our own neighbors, the States, great and small, of Central and South America. Their lines of trade have hitherto run chiefly athwart the seas, not to our ports, but to the ports of Great Britain and of the older continent of Europe. I do not stop to inquire why or to make any comment on probable causes. What interests us just now is not the explanation, but the fact, and our duty and opportunity in the presence of it. Here are markets which we must supply. The United States, this great people for whom we speak and act, should be ready as never before to serve itself and serve mankind; ready with its resources, its energies, its forces of production, and its means of distribution.

To speak plainly, we have grossly erred in the way in which we have stunted and hindered the development of our merchant marine.

I have come to ask you to remedy and correct these mistakes and omissions, even at this short session of a Congress which would certainly seem to have done all the work that could reasonably be expected of it. The time and the circumstances are extraordinary, and so must our efforts be also.

NATIONAL DOMAIN.

Fortunately, two great measures, finely conceived, the one to unlock, with proper safeguards, the resources of the national domain, the other to encourage the use of the navigable waters outside that domain for the generation of power, have already passed the House of Representatives and are ready for immediate consideration and action by the Senate. With the deepest earnestness I urge their prompt passage. In them both we turn our backs upon hesitation and makeshift and formulate a genuine policy of use and conservation, in the best sense of those words. We owe the one measure not only to the people of that great western country for whose free and systematic development, as it seems to me, our legislation has done so little, but also to the people of the nation as a whole; and we as clearly owe the other in fulfilment of our repeated promises that the water power of the country should in fact as well as in name be put at the disposal of great industries which can make economical and profitable use of it, the rights of the public being adequately guarded the while, and monopoly in the use prevented. To have begun such measures and not completed them would indeed mar the record of this great Congress very seriously. I hope and confidently believe that they will be completed.

NECESSITY OF SHIPS.

But I think that you will agree with me that this does not complete the toll of our duty. How are we to carry our goods to the empty markets of which I have spoken if we have not the ships? How are we to build up a great trade if we have not the certain and constant means of transportation upon which all profitable and useful commerce depends? And how are we to get the ships if we wait for the trade to develop without them? To correct the many mistakes by which we have discouraged and all but destroyed the merchant marine of the country, to retrace the steps by which we have, it seems, almost deliberately, withdrawn our flags from the seas, except where, here and there, a ship of war is bidden carry it or some wandering yacht displays it, would take a long time and involve many detailed items of legislation, and the trade which we ought immediately to handle would disappear or find other channels while we debated the items.

The case is not unlike that which confronted us when our own continent was to be opened up to settlement and industry and we needed long lines of railway, extended means of transportation prepared beforehand, if development was not to lag intolerably and wait interminably. We lavishly subsidised the building of transcontinental railroads. We look back upon that with regret now, because the subsidies led to many scandals of which we are ashamed; but we know that the railroads had to be built, and if we had it to do over again we should of course build them, but in another way. Therefore I propose another way of providing the means of transportation, which must precede, not tardily follow, the development of our trade with our neighbor States of America. It may seem a reversal of the natural order of things, but it is true that the routes of trade must be actually opened—by many ships and regular sailings and moderate charges—before streams of merchandise will flow freely and profitably through them.

THE SHIPPING BILL.

Hence the pending shipping bill, discussed at the last session, but as yet passed by neither house. In my judgment such legislation is imperatively needed and cannot wisely be postponed. The government must open these gates of trade, and open them wide; open them before it is altogether profitable to open them, or altogether reasonable to ask private capital to open them at a venture. It is not a question of the government monopolizing the field. It should take action to make it certain that transportation at reasonable rates will be promptly provided, even where the carriage is not at first profitable; and then when the carriage has become sufficiently profitable to attract and engage private capital, and engage it in abundance, the government ought to withdraw. I very earnestly hope that the Congress will be of this opinion, and that both houses will adopt this exceedingly important bill.

NATIONAL DEFENSE.

The other topic I shall take leave to mention goes deeper into the principles of our national life and policy. It is the subject of national defense.

It cannot be discussed without first answering some very searching questions. It is said in some quarters that we are not prepared for war. What is meant by being prepared? Is it meant that we are not ready upon brief notice to put a nation in the field, a nation of men trained to arms? Of course, we are not ready to do that; and we shall never be in time of peace so long as we retain our present political principles and institutions. And what is it that it is suggested we should be prepared to do? To defend ourselves against attack? We have always found means to do that, and shall find them whenever it is necessary without calling our people away from their necessary tasks to render compulsory military service in times of peace.

Allow me to speak with great plainness and directness upon this great matter and to express my convictions with great earnestness. I have tried to know what America is, what her people think, what they are, what they most cherish and hold dear. I hope that some of their finer passions are in my own heart—some of the great conceptions and desires which gave birth to this government and which have made the voice of this people a voice of peace and hope and liberty among the peoples of the world, and that, speaking my own thoughts, I shall, at least in part, speak theirs also, however faintly and inadequately, upon this vital matter.

AT PEACE WITH WORLD.

We are at peace with all the world. No one who speaks counsel based on fact or drawn from a just and candid interpretation of realities can say that there is reason to fear that from any quarter our independence or the integrity of our territory is threatened. Dread of the power of any other nation we are incapable of. We are not jealous of rivalry in the fields of commerce or of any other peaceful achievement. We mean to live our own lives as we will, but we mean also to let live. We are, indeed, a true friend to all the nations of the world, because we threaten none, covet the possessions of none, desire the overthrow of none. Our friendship can be accepted and is accepted without reservation, because it is offered in a spirit and for a purpose which no one need ever question or suspect. Therein lies our greatness. We are the champions of peace and of concord. And we should be very jealous of this distinction which we have sought to earn. Just now we should be particularly jealous of it, because it is our dearest present hope that this character and reputation may presently, in God's providence, bring us an opportunity such as has seldom been vouchsafed any nation, the opportunity to counsel and obtain peace in the world and reconciliation and a healing settlement of many a matter that has cooled and interrupted the friendship of nations. This is the time above all others when we should wish and resolve to keep our strength by self-possession, our influence by preserving our ancient principles of action.

MILITARY POLICY.

From the first we have had a clear and settled policy with regard to military establishments. We never have had, and while we retain our present principles and ideals, we never shall have, a large standing army. If asked, are you ready to defend yourselves, we reply, most assuredly, to the utmost; and yet we shall not turn America into a military camp. We will not ask our young men to spend the best years of their lives making soldiers of themselves. There is another sort of energy in us. It will know how to declare itself and make itself effective should occasion arise. And especially when half the world is on fire we shall be careful to make our moral insurance against the spread of the conflagration very definite and certain and adequate indeed.

Let us remind ourselves, therefore, of the only thing we can do or will do. We must depend in every time of national peril, in the future as in the past, not upon a standing army, nor yet upon a reserve army, but upon a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms. It will be right enough, right American policy, based upon our accustomed principles and practices, to provide a system by which every citizen who will volunteer for the training may be made familiar with the use of modern arms, the rudiments of drill and maneuver, and the maintenance and sanitation of camps. We should encourage such training and make it a means of discipline which our young men will learn to value. It is right that we should provide it not only, but that we should make it as attractive as possible and so induce our young men to undergo it at such times as they can command little freedom and can seek the physical development they need for mere health's sake, if for nothing more. Every means by which such things can be stimulated is legitimate, and such a method smacks of true American ideas. It is right, too, that the National Guard of the States should be developed and strengthened by every means which is not inconsistent with our obligations to our own people, or with the established policy of our government. And this also, not because the time or occasion specially calls for such measures, but because it should be our constant policy to make these provisions for our national peace and safety.

More than this carries with it a reversal of the whole history and character of our policy. More than this, proposed at this time, permit me to say, would mean merely that we have lost our self-possession, that we have been thrown off our balance by a war with which we have nothing to do, whose causes can not touch us, whose very existence affords us opportunities of friendship and disinterested service which should make us ashamed of any thought of hostility or fearful preparation for trouble. This is assuredly the opportunity for which a people and a government like ours was raised up, the opportunity not only to speak, but actually to embody and exemplify the counsels of peace and amity and the lasting concord which is based on justice and fair and generous dealing.

NAVAL QUESTIONS.

A powerful navy we have always regarded as our proper and natural means of defense, and it has always been of defense that we have thought, never of aggression or of conquest. But who shall tell us now what sort of navy to build? We shall take leave to be strong upon the seas in the future as in the past, and there will be no thought of offense or of provocation in that. Our ships are our natural bulwarks. When will the experts tell us just what kind we should construct—and when will they be right for ten years together if the relative efficiency of craft of different kinds and uses continues to change as we have seen it change under our very eyes in these last few months?

But I turn away from the subject. It is not new. There is no new need to discuss it. We shall not alter our attitude toward it because some among us are nervous and excited. We shall easily and sensibly agree upon a policy of defense. The question has not changed its aspects because the times are not normal. Our policy will not be for an occasion. It will be conceived as a permanent and settled thing, which we will pursue at all seasons, without haste and after a fashion perfectly consistent with the peace of the world, the abiding friendship of States, and the unhampered freedom of all with whom we deal. Let there be no misconception. The country has been misinformed. We have not been negligent of national defense. We are not unmindful of the great responsibility resting upon us. We shall learn and profit by the lesson of every experience and every new circumstance, and what is needed will be adequately done.

REVOLUTIONIZES STEEL MAKING.

EXPERT ANNOUNCES IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IN CHICAGO.

By New Process Metal may Become Practically Indestructible. Fortifications may be Built Much Stronger than at Present, While Skyscrapers may be Built Higher.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The discovery of a revolutionary method of treating steel by which it is made several times the strength of the present product was announced before the National Academy of Sciences today by Prof. A. A. Michelson, winner two years ago of the Nobel prize for physical research work.

Prof. Michelson explained the new steel which he said would revolutionize warfare by making fortifications as well as ammunition many times stronger than at present. The new steel would advance peaceful projects, he said, by permitting the erection of skyscrapers to heights never yet undertaken and the construction of greater suspension bridges than have heretofore been possible.

Demonstrating, Prof. Michelson took a bar of the new steel and twisted it almost to the breaking point. Two kilograms of force, he said, were used in the experiment. He laid the bar aside and in a few minutes repeated the twisting beyond the former breaking point. Instead of breaking, the bar withstood an application of three kilograms of power, indicating that the first experiment and the elapsed time had given the metal increased resistance. Four times the experiment was repeated and each time a greater application of force was withstood.

Prof. Michelson said the process might be carried on until steel tools and appliances might be made that would be practically indestructible.

it is assumed in Berlin that the German operations thus far have been successful.

LONDON, Dec. 8, 11:30 p.m.—The great battle for possession of Poland continues. The front extends along 200 miles and victory over a part of it, at least, appears to have fallen to the Germans, while the Russians are pressing upon Cracow in the south.

That Lods is in the possession of the Germans seems undoubted and a Russian official report just issued apparently is preparing the public mind for the news by referring to the difficulty of defending the city, which gives to the Russian front an abnormal contour and forecasts a reforming of the line.

Details of these mighty battles have yet to be written. The general fact that there has been fearful slaughter and intense suffering from the cold comprises about the total of the information received.

The Germans say they are pursuing the Russians to the south and southeast of Lods. Several American correspondents were with the Russian army when the battle broke, but nothing has been heard from them for several days. Evidently they are under the ban of a strict censorship.

British military experts insist that three-quarters of the best material of the German army has been held in the western theater of the war throughout the campaign and that the troops opposed to the Russians consist principally of second line organizations.

The French official report announces tonight that the Germans have made a violent attack upon the allies at St. Eloy, south of Ypres, which was repulsed. This may mean a renewal of the German attempt to batter through the allies which the correspondents predicted from the movements of the Germans in Belgium. Elsewhere in the west there have been only local engagements.

The Austrian and Servian reports continue to claim success for their respective sides. Servia reports a victory on the northeast front with nearly 2000 prisoners. Vienna says the Austrian advance south of Belgrade is progressing.

Apart from the battlefields, the officially announced illness of the German Emperor in Berlin, from bronchial catarrh, with a fever, is the most interesting news of the day. The Emperor's prolonged activity and the recent reports of his appearance have caused the public to watch with particular interest developments regarding his health.

RUSSIAN ALIBI FOR THE DEFEAT.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 8.—An official statement given out today by the General Staff of the Russian army indicated that the Russians were considering the abandonment of Lodz.

This statement says:

"During the fighting in the second half of the month of November Lodz acquired great military importance, but the German offensive on the Lods-Lowicz line having failed, the question of the defense of Lodz lost its urgency. The defense of this large city presents many difficulties from the military point of view, and gives to our front an abnormal contour which is embarrassing to our communications with the rear. It may, therefore, be expected that with the setting in of a lull on the left bank of the Vistula, the Russian lines in the region of Lodz will be reformed."

The report then takes up the fighting on the left bank of the River Vistula, as follows:

"Toward the end of October, Russian troops, pursuing certain Austrian and German forces which were retreating in a southwesterly direction, reached a line stretching from the River Warta to the River Nidzitsa. This Russian detachment was strongly supported on its right wing. Our rear guards, however, hampered the conduct of our offensive to a considerable degree and the enemy, taking advantage of this circumstance, moved forward along the railroad.

"We observed that the Germans in front of us were moving in a northerly direction and that an important force of the enemy was being concentrated along the front between Thorn and Slouptsy. This movement menaced seriously the communication of our right wing with its base.

"At the same time we learned that certain important highways in Silesia which led to the fronts on which our other armies were in position, were being strongly protected by Austrian troops, and that these forces were in turn supported in part by German troops. The highways in question were, furthermore, doubtless strongly fortified particularly in the vicinity of Czenstochowa and Cracow.

"This new military situation made it incumbent upon us to put into effect a partial modification of the dispositions of our men along our northern front, a change which involved a considerable number of our forces. This maneuver was effected under the protection of forces supporting our right wing. These supporting forces were subjected to a series of ferocious attacks in the vicinity of Vioblavsk, Kutno and Lenesyca. The Russian resistance here prevented the carrying out of the German operations and permitted us to bring together the forces necessary to check the German offensive movement undertaken in the vicinity of Thorn and Slouptsky.

"After these occurrences the Germans for a period of several days endeavored stubbornly to drive us from the positions held by our right wing, which rested on the River Vistula.

"On November 19, after unbelievable efforts and enormous sacrifices, the enemy succeeded in penetrating our front. This success was at once followed by the driving of a German avalanche into the opening thus made, the force of the enemy thence making their way in the direction of Strykow, Brzesiny, Koluschky, Tuszyn and Azgow. Ignoring our right wing and our forces in the vicinity of Lods and to the west of this city, the Germans then attacked with great energy the Russian forces which menaced their rear. On November 23 strong German columns, making their way to the east of the River Warta, already were nearing Lask. In spite of these conditions, most difficult and distressing for us, our troops continued to fight with increasing energy. In the region to the north of Lods our forces repulsed the frantic attack of the Germans, inflicting on them many losses.

"Two detachments of Russian reserves, thrown against the forces of the enemy in the region of Tuszyn and Rzgow, by their energetic action were successful in compelling the enemy to desist from his offensive movement against our rear and later to take the defensive. These German columns were thrown into disorder.

"In the meantime our troops returning to the fight along the front between Lowicz and Skirniewicz were successful in regaining possession of Strykow and Brzesiny, thus severing the lines of communication of the German troops, who had withdrawn toward Rzgow and Tuszyn. In this manner there was brought about shortly after November 23 an improvement and the general situation became distinctly favorable for us along the front between Zdunska, Wola, Szadek and Lodz.

"On the 26th of November the Germans made an unbelievable effort. By a series of repeated night attacks they succeeded in winning their way to the town of Strykow. In this action, according to their own official admission, they sustained unheard-of losses, which was due to the fact that they had to cut a way for themselves while still subjected all the time to our fire.

"The movements of our troops compelled them to retire. The losses of the enemy in this driving in of our front and the subsequent operations were so heavy that these divisions had to be withdrawn completely. The fighting nevertheless continued. According to the recital of prisoners belonging to other contingents, German companies of an original strength of from 250 to 280 men were so cut up that at the end of the bayonet charges they were reduced to no more than seventy men.

"One of the results of the battle between Lowicz and Lodz not favorable to the Germans is that they had to move important reinforcements to their eastern front. All told, the Germans brought to these engagements reinforcements to the number of six army corps and five divisions of cavalry. This coming of reinforcements in large number began November 25 and made it possible for the Germans to continue their attacks on our positions from November 27 to December 5. Nevertheless these attacks were not always made in unison and they were without effect. The evening of December 5 the Germans discontinued their offensive operations, having sustained heavy losses.

"On December 6 the Germans showed no activity whatever. This same day the arrival of fresh German forces was indicated by changes in the locations of the Austrian troops. These detachments, withdrawn from the front between Czenstochowa and Cracow, assembled in considerable numbers to the south of Cracow, where certain detachments of German troops were concentrated. For this reason the region of Czenstochowa lost, for the moment, the importance it held in the beginning of the operations. All these circumstances impelled us in the interest of more advantageous locations for our forces to move forward for the occupation of certain other points.

"On December 5 the Germans made a tentative offensive movement in the direction of Mlawa and Prasnysich, but they were repulsed with serious losses.

"To the south of Cracow we perceived recently a turning ovement on the part of the enemy directed against our left wing. Reinforcements which arrived for our forces found that the bridge over the Dounaetz, near Kourovo, had been destroyed, and that the heights on the left bank of the river were occupied by the enemy.

"Under a sustained fire from the Germans one of our glorious regiments crossed the Dounaetz at a ford. They made their way through the ice water up to their necks, and coming out on the other side they captured the heights by a vigorous assault. This assured and made safe the passage of the river for other Russian troops."

COLOMBIA REMOVES WIRELESS STATION.

BOGOTA (Colombia) Dec. 8 (via London.)—The Minister of Foreign Affairs today ordered the removal of the high-power wireless at Cartagena.

Cartagena is a Colombian seaport in the Department of Bolivar, on a small sandy peninsula connected with the continent by an artificial neck of land. The operation of a wireless station there has been the subject of energetic protests by the British government, which contended that the plant was being operated by the Germans for the transmission of news to German warships.

It was announced in London on November 25 that Great Britain and France had appealed to the good offices of the United States to induce Colombia to observe more strictly the requirements of neutrality. The under Secretary of the Colonial Department, Charles Roberts, stated that unless this was brought about the allies might be compelled to take further steps for the protection of their interests. The United States government responded that it was willing that England should deal directly with Colombia concerning alleged violations of neutrality, but so far as has been announced, no further steps were taken by the British government.

Cossacks Suppress Kurd Uprising.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Russian Cossacks have suppressed an uprising of the Kurds in Persia, according to mail advices received here today by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church from the mission at Uramia. Russians are now in complete control of that section of Persia, it is said.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretion of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Culver City is on 3 great interurban electric lines and 4 big boulevards—midway between Los Angeles and Venice.

To meet the constantly increasing demand for residence and business lots it has been necessary to extend the boundaries of Culver City to embrace 200 acres of adjoining land on the south and southwest.

The original Culver City, founded only a little over a year ago, is practically sold out. One short year has wrought a change that is little short of miraculous.

Culver City is a city of the new California — a city of concrete walls, stately residences, rambling bungalow homes, green lawns and flowers.

A year ago the passer-by saw only fields of grain, where today are substantial business blocks, model new stores, great industrial plants, a handsome bank, a beautiful theater (now building,) a large Pacific Electric station, church, garage, etc., and rows of beatuiful lawn set homes.

You know what profits were realized by early buyers in Hollywood, Pasadena, Glendale and other Southern California towns. Do you realize that Culver City shows every indication of a growth that will equal that of Hollywood?

It will pay you to study Culver City's growth now —not a year or two years from now. Apply at our offices for free tickets. Daily excursions.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST
IN THE LONG RUN.

This practically holds good in everything, especially when buying real estate; if you buy the best you are buying something which always has a market value. If you buy the poorest you pay less money, of course, but who wants the poorest? SOUTHLAND ACRES is unquestionably the best acreage proposition now upon the market. Let us prove it at our own expense. This magnificent acreage subdivision is located upon the Redondo blvd., and but two miles south of Inglewood. For location, scenic beauty, productive soil, with a certainty of increase in values, there is nothing to equal it around Los Angeles. Acres, half-acres and quarter-acres at prices and terms that are unequaled in that entire section. Auto excursion will leave our office Thursday at 10:20 a.m. Phone now for your reservation, or call and see SHOULTS & MYERS, Sales Managers SOUTHLAND and Garden ACRES.

Tough on Chewing Gum.

Druggists, confectioners and others dealing in chewing gum are hit hard by a ruling received yesterday by Collector Carter from the Treasury Department, relating to some of the features of the war tax. It is to the effect that while dealers in chewing gum can display their wares in the boxes bearing stamps at the rate of 4 cents for every dollar's worth of gum, they cannot remove it from these receptacles and place it in fancy jars for the purposes of display. The gum must remain in the boxes.

Sympathy.

CAMINO SAILS ON MERCY ERRAND.

SMALL PARTY BIDS RELIEF SHIP HEARTFELT GODSPEED.

Five Carloads of Foodstuff Left Behind for Second Ship—Hold of Big Freighter Crammed with Fruits of State's Soil as Offering to Stricken of Europe.

On her mission of mercy to the Old World, the California-built and owned ship Camino left the outer harbor yesterday afternoon, laden with the fruits of California's generosity. Five cars of California products were left behind on the wharf for lack of room in her capacious holds.

Brief formal farewell ceremonies were held on deck under the auspices of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, in whose city the steamer was built. A big crowd of Long Beach citizens came over on the launch Nellie. Rev. David D. Livingstone, secretary of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, had the party in charge and introduced J. A. Romiger, president of the chamber, who presided.

The principal talk was made by Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Long Beach, who paid an eloquent tribute to the generosity of the people of California and expressed the belief that the light of civilization has not gone out, even though there is much we cannot now explain in the stricken land.

P. E. Hatch, former Mayor of Long Beach, told something of the history of the steamer, which is valued at $325,000 and carries a cargo valued at $200,000, under a charter and insurance premium valued at $60,000. Mrs. P. S. MacNee, president of the Long Beach Ebell Club, spoke on behalf of the ladies of Long Beach, and Rev. George D. McKnight, pastor of the First Baptist Church, closed the ceremonies with a prayer. Music was furnished by the Long Beach Municipal Band.

Los Angeles was represented officially by Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce, whose genius is responsible for the collection of the Southern California contributions; Chairman Story of the Committee for Belgian Relief, and Gilbert Wright, chairman of the county committee.

Long before the last of the contributions had been swung into the hold the crowd began to gather on the wharf and by the time the booms were lowered and the hatches covered they swarmed over the ship to take part in the demonstration of good will that goes with the steamer on her long voyage over two oceans and through the Panama Canal.

The very deck of the relief ship rang with sincerity in the footfalls of the throng and sincerity was the keynote of the impressive remarks made by the speakers before Capt. Ahlin ordered the lines cast off and the Camino, with her crew cheering from rail and ports, pulled out into the channel against the humanity-banked wharf.

From the mainmast fluttered a long pennant and the rigging was strung with various colored signal flags, while above the water line on the black hull, in great letters of red and blue that may be seen afar by many a wondering skipper at sea, "California, Committee Belgian Relief, Rotterdam."

More than 1,000,000 pounds of supplies were loaded here. This included 5424 sacks of flour, 2910 sacks of beans, 1243 sacks of rice, 215 sacks of dried fruit, 131 sacks of wheat, forty-one sacks of corn, 132 sacks of miscellaneous stuff and 436 boxes of canned goods, 217 of dried fruit, 240 of milk, twenty-one of clothing, and a miscellaneous of 297 boxes. The five carloads of Southern California donations that could not be loaded will be sent on a later ship.

Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 45 deg. and 56 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 75 per cent.; 5 p.m., 37 per cent. WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Two areas of low pressure appeared on Tuesday morning's map, one over the Eastern Prairie and another entering the Pacific Northwest. Fresh winds are blowing in New York City, and strong wind to moderate gale occurred at Seattle. The precipitation in New York and Pennsylvania amounted to nearly an inch, which were the largest amounts recorded during the past twenty-four hours. Elsewhere the precipitation was moderate in amount and widely scattered. The intensity of the well-marked area of high pressure which is slowly moving northeasterly from the Rocky Mountain west is shown in the extension of the 30-inch line over Montana, New England, the Great Lakes, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho and Eastern Washington. The influence of this high area was felt locally in the light frost in exposed places in Southern California, which occurred Tuesday morning. Heavy frosts are reported from Sacramento, Fresno and San Luis Obispo. This distribution of pressure will give Los Angeles and vicinity continued fair weather, with warmer about Wednesday morning.

THE GREAT MEN OF HISTORY DESCRIBED AS VIVIDLY AS CHARACTERS OF TODAY

One of the Charms of Larned's History

History without the human figure would be as lonely as a treeless landscape, and Larned gives color and life to this wonderful world history by his vivid portraitures of the great men of each of his six historic epochs. His character sketches clothe the dry bones with flesh and blood—and life itself pulsates in his pages. "The great men of the past have been selected by the severest of all judges—Time!"—says Emerson—and Larned presents them at the bar of Time with a stern impartiality that commands the admiration and respect of all scholarship. This freedom from bias and prejudice is what makes Larned's History of the World, the greatest work of its kind ever written. The Times had this in view when it first joined the syndicate of newspapers that are offering it to their readers almost as a gift, and its reception by the general public has been so cordial and emphatic that there is now no doubt that this great five-volume history fills a want that is universal. Those of our readers who have not yet acted on the advice so often printed in this paper are again urged to lose no time in clipping the history coupon appearing elsewhere in each issue of The Times.

The books can be seen at The Times main and branch offices, First and Broadway and 619 South Spring street. —[Advertisement.

RECEIVERS FOR ALL RAILROADS.

That's Way We're Going, Says Kruttschnitt.

Harriman Lines Head Here on Trip of Inspection.

General Business Outlook is Good, He Declares.

"We have touched bottom in a business way and are on the rebound," said "There are between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000 in system improvements to be sanctioned as soon as revenue justifies such expenditures," among the assertions of Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Southern Pacific Company, yesterday, on his arrival here on an inspection of the Pacific system of the parent company. Elucidating his talk on railroad affairs in general by the statement that "I feel that good times are coming," Mr. Kruttschnitt, who was for years head of the Harriman traffic nevertheless characterized the railroad carriers' position in the American economic system as one that is rapidly becoming untenable.

"Both the national and State governments against rate increases," he said, "the credit of the railroads generally destroyed by adverse legislation, while the cost of living increasing in the same ratio as that of the housewife's wages. The future for the carriers does not look bright.

"In fact," he continued, "the number of railroads that have gone into receivers in late years, and the absence of signs of any betterment in the railroads' condition, sometimes causes me to believe that, one after another of all the railroads of this country will pass through the court's hands, the weaker ones first, and then the stronger ones, as their vitality is sapped by a condition of affairs where they are called upon to furnish increasing service and are allowed to eat only sparingly."

"GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP."

Asked if this would not mean government ownership, Mr. Kruttschnitt smilingly retorted that he would consider it a good bargain where he operated another man's business for his own personal benefit and furnished none of the capital and assumed none of the responsibility.

"But such a condition of affairs cannot go on forever," he asserted. "The people will find, eventually, that the financial crippling of the railroads means a dearth of improvements and a corresponding lack of carriage facilities to keep pace with increased production, and, as the country settles up, as it will, increasing travel."

Turning his attention to Southern California railroad affairs, Mr. Kruttschnitt characterized the Pacific Electric as "a vigorous property" that is bound to grow. In fact, the $8,000,000 subway project of this road, westward from the Hill-street station, was the only one of the contemplated "system improvements" that Mr. Kruttschnitt would discuss. The remainder of the improvements, which, as he stated it, will be sanctioned as soon as revenue justifies such expenditures and will mean an outlay of between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000, were bulked together as "forty or fifty imperative projects."

Mr. Kruttschnitt's discussion of the Pacific Electric's subway project had an appropriate setting—a suite of rooms on the tenth floor of the Hotel Clark, looking out upon the hills that will be tunneled for the "electric trail to Vineyard." On previous visits here, Mr. Kruttschnitt stopped at the Alexandria.

Though the executive head of the Southern Pacific Company was inclined to look upon railroad affairs, as through a glass, darkly, he confidently asserted that business conditions are improving. "I saw more freight trains between here and New Orleans than I believe I ever saw before," he said.

"As for bad conditions in the copper and cotton worlds," said Mr Kruttschnitt, "this only means so much tonnage deferred. In fact, I sometimes think that we as a nation are only getting ready for strides forward that will make those of the past look small."

A rather surprising observation by Mr. Kruttschnitt was that the Southern Pacific of Mexico, in spite of long periods of inoperation the past two years, and recurrent whirlwinds of

OLIVE GROWERS LOSE MILLION.

Democracy Killing Our Big Oil Industry.

Fruit Rots on Trees and Italy Ships Product In.

Strong Object Lesson on Low Tariff Policy.

California's 1914 crop of oil olives, valued at over $1,000,000, is rotting on the trees and is doomed to almost complete loss. This is the surprising disclosure made yesterday by Frank Simonds, secretary of the Los Angeles Olive Growers' Association.

"The inability of the olive-oil manufacturers to contract for the crop this year explains why the growers are helpless with the fruit on the trees," stated Mr. Simonds. "There are two reasons why the manufacturers are incapable of handling the crop, the main one being the low Democratic tariff and the other the unprecedented shipments of olive oil from Italy, made possible by that tariff—or lack of tariff.

Fearing the possibility of sooner or later being involved in war, the Italian olive oil producers are making great haste to export all their product to the United States regardless of whether there is a market for it or not. The importations are far larger than the demand. For the fiscal year 1912-13 there were only 5,000,000 gallons imported from foreign countries and from present indications this year the importations will total over 7,000,000 gallons. With such a heavy supply of foreign oil selling at prices which would be ruinous to the California producers, the condition is more serious than it ever has been before in the history of the industry."

Discussing the relation of the low tariff to the present discouraging condition of the olive oil industry, Mr. Simonds stated that three years of Democratic administration have put the industry on its last legs.

"California absolutely cannot compete with foreign countries in the manufacture of olive oil on account of their low wage scale as compared with that in this State," Mr. Simonds continued.

"For the last year or more California producers have been carrying over from 40 to 50 per cent. of their output because they could not dispose of it at profitable prices. To exemplify how serious it is this year I may state that California oil has been offered in New York at cost during

Says She's the Real Princess Sequoyah.

Mrs. Pearl Perrin of Los Angeles,

Who casts the shadow of doubt upon the royal title of Richard Croker's Indian bride by claiming it herself. She intends to substantiate her right to it within ten days.

And No Princess?

DID TAMMANY CHIEF WED ONLY A SQUAW?

DOUBT has been shadowed upon the royal title of the recent Mrs. Richard Croker, the Cherokee Indian girl who became the bride of the rich Tammany politician November 26. The real Princess Sequoyah, the title by which the bride introduced herself, is Mrs. Pearl Perrin, a resident of Los Angeles—so Mrs. Perrin asserts. She is a wealthy and attractive widow living at the Hillman Apartments, No. 1010 Ingraham street.

When Mrs. Perrin read the claims to royalty made for Mrs. Croker in the dispatches she was puzzled and piqued to read her own royal titles as the property of the active young Indian woman who is but a squaw in the tribe, she says. At once she wired to the East, requesting that a complete genealogy be sent her at the earliest date, and she expects the arrival of this official proof of her royal title within a few days, and will then face the young Mrs. Croker with proof that she is in error in proclaiming herself the rightful claimant to heirship to the great chiefs of the Cherokee tribe.

HER SON "BIG CHIEF."

Mrs. Perrin lives in an elaborate suite of rooms at the exclusive apartment-house with her son, Stuart, whose Indian name is Uh-Tahse-Tah, meaning "Big Chief." The stalwart boy of 15, the mother asserts, is the rightful heir to the supreme position among the Cherokee Indians. He is tall, straight of back, with an alert and observing eye, and is now studying his arithmetic and Latin in the public schools.

His mother is also tall and erect, but shows no kinship to the Cherokee tribe to the casual observer. She is still young, with a wealth of blonde hair. He husband was killed in a railroad accident, and since his death she has lived in Seattle and this city, having come here to better educate her boy

In Topanga Canyon.

FIVE TONS OF DYNAMITE ONE SHOT ON A ROAD.

WITH a mighty detonation that rocked the bordering hills, five tons of dynamite were exploded at one shot in Topanga Canyon yesterday afternoon. The giant blast sent a mountain, reduced to huge fragments of earth and rock, hurtling 300 feet into the air and helped to clear a way for the magnificent highway that the county is building from the San Fernando Valley straight through the mountains to the sea.

The scene of yesterday's great blast is about four miles north of the county coast road in an exceedingly rugged portion of the canyon, at an elevation of about 1000 feet. Superintendent of Construction William Davidson personally directed the placing of the dynamite and the explosion. Forty tunnels were prepared by drilling and the contact was made by electricity.

From a commanding eminence several hundred feet away the upheaval presented a remarkable scene. First the whole mountainside appeared to be crumbling, then rocks and earth began to shoot upward to a great height. High up in the air these further disintegrated until a great area was completely filled with a thick cloud of dust, its top aflame as it reflected the rays of bright sunlight.

Thousands of yards of rock and earth—perhaps 5000 tons altogether—were removed in the path of the highway and now the big steam shovels will begin to pile it away leaving the roadway prepared for the grading crews. Because of the rough, mountainous nature of the Topanga Canyon region, a great deal of dynamiting has been necessary, all of the charges being big ones. The biggest charge was eight tons and there have been several of more than three tons. Approximately 150 tons of dynamite will be used to hew a way through the canyon.

The Topanga Canyon road is fourteen miles long and its construction was undertaken by the Board of Supervisors more than a year ago. Much of the work was done, after the surveys had been made and general plans outlined by County Highway Engineer Joyner and chain-gang labor.

Every effort is being made to complete the road in time for tourist travel next year. Mr. Davidson, who has been on the job about four months, says that, if the weather is fairly favorable, he hopes to have the entire road ready some time in March.

The Topanga Canyon road, besides forming an important link in the county highway system and affording a direct access to the sea for the San Fernando Valley, is one of the most ruggedly beautiful scenic drives in Southern California. Its highest point is about 1800 feet above sea level and at several points there are fine views of the ocean and of the valley.

With its completion there will be available for the motorist a belt line drive from Los Angeles that cannot be excelled anywhere. Starting from this city the route could be over any one of several thoroughfares to Santa Monica; then through Santa Monica Canyon to the sea, where the Coast highway now being improved by the county skirts close to the beach under the bluff slopes of the mountains for several miles.

Through the new Topanga Canyon highway a wide range of mountainous and valley scenery is afforded. The heaviest grade is 10 per cent., this for only 1000 feet. There are a few short stretches of 8 per cent. grade and the BIG PROJECT TAKES SHAPE.

Wells-Fargo to Erect Fine Express Building.

Franchises Asked Yesterday for Access Tracks.

Hundred Thousand Dollars is Estimated Cost.

The best express building in the United States is to be put up by Wells Fargo & Co. at the northerly end of the new Southern Pacific station.

The original intention of the company was to build at the southerly end of the new station, but it was found impossible to secure the required land. Then the plan for use of the northerly site was evolved, and in connection with it there has been developed a new plan for the trackage layout for the Pacific Electric whereby Wells Fargo & Co. express cars may be handled most expeditiously.

The first step toward carrying through the legal end of this enterprise, as it will require Council action in the granting of a franchise and spur-track permit, was taken yesterday, when Councilmen Betkouski, Langdon, Roberts and Whiffen, President Shoup of the Pacific Electric Company, General Agent F. O. Reed of Wells Fargo & Co., and the general manager of the company from San Francisco, visited the site and carefully went over the plans for the structure and the proposed track layout.

The Pacific Electric now has a track that terminates on Ceres avenue at Central avenue. It is purposed to carry this track along Central avenue 300 feet, in front of the new station, to a point north, where the new express building will stand. The tracks will then enter the private land of the Southern Pacific and give direct access to the Wells Fargo building.

The rearrangement of the trackage gives a large open space at the southerly end of the new station for auto usage that heretofore had been planned for occupancy by the express business. The new location of the express building will also give the advantage of keeping the heavy express trucks off Fifth street and Central avenue in front of the railway station. This heavy traffic will logically use Fourth street for access to the center of the business district.

ARE IMPRESSED.

All members of the City Council who made the inspection seemed very favorably impressed with the plans evolved. Councilman Roberts, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee, stated last night that he believes the plan is the best that can be devised for the benefit of the public and the interests involved. That the Council will grant the desired franchise or spur track permit without delay seems certain. The express company is ready to proceed at once with construction.

General Agent Reed of the express company said yesterday:

The new building of Well Fargo & Co. to serve the business incident to the opening of the new Arcade Station will cost $100,000. It is the most complete and up-to-date of any in the United States, and every modern convenience will be installed to that end. The building proper will be 195 feet long, facing on Central avenue, and will have a 100-foot frontage on Fourth street. The arrangement was made so that all teams will be within the property lines and none on the sidewalk or street. The layout is so arranged as to concentrate teaming at Central avenue and Fourth street and remove all hauling from the front of the new Southern Pacific depot, allowing this space exclusively for the movement of passengers.

By the location of the building at the north end of the new depot, rather than the south end, as was originally contemplated, it will remove a large amount of teaming from the front of the station, which would of necessity have passed the new depot on Central avenue. In order to carry out this plan, the Pacific Electric will make application at the Council meeting Friday for a franchise to connect track now terminating at Fifth street and Ceres avenue with a line on Central avenue, for the purpose of running express cars on Central avenue, about 300 feet, and then entering a spur track for which franchise is requested, to the new express grounds.

VOTE ON AMENDMENTS.

Members of Realty Board to Take Action on Charter Provisions Indorsed in Committee.

Members of the Los Angeles Realty Board will vote on indorsement or non-indorsement of all ten of the proposed amendments to the city charter at the regular luncheon meeting of the board to be held at the Alexandria Hotel tomorrow. The Governing Committee of the board has already recommended to the membership the indorsement of all the amendments, but this is only advisory and the full membership will be asked to vote upon each amendment separately.

Jesse D. Burks, director of the efficiency department of the city, will be present and will answer such questions relating to the amendments as may be propounded by members. Henry W. O'Melveny will speak on certain of the measures.

An additional feature of the meeting will be an address by David Lubin, delegate of the United States to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, on "The Economic Disposal of Products." Mr. Lubin has remained over in Los Angeles for several days especially for the purpose of delivering this address, which is scheduled to begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock, after the regular business of the Realty Board meeting has been transacted. A number of outsiders have been invited to hear Mr. Lubin's address, including members of the Chamber of Commerce, Produce Exchange and other organizations.

GET NO DAMAGES.

George and Fallie Wyann, who brought an action against the Western Union Telegraph Company for the recovery of $10,215, alleged to be due on account of mental anguish suffered by the last-named, when she failed to get a telegram informing her of the death of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Myers, at Pacolte Mills, S. C., in time to attend the funeral, lost their case in the United States District Court yesterday, Judge Wellborn sustaining the demurrer to the complaint. The court held in substance that damages for mental anguish are not recoverable under the Federal laws.

for the responsibilities which may become his in the affairs of the Cherokee Nation.

More specifically, Mrs. Perrin is known among the Cherokee people as the Princess Claremont, being an immediate descendant of the noted Indian chieftain. More remotely, she is a descendant of the Chief Sequoyah, to whom Mrs. Croker claims royal kinship. It was Chief Sequoyah who originated the present alphabet of the Cherokee language, and became historically famous as the most noted scholar of the race.

Chief Claremont was more powerful, a superb athlete, and a jurist of ability. His decisions in the affairs of the Cherokee Indians have become legal precedents which have since been observed with scrupulous care, says Mrs. Perrin.

AS TO MRS. CROKER.

Regarding the claims of Mrs. Croker, Mrs. Perrin said last night:

"I knew her when she was a school girl and the announcement that she is of royal antecedents is most surprising. As far as her claim to being the Princess Sequoyah it is absurd, and if any one can claim such a title, I am the one. I am the oldest of the descendants of that famous chief.

"As a fellow-student at the Cherokee Female Seminary in Talequah, Okla., I first knew Mrs. Croker, then Miss Edmondson. She was a very smart young woman, but I fear the rumor that she knew Mr. Croker since she was 9 years old is more or less unfounded. We never thought of her as being more than a regular maiden in the tribe, and all reference to royalty in the tribe, as far as she was concerned, was not considered.

"She took a great interest in education and later in the feminist movement, and I think it was when she was asked to ride in the great suffragette demonstration in New York in the dress of an Indian princess that she first received the idea that she was of royal birth.

"MORE THAN THIRTY."

"Mrs. Croker is somewhat older than reported, for she was a student there at the same time I attended, and must be more than 30 at the present time. Of course, I have always known of the fact that I was a member of the reigning household of the Cherokee tribe, as my mother was directly descended from Chief Claremont, but it is not usual for one of our race to reveal the history of his or her birth, and the matter has always been kept a secret by me.

"However, it is unfair that Mrs. Croker should lay unjust claims to royal precedence in her tribe, when she is not entitled to them, and I think she should be informed that she is not a true princess of the nation. I presume that Will Hastings, her relative, and attorney for the Cherokee people, is partly responsible for the report, as he would wish her to appear as favorably as possible, and the Cherokee people would not hasten to deny such a report. It would simply be ignored."

Regarding her blonde hair, Mrs. Perrin said that many full-blooded Cherokee Indians are blonde, and that light hair is a racial characteristic. She said that when she knew Mrs. Croker she, too, was a blonde. Mrs. Perrin's eyes are of a shifting blue, very luminous and full, but she bears more the appearance of a polished society woman than of the Indian princess.

QUIETING DOWN.

Bare Majority at the Meeting of the Board of Education Last Night. Fewer Meetings Proposed.

There was a short attendance of members at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. Col. Steadman is confined to his home with an attack of rheumatism and Mrs. Craig and Mr. Scott were also absent. In order to pass the reports of the Finance Committee, of which Mr. Guinn is chairman, he was compelled to eat crow, and make himself one of the necessary four voting in the affirmative to pass the reports under the new rule that a mere majority is legal. He squirmed, but came through. The Socialist contingent has likewise disappeared from the meetings since the settlement of that question in favor of the superintendent. Though for months they have packed the room, not one was present last night.

The matter of the B-I salaries was put over until the full board is in attendance. Steps are being taken to reduce the number of meetings of the board. The superintendent recommended that but one afternoon meeting be held each month. Some of the members were in favor of having only evening meetings and the report was referred back for further consideration.

A circular letter was introduced from the Department of the Interior at Washington recommending a course of study for junior colleges and inetrmediate schools, which was a part of the report of Supt. Francis in the survey of the Portland schools.

6% A Lasting Remembrance

Give real serious thought to this matter of Christmas giving.

Are there not certain instances where you would like to give something substantial? Something that will last far into the future—something that will continue to be a benefit and pleasure to the recipient from year to year?

Consider our 6 per cent. Investment Certificates issued in amounts of $100 or any multiple thereof. Isn't there someone dear to you, to whom a gift of one of these Certificates would bring more genuine delight and happiness than anything else you could think of?

Then if it is "more blessed to give than to receive" think how much greater measure of the joy of giving you will experience from the act of bestowing so helpful a gift.

These Certificates can be given to anyone, old or young, for there is no worry or special knowledge required on the part of the recipient. Their value does not fluctuate; the interest is collected every six months by merely clipping a coupon and presenting it for payment. And above all they are absolutely safe.

bridge-burning and other evidences of revolution below the line, nevertheless showed a slight profit in operations for these years.

"It was nothing as compared with what this property is capable of earning," he said, "for this railroad taps some of the richest country on this continent."

"But," he added, almost as an aside, "we have never seen what this railroad will earn, because the revolutions broke out about the time it was completed."

Though he would not hazard a guess as to the size of the 1915 travel, Mr. Kruttschnitt stated that investigations show that it will probably be even larger, rather than smaller, than early estimates.

Mr. Kruttschnitt, accompanied by President Sproule of the Southern Pacific, L. J. Spence, director of traffic; Vice-President McCormick, Vice-President and General Manager Scott, Assistant Chief Engineer Barlow, and Assistant General Manager Platt, arrived here from Yuma at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a special train. He expects to accompany President Shoup over the Pacific Electric today and will probably remain here until Saturday or Sunday.

The court told him there was no occasion for the immaterial matter in the answer.

"If you don't think my answer is sufficient, I desire to introduce some evidence; I desire to be heard," said Lapique.

"Be seated," ordered the court, as he prepared to dictate the commitment. Lapique asked to be heard, but was ordered to keep quiet. The court then took up the contempt in the answer.

"You will have to be taught that this business of filing affidavits against everybody and everything must stop," said Judge Wood. "I might think that you are insane, but I suppose you will strenuously deny that. This mass of charges you have filed is inflammatory and you are in contempt."

"Do I understand, Your Honor, that I am—"

"Sit down!" said the judge, as he proceeded to fine him $100.

"I can't be committed for contempt if the charges are true," said Lapique.

Mr. Ford called attention to the fact that Lapique had scandalized judges and attorneys. He was then taken to jail.

"I will get Judge Wood for this unfair treatment," said Lapique. "All I want is a fair deal. I will have him impeached. The next time we meet it will be before the State Senate at Sacramento."

The alleged contempt of Lapique's affidavit in the Probate Court October 28, last, in the Pierre Agoure estate was continued until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Lapique within a short time has filed suits making serious charges against many judges, county officers, the District Attorney and deputies. So far he has failed to make any of them stick.

greater part of the distance is over 4 and 5 per cent. grades. The road is well built and is conducive to comfort and safety. For most of the distance it is twenty-eight feet wide and a substantial fence will be built as additional protection.

Through that portion of the road which has been dynamited the mountainsides rise in sheer walls at places 100 feet high. On the other side and below are many picturesque spots where green vegetation, limpid pools and overhanging cliffs combine to form unique beauty spots.

The last view of the ocean is from a lofty eminence where the road debouches from between two cliffs. Then beyond it emerges into the level green stretches of San Fernando Valley with its bright verdure, fruit groves and miles of roses.

Connecting this road with the State highway and with Owensmouth is a new highway four miles long, recently built by the Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company. This road required four months to construct and is surfaced with 130 carloads of granite.

The return drive to Los Angeles is over the magnificent rose-bordered Sherman way, through Lankershim, Cahuenga Pass and Hollywood, or by way of Chatsworth Park, San Fernando and the mouth of the aqueduct. The entire trip is about seventy miles and can be comfortably made in five hours or less. Because of the variety of scenery and exceptional beauty of most of its distance, it is believed that this trip will be one of the most popular in California among motorists.

THE HEROINES OF WAR.

Pictures at Trinity Auditorium Show Part Women are Playing in Titanic Struggle.

Each day the news unfolds a new roll of honor and furnishes vital memorials of war's toll in Europe. The battle-wrenched fields of Poland, Belgium and France each speak of their heroes but fail to mention the heroines, the story of broken homes and the effects of the great Juggernaut of war. Thousands daily, however, visit Trinity Auditorium, and view the Weigle war films that bring vividly before the visitor the mute history of the past sixty days in broken Belgium, the valiant little country whose cities lie literally in shreds and whose millions of people have been dispersed in every direction. The only way to realize this wreckage is to go amidst it, and one may venture into the heated conflict in an easy chair without any discomforts and witness the terrible desolation, the heroic endeavor in the cool of meditation.

Small as Belgium was and all unwilling to fight, their game struggle is here depicted to hold the dyke of nations against the oncoming flood of Prussians. The celluloid roll describes in a universal scenic language the story told in a graphic manner absolutely truthful for nothing can be added or subtracted as the wheel turns, and everything in sight is imbedded within the cryptic film.

Two entertainments in the afternoon and two at night during this week's engagement at Trinity Auditorium at popular prices, will allow many of those who have been unable to witness these films to do so before they move on to San Francisco.

BOOK THAT PLEASES.

The book "Why Live?" published by the philanthropic department of the Million Club, is exciting much favorable comment. One of the leading musical organizations of the city is desirous of making it into an oratorio. Mrs. B. A. Davis, the author, has received many invitations to read it before clubs. The proceeds of the sale of this book will be used for the philanthropic and Christmas work of the Million Club. The club plans a municipal Christmas tree this year larger and better than last year's.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) A much better inquiry for securities was a feature of exchange trading, and this involved a good increase in the volume of business. Prices for the active list were generally higher. In industrial affairs a contract has been let for $1,500,000 worth of steel passenger coaches by the Northern Pacific Railroad. In the Pacific Coast lumber trade an advance of 50 cents a thousand at the mills was a great impetus to the lumbermen, who report increased orders both domestic and offshore. This year's cotton ginning broke all former records, more than 13,000,000 bales being ginned. Exports of cotton are showing a gradual increase with a corresponding betterment in sentiment.

HAYSTACKS IN BATTLE.

There must be some Yankee talent in France. A captain of cavalry disguised his command as a haystack. The rapid motion of the haystack bewildered the Germans and threw them into a panic of fear. Then the big haystack suddenly dissolved itself into a number of little haystacks and attacked the Germans from the rear. They fled incontinently.

THE YELLOW COSMOS.

How beautiful it is, with its heart of gold and a smile for the sun and for the children that is like something beautiful just come to life! Our California knows so well how to array itself with loveliness. There seems no touch of beauty the heart knows to dream with which California does not blossom in superb abundance.

CONSERVATIVE EVER.

With London in almost total darkness after 9 p.m., the theater managers called for a public vote as to the time which performances should be held. They proposed that theaters should open at 5:30 to allow of the audience getting home in comfort. But alas, it had "never been done," and the Londoner simply wouldn't stand for it. He preferred floundering his way home in the dark and cussing the government and the Germans in general and Count Zeppelin in particular. But he won't change the habits of three centuries if he knows it.

A NEW PACIFIC LINE.

Russia is negotiating with the Great Northern Steamship Company for the purchase of the Minnesota, the largest liner on the Pacific Ocean, now sailing under American registry. It is intended to make the Minnesota the first of a fleet that will ply between Vancouver and Vladivostok, carrying to the latter city the products of Western Canada, to be forwarded thence by rail to Petrograd and other Russian cities. Japanese and British cruisers will act as convoys. Germany could hardly interfere with this traffic, for there is no port on the North Pacific Ocean where her ships could go for supplies or coal.

A GOOD SIGN.

We are exceedingly glad that there is enough commotion in Congress to demand an investigation of America's preparedness for war. Such a step does not mean that our country is looking for trouble, but it does recognize the present precarious conditions of all nations while any number of them involve the peace of the world through their own turmoil and its far-reaching activities. The United States has no intention of allowing itself to become involved, but it must be in a position to resent every intimation of criminal imposition. If knowledge is power, the least this land can do is to know its strength and to be fully aware of its deficiencies.

GERMANY WILLED THE WAR.

Germany has an enthusiastic if somewhat arrogant defender in her great journalist, Maximilian Harden. Harden denounced the conditions that prevailed in the Kaiser's entourage, and was victorious in the libel suits that were brought against him in consequence. Recently he wrote an article for the London Daily Chronicle in which he claims for Germany what he calls "the honor of having willed and encompassed the war."

In this article he says: "Let us drop our miserable attempts to excuse Germany's action. Not against our will and as a nation taken by surprise did we hurl ourselves into this gigantic venture. We willed it. We had to will it."

Mr. Harden denies that Germany stands before the judgment seat of Europe or that any power or combination of powers has jurisdiction over her. "Our might," he says, "shall create a new law in Europe. It is Germany that strikes, only to stop when she has conquered new domains for her genius. Then the priesthoods of all the gods will praise the good war.

"Germany is not," he continued, "making this war to punish sinners or to free oppressed people and then to rest in the consciousness of a disinterested magnanimity. She sets out immovable from the conviction that her achievements entitle her to demand more elbow room on earth and wider outlets for activity. Germany's hour has struck, and she must take her place as the leading power. Any peace which does not secure her the first position would be no reward for her efforts, however many shining milliards it brought into her treasury."

Members of the American Federation of Labor object to being buried in non-union coffins. Sam Gompers no doubt insists upon having his made of some fireproof material.

STUNG—HUH!

In the light of past experience it is no great surprise to learn that the proposal to erect a State building in Los Angeles was defeated in the recent election, while the same propositions for San Francisco and Sacramento were carried, together with the appropriations for the buildings at the State University and for the San Francisco harbor.

Los Angeles has been pulling the chestnuts out of the fire for the northern part of the State for so long a time that this last burning hurts, and it seems to be about time for the elephant to put its foot on the mouse.

The northern part of the commonwealth was on the ballot at the November election for no less than $16,500,000 in appropriations. It looked like a foregone conclusion that Southern California would not stand for such a grab, and committees were sent down here to plead with the innocent voters to get something—this was the one sure opportunity for Los Angeles to secure a State building. It was remarkable to see San Francisco financing committees to come here and insist upon a State building for this city.

Los Angeles voters bit, and bit hard, like a hungry sucker; voted solidly for the northern appropriations along with their own, only to see themselves sold out.

By the bluff of pretending to vote to give Los Angeles an appropriation of $1,250,000 the northerners have secured a little less than $16,000,000, while we of the south get nothing. It is humiliating, to say the least, and voters of Southern California should remember it, in view of the fact that they will have to pay the larger part of the bill.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President's message may be aptly criticised by the sentence which Shakespeare places in the mouth of Hamlet: "Words, words, words." Some of his suggestions are wise and some are otherwise.

He says that in order to take advantage of the trade opportunities which the European war has opened to us, the government should buy and build a fleet of merchant ships and embark in the carrying trade between our country and South America and our country and Europe so long as the freighting business does not pay; and, as soon as it pays we should step down and out as freighters and allow private capital to do the work and take the profits. The exact language of Mr. Wilson in this connection is as follows:

> "The government must open these gates of trade and open them wide; open them before it is altogether profitable to open them or altogether reasonable to ask private capital to open them at a venture. It is not a question of the government monopolizing the field. It should take action to make it certain that transportation at reasonable rates will be promptly provided, even where the carriage is not at first profitable, and then when the carriage has become sufficiently profitable to attract and engage private capital and engage it in abundance, the government ought to withdraw."

The President calls his pet measure of giving up the Philippines "a great measure of constructive justice," and says that if the Senate will pass it, it will "nobly crown the record of two years of memorable labor." The American people will not agree that we should abandon to England and Germany the trade with Oceanica and Asia which was secured to us when Dewey's guns crashed open the gates of the Orient to our commerce. Mr. Wilson's theory of dealing with the Philippines is to "give them up" after expending many millions in developing them.

Fully one-third of Mr. Wilson's message is devoted to protesting against strengthening our national defenses by enlarging and more fully equipping our army. He does not agree with the maxim that "the best security for peace is preparation for war." He feels sure that—we quote his exact language: "We must depend in every time of national peril, in the future as in the past, not upon a standing army, nor yet upon a reserve army, but upon a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms. It will be right enough, right American policy, based upon our accustomed principles and practices, to provide a system by which every citizen who will volunteer for the training may be made familiar with the use of modern arms."

The President urges the duty of economy in government expenditures. He did the same thing when he indorsed the Baltimore platform, and yet he subsequently approved the bills passed by the Democratic Congress appropriating $100,000,000 more than was appropriated by the Republican Congress, whose extravagance he was swift to denounce.

The Times does not disagree with Mr. Wilson when he says:

> "We have year after year debated, without end or conclusion, the best policy to pursue with regard to the use of the ores and forests and water powers of our national domain in the rich States of the West, when we should have acted; and they are still locked up. The key is still turned upon the door shut fast at which thousands of vigorous men, full of initiative, knock clamorously for admittance. The water power of our navigable streams outside the national domain also, even in the eastern States, where we have worked and planned for generations, is still not used as it might be, because we will and we won't, because the laws we have made do not intelligently balance encouragement against restraint. We withhold by regulation.

It is to be regretted that while denouncing the evil of following the Pinchotic policy of conserving our national resources for the benefit of our grandchildren—and the Pocahontas Coal Company—the President does not suggest a definite practicable plan of dealing with our forests and coal fields and water powers so as to aid the men of the West. His eulogy of the West is a good deal like the advice that Louis the Eleventh gave his son: "Honor the church—but give it nothing."

The President praises the trust and currency bills and says of them: "Our progress of legislation with regard to the regulation of business is now virtually complete. It has been put forth, as we intended, as a whole, and leaves no conjecture as to what is to follow. The road at last lies clear and firm before business. It is a road which it can travel without fear of embarrassment. It is the road to ungrudged, unclouded success. In it every honest man, every man who believes that the public interest is part of his own interest, may walk with perfect confidence."

Maybe so! The Times sincerely hopes it may prove so. That is yet to be tried. But the President's eulogy of his doings and the doings he has forced from Congress reminds one of the old proverb: "Let not him who putteth on his armor boast himself as him who taketh it off."

WHAT STEPHENS IS COSTING US.

Los Angeles is already beginning to reap some of the disadvantages which The Times predicted would result from the election of that amiable gentleman, Congressman Stephens, as a Progressive. He promised, it will be remembered, that if re-elected he would procure from Congress an appropriation of $600,000 for the improvement of San Pedro harbor.

The estimates of appropriations to be made, as reported in the telegraphic dispatches, include only $75,000 for Los Angeles harbor, a sum totally inadequate to effect any substantial improvement.

Humboldt harbor and bay is to get $375,000, Oakland, $150,000, and Sacramento and Feather rivers, $110,000. Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River, gets $1,750,000, and the lower river, in conjunction with the Willamette, on which Portland is situated, gets $600,000.

This discrimination cannot be charged to Democratic favoritism, for every one of the districts in which these appropriations are to be expended is represented by a gentleman elected as a Republican. Los Angeles gets only $75,000 because she is represented by a Progressive. Congress never has, and probably never will, give any consideration whatever to the corporal's guard of third party members, who are "neither fish, flesh, fowl nor good red herring," but who manage somehow to creep into the House of Representatives.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Los Angeles has been fortunate in securing the important convention of the National Editorial Association to be held next June in our hospitable city. The editors of America are also to be congratulated on the privilege of coming to Los Angeles. That the occasion will bring pleasure and benefit to all concerned goes without saying.

We are accustomed to talk about the power of the press; we are in the habit of quoting editorials from leading newspapers as proof of the general trend of opinion on a thousand various issues. Indeed, the criticism of the public newspaper plays a leading part today in deciding the internal policies of a nation and its external relations with foreign countries. A newspaper has to be a little in advance of public opinion; that is why it exerts so immense an influence.

But in admitting this influence the citizen is apt to overlook the human force behind the printed column. If the press is a ruling power today, then the associated body of American editors represents a controling interest in the future of the republic. So a visit to our fair capital of the great Southwest from a foreign potentate, a victorious European general or our President himself is not a more noteworthy event than the gathering here next June of the leading men, representing the power behind the American press.

The qualities necessary for successfully editing a big daily newspaper are so various and so exceptional that our guests may well be said to represent the cream of American brain power. The impressions of Los Angeles and her environments that these men take back with them to their own States and cities will certainly be voiced in the columns of their newspapers and so become a fine educational asset for spreading the gospel of California.

We are sure that every citizen will do his best to make those impressions worthy of our best traditions when the National Editorial Association honors us with its convention next June.

THE WARRIOR BUS.

London, which depends largely upon the motor bus for its urban traffic, is experiencing many vicissitudes of travel. For the War Office has commandeered more than half of the busses, which have been found valuable and expeditious as motor ambulances and transports. As it won't be possible to replace these busses for a long time, the plight of the Londoner is pathetic. The old horse busses are available, but there are no horses to spare.

The streets of central London are so narrow that trolley lines were found to be inexpedient, except upon a few thoroughfares. The underground electric railway handles a vast traffic, but it was upon the motor bus, which plied in every possible direction, that Londoners had become dependent. There has been a wonderful boom for the new bicycle, which is described as very similar to that of twenty years ago when the wheel first became fashionable. Elderly gentlemen, women and children are to be seen riding them on all sorts of occasions.

THE KNOCKER'S PRAYER.

[Union Springs Advertiser:] Lord, please don't let this town grow. I've been here for thirty years and during that time I've fought every public improvement. I've knocked everything and everybody, no firm or individual has established a business here without my doing all I could to put them out of business. I've lied about them, and would have stolen from them if I had the courage. I have done all I could to keep the town from growing and never have spoken a good word for it. I've knocked hard and often. I've put ashes on the children's slide and I've made the marshal stop the boys playing ball on my vacant lot. Whenever I saw anyone prospering or enjoying themselves I've started a reform to kill the business or spoil the fun. I don't want the young folks to stay in this town and I will do all I can by law, rule and ordinance to drive them away. It pains me, O Lord, to see that in spite of my knocking it is beginning to grow. Some day I fear I will be called upon to put down sidewalks in front of my property and who knows but what I may have to help keep up the streets that run by my premises? This, Lord, would be more than I could bear. It would cost me money, though all I have was made right here in this town. Then, too, more people might come if the town begins to grow, which would cause me to lose some of my pull. I ask, therefore, to keep this town at a standstill that I may continue to be the chief. Amen.

We are going to have, it seems, the biggest submarines in the world. This is the next best thing to having the smallest need of them.—[New York World.

Greetings from California.

DIPLOMACY AND DECEIT.

BY HARRY BOWLING.

In thrashing around for some universal plan by which world peace could be secured, we have overlooked the chief cause by which world wars are brought about. Double-crossing and subterfuge in the conduct of international disputes, dignified with the name of diplomacy, is the modern Cadmus sowing the fertile fields of the earth with crops of bayonets, bombs, frowning fortresses and armed men.

Peace tribunals, paper treaties, high-flown ultra-pacificist sentiments are vain against the unmoral standard permitted in the conduct of foreign diplomacy. Until the deliberate deceiving of a rival nation for "patriotic" purposes is held to be as heinous a crime as the deliberate deceiving of an individual for material advantage, all talk of universal peace is "but as dust that rises up and is lightly laid again."

According to the dictionary diplomacy is "the science and art of international intercourse." The most recent result of European diplomacy has been to destroy science and art in their most prolific centers and to break commercial intercourse in every useful channel. Honesty is the best policy—and the only policy that Europe has refused to entertain. For to be honest is not considered good diplomacy by the diplomats of the old school.

So for twenty years the people were kept in ignorance of what was in store for them, while their rulers attempted all sorts of shifts and shufflings to overreach one another, until finally the storm broke and the people were called upon to face the tempest. That is the result of secrecy and deceit, masquerading under the name of diplomacy. That is war in the making.

It would bring about a terrible state of affairs, I suppose, if everyone was compelled to speak the literal truth. Yet until the heads of the nations are fearlessly honest with their own people and in their international intercourse, to think of general disarmament as vaguely possible is to indulge in fantastic visions.

Many sneers, I know, have been directed against American representatives in European courts (of course before this war broke out) for the crudeness of their diplomacy. I, for one, am glad that this was so. It is the crowning honor, if true, of the American nation. It is democracy's noblest justification. Were our diplomats as adept in the art of dissimulation as those of Europe, we might not now today be living in enviable peace and security. Let us thank God that the American nation is not a nation of diplomats in that sense of the word.

War will never cease till diplomacy is taken out of the clefts and caves and hiding places and purified in the good open sunshine of the honest heavens. Morality can never be established on a firm and abiding base while international contests, whether for trade, prestige, dominion or territory, are conducted on principles abhorrent when practiced by individuals.

One law for the rich and another for the poor has been discarded in every country that pretends to be civilized, let the soap-box anarchist deny it ever so vehemently. Yet one code of morals for international affairs and another in private life is regarded as fit and proper in the courts and council chambers of kings and rulers.

You can't expect the individuals in a nation to be more moral than their accredited representatives. The diplomacy that cloaks the gold lace finessing of chancellors is but a ragged excuse for lying on a generous scale. And deceit is an infectious disease. You can't stamp it out in the slums while it flourishes in the palace.

Perhaps the Pan-American movement, seeking to unite the western world in an open and above-board union of commerce and friendship, may usher in a new era of international intercourse and at last shut the door on the dark and deadly diplomacy that has driven the old world into the jaws of hell. If it does, peace may fall as a benediction after prayer on races combined to use only the weapon of truth.

Tear up your patchwork treaties, close your peace tribunals, cease from the hypocritical inventing of excuses, put away your bandages for blinding public eyes, ye diplomats of Christian Europe, and hang up over your office desks the only true peace slogan: Honesty is the best policy. You have tried many other kinds. Try this!

RIPPLING RHYMES.

LIKE A SOLDIER.

Let me like a soldier fall, with a bullet in my gall, with the colors in my hand—such a passing would be grand, and a line or two I'd catch in some general's dispatch. I might live in tale and song, while my mother scraped along, toiling in her wintry years, saturating things with tears, mourning for her martial son who was shot up with a gun. Let me like a soldier fall, where the blaring trumpets call, so that some ten-dollar clerks in the War Department works may inscribe against my name, "Perished on the field of fame." Let me nobly sink to rest with a banner on my breast, while my father, old and blue, does the work I ought to do, drudging for his daily bread, while I hang around stone dead. Let me like a soldier fall, all ripped up by bomb and ball, let me to Valhalla go, with my face toward the foe, so my fame for aye may ring, and the minstrels ever sing of the mighty swath I made where the armies were arrayed; while my widow at the tub washes for her humble grub, and my hungry children howl for the wishbone of a fowl. Glory is the stuff I crave, glory and a soldier's grave.

WALT MASON.

SNOOPING AT A DINNER TABLE.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch, November 9:] It was not only because of the vast financial and agricultural interests involved in California that the voters of that State defeated prohibition by a 200,000 majority. The prohibition fanatics who attempted to force their sumptuary views upon all the people of the State actually had the impudence to incorporate in the proposed law a clause providing that a second conviction for serving wine at meals in one's own home should be punishable by imprisonment. Is it any wonder those "drys" failed so ignominiously?

But the incident of the attempted interference with home customs is characteristic of fanatical prohibitionists wherever they are to be found. Temperance has no meaning for them. They would set a man's domestic aide and the members of his own household spying at his dinner table, or even in his bedroom, to obtain evidence on which to base an accusation of crime where no crime was. The principle, if allowed, would banish personal liberty in America. It could and would be applied in medicine, in education, in religion and in all the relationships of daily life.

LOS ANGELES FURNITURE.

Pieces Made by Local Concern Show Degree of Skill Attained in this Country.

That "Made in Los Angeles" goods may fully equal those made anywhere, has been demonstrated in furniture creation by the California Furniture Company, which is showing in its Broadway windows several pieces of wonderful design and workmanship.

A wealthy easterner making his home here brought with him several rare antiques, which either in transit or before had become greatly injured. Carte blanche was given to the California Furniture Company to restore the great carved chairs and lounges. So perfectly was the restoration accomplished that further orders were given to complete the suite by the addition of a console and a hall clock to match, and a mirror. The mirror is of hand-carved wood and was designed, carved, and gilded as well as tinted in the shops of the local furniture company.

Next came an order for a great lounge of dark red morocco, the prettiest piece of them all. This gem of furniture making is such as it has been heretofore believed could be constructed only in England.

OLD BUNK GAME AGAIN.

Man Contributes to "Charity" Fund of "Philanthropists" and Acts as Their Messenger.

Angelo Peviani met two oily, smooth-talking Italians who said that their souls were filled with good will toward their fellow men. They were brimming over with great ideas of philanthropy. They had lots of money and wanted to give it to some worthy cause. They were so well-dressed, so courteous and so happily-inclined toward the world in general that Mr. Peviani could not help but believe that they could speak nothing but the truth.

The two men told Mr. Peviani that they had $10,000 which they wished to give to an Italian Catholic church. An honest messenger must carry the money to the church. Mr. Peviani would not let the two men outdo him in philanthropy. He contributed $308, all of his savings. He was handed two small bundles and told that they trusted him to deliver the money. On the way to church, Mr. Peviani opened the bundles and found nothing but newspaper clippings — same old story.

Olive Men Lose Million.

September, October and November, and then could not be sold."

Mr. Simonds announced that the olive interests of the State are preparing to make a final desperate fight in 1916 for a protective tariff sufficiently high to insure the survival of the industry. He admitted that it is realized that only the defeat of the Democratic party would make possible a sane revision of the tariff programme in the interest of California and all American industry. The olive-oil factories are keeping a systematic and accurate account of daily expenditures and gathering all important data bearing on the industry, which, it is expected, will be introduced at tariff hearings in 1916. The plea will be made that California has 375,000 acres adapted to the raising of olives and that as there is only 22,000 acres of this area planted, a protective tariff alone can assure the progress of the industry to the point where it can supply the entire consumption of the United States.

The old tariff on olive oil was 40 cents a gallon; the Democratic tariff is 20 cents. What California needs in order to compete with Italy is a 50-cent tariff.

EMPRESS BILL IS STRONG ON SONG.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

They grow a good show at the Empress this week, with music and dancing getting most of the noise.

Fred Gray and Nellie Graham inhabit the coveted "G" spot, in "The Musical Bellboy." Fred Gray starts out as a bellboy in green, doing a very funny comedy obligato with a stein of water to Miss Graham's saxophone music, after which he moves into a Scotch disguise, as does also the lady, when they play sliding trombones and things, and do it very well.

"School Days" closes the show, and it would be a better school if it confined itself to being merely a singing and dancing school. The singing and dancing of the nine boys and girls and teacher, who take part are very good. Teacher has a specially pleasing voice, and is exceedingly pretty. She's Dorothy Aubrey. I suppose Dolly Cliff is "Sassy Little," and she's a very cutie youngster, indeed.

Blanche Leslie is pleasing in songs and gowns.

Thomas Patricola and Ruby Myer dance and kid around, and Mr. Patricola especially gets in good with his clog dancing. Some of his jokes are good, too. "I'm on the water wagon," he says. "How do you feel?" she asks. "Oh, better off!"

Earl Wheeler, Vera Curtis and Freddie Steels should have a better sketch. All have good comedy gifts, and the boy has an especially sweet voice but a poor chance to show it.

The Polzin Brothers have an amusing comedy acrobatic act.

HELPING DESERTED WIVES.

They are to Get Homestead Claims when it is Shown Husbands Abandoned Them.

The Register and Receiver of the local Land Office have received copies of the law recently passed by Congress to protect wives whose husbands have made homestead entries. Under the old law when the husband abandoned his wife, the women lost the land.

Under the new law it is provided that where the wife of a homestead settler or entryman, while residing upon the homestead claim and prior to the submission of final proof, has been abandoned by her husband for more than a year, she may submit proof (by way of commutation or otherwise) on the entry and secure patent in her own name. She is allowed credit for all residence and cultivation had and improvements made, either by herself or her husband.

LIVELY DRAMA AT MAJESTIC.

'Light that Failed" Adjudged Worth While.

Stirring Story by Kipling Effectively Staged.

Forbes-Robertson Company at Their Best.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

Now and then a play is big enough and so excellently presented as to make its production an event in a city's stage experience. A vacant seat for either Thursday or Saturday night's performance of "The Light that Failed," by Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and his company, would be a reproach to Los Angeles. A lovelier play or one more beautifully offered we have not had this season.

If Miss Cowie could see herself as Maisie she would never want to see herself as Ophelia. I can swear that these were the same people who tried to do "Hamlet," but surely not one of them acted like it. It seemed to me that they could hardly have been worse than in Hamlet and almost no one could be better than they in "The Light that Failed." It was a glorious performance, adequate in the last particular, with Forbes-Robertson as Kipling's masculine counterpart of the statue come to life, emphatic, articulate and beautiful.

The prologue was a shock of successful artistry, the first act a revelation of the feminine capacity of cast, the second act the pulse of dramatic energy and the third the rainbow of the heart born of smiles through tears.

It is seldom that a great soul ever comes back to its first dream through the glorification of a second ideal. Forbes-Robertson as a young man was a student of art under some of the wonderful masters of his age, one of his earliest inspirations having been the friendship and encouragement of Dante Gabrielle Rossetti. As Dick Heldar, war correspondent, magazine illustrator and painter, he is not playing a part but is living one. For him the studio is not study. It is his habitat, his natural atmosphere. His every line is read with the understanding born only of experience. The pathos of his blindness is staggering in its appeal. Its realism hurts like a blow from a hand we have loved.

Miss Cowie is a beautiful Maisie yet not more competent than Miss Mary Sumner as Bessie Broke. Indeed the entire company is perfectly at home in an English setting of the modern period. It was good to see them in this pleasant light.

Kipling has not treated his theme of the jealousy between a man and a woman artist so bitterly or directly as August Strindberg in his "Comrades," but he has woven about it a story of the heart and brain which is large in its appeal and faithful in its detail. Its dramatization is masterly and Forbes-Robertson offers it in an effective setting. The heart of the story is that only three events count with life. They are birth, death and love, and only love can make birth and death bearable.

Tonight we have the passing of the "Third Floor Back."

Music.

ARRIGO SERATO WINS APPLAUSE.

POWER AND CLARITY OF TONE MARK ITALIAN'S WORK.

Violinist Now on First Tour of this Country Clearly Demonstrates His Claim to Greatness—Deft Blend of Latin Fire and Teutonic Stamina in Interpretations.

In the grand democracy of music the limitations of creed and country are swept aside; one does reverence to Bach and Verdi alike, regardless of his flag; he who is not cosmopolitan is hopelessly shut without the gates.

Hence the countrymen of Arrigo Serato, the Italian violinist, who appeared here in recital for the first time last night at Trinity, surely will not take offense if one refers to him as a Teutonic Latin. For surely, if one's playing ever proved confessor of the true personality of a musician, Serato is such a one.

Shutting the eyes, it is easy, in fleeting moments to imagine that it is Kreisler, who is playing, but the impression is transitory, for dominating Serato's performance is a peculiar clarity and volume of tone, which are his alone; utterly unlike the work of any other artist.

It is a wonderful tone, clear and powerful, yet never harsh or rough in the strength of it, and it loses no jot of its qualities whether the theme be a majestic andante, a bewildering allegro or that bugaboo of all save a master—the fugue.

Indeed, Serato depended on Tartini's Fugue to show his wonderful skill. One expects some loss of tone perfection in these close harmony calisthenics, but in this respect Serato steps into the calcium and lays just claim to rank with the greatest of his contemporaries. For he demonstrates that he is a tone maker par excellence, no matter what the circumstances may be.

Serato is unassuming to a degree. He plays without flourish and without conscious effort, even in such exacting scores as Sarasate's "Zigeunerweisen" and the Wieniawski's Concerto, yet always with expression and understanding.

In two of his numbers, one of them Simonetti's "Madrigale," he uses a mute with telling effect. This, in fact, was one of the most popular numbers on last night's programme, though it is worthy of note that he was compelled to give encores after each scheduled selection. Noteworthy too, that he favored Bach in these extras.

Nor is it amiss to add, in passing, that Serato was blessed with that rara avis, a competent accompanist, in the person of Homer Samuels, who contributed in no small measure to the unquestionable success of Arrigo Serato's Los Angeles debut.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Accepting Clothes from a Beau.

"A gaudy dress and gentle air
May slightly touch the heart,
But it's innocence and modesty
That polishes the dart."

Of course, every young man takes pardonable pride in seeing the girl whom he takes about look just a trifle prettier and more stylish than other fellows' sweethearts. There are girls who have a knack of looking well in most anything. But when one is as poor as she is pretty and has a lover well worth the winning, clothes are a mighty important matter to her. She must either dress as well as other girls or stay away from gala gatherings to which he invites her.

It's all very well to hear in song and story about the white, simple frock in which a girl carried off the role of belle at the ball. But nowadays a girl so robed would look a frump when compared to the pretty young things floating about her in chiffon, satin, and spangled bodices. A young man of sense who puts on his thinking cap knows that a tidy little sum can be expended for these wisps of lace and tulle called dancing frocks. He also knows that she who must count her pennies cannot afford to indulge in them.

He thinks up a pretty scheme to help out. When he suggests their eating a philopena, he explains, that the almond shell, which contains two kernels instead of one, is the ideal offering for the purpose. He and his sweetheart each eat a kernel, making a wish the meanwhile. It's a game of give and take. After the eating, if the girl hands the young man a book and in a moment of forgetfulness he takes it from her hand, all she has to do is to exclaim, "Philopena," and he must pay the forfeit by presenting her with a gift. It usually consists of a box of bon bons, music or flowers. But there are wily sweethearts who seize upon the occasion to present a gift they would hardly dare offer otherwise—a stylish evening wrap, a hat, or a set of furs.

It places the young woman to whom it is presented in a most embarrassing position. She is usually between two minds—as to whether she will refuse it on the ground that it is hardly proper to accept wearing apparel from any one outside of her own family, or take it lest he should be offended. She realizes that he means well, but what if they should ever have a falling out and part? She could not bring herself to appear in it after that.

The safest and best way is for a girl to state frankly that she will not accept a gift of any value, simply a little token—fruit, flowers, or a magazine. It is not wise or best for a girl to be under obligation to her beau for even a pair of gloves or any article of adornment. If she cannot purchase it herself, she should bravely go without it. A man will respect her all the more and think twice as much of her for taking this stand. Even her wedding clothes she should purchase. When he marries her it is time enough for him to assume her bills. There are men who are inconsiderate enough to cast in a woman's face all he did for her before marriage. Such stake in ship is not the

COLLINS SOLD BY ATHLETICS.

King of Infielders Goes to the Chicago Club.

Mack Breaking up His Great Machine Trio.

Ruppert Buying New York Americans.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Although the National and International Leagues adopted several important resolutions at their annual meetings today, the American League, represented informally in this city by President Ban Johnson and several of the club magnates, furnished the baseball sensations of the day.

It was the junior league executive who formally confirmed the deal which transferred Eddie Collins, the Philadelphia Athletics' star second baseman, from Philadelphia to the Chicago club, and who stated that the American League was negotiating for the purchase of the New York club by Col. Jacob Ruppert, a prominent brewer of this city.

Col. Ruppert is at French Lick Springs, Ind., and his position in the deal could not be ascertained. It is understood that he had offered $400,000 for the club and agreed to erect a new stadium for the Yankees if he gets the franchise.

The deal whereby the White Sox obtained the services of Collins created a commotion among the magnates and managers of the various major and minor leagues. Following closely upon the request for waivers on Pitchers Bender, Plank and Coombs, and the jump of the first two pitchers to the Federal League, the rapid disintegration of the famous Mack machine stunned even those closely allied with the business end of the game.

President Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago club, who closed the deal with Collins during the forenoon, refused to state the exact terms of the transaction. He said that he had signed Collins to a five-year contract after agreeing to pay the Philadelphia club a cash sum, and giving Connie Mack the right to select one or two players from the White Sox roster. From another source it was reported that Comiskey gave the Philadelphia club $50,000 for Collins's release, and agreed to pay the same sum to the second baseman during the next five years.

The deal was considered an excellent one from an American League standpoint, since it gives the Chicago club one of the stars of the game to fill a weak spot in the White Sox lineup at a time when the Federal League club is preparing to wage a bitter contest for Chicago patronage during the season of 1915. Close followers of baseball in Philadelphia gave it as their opinion that the release of Collins by Connie Mack was in line with the reported policy of the Philadelphia club to reduce expenses to a point in line with the gate receipts, and the general American League plan to readjust the strength of various clubs in the junior organization.

Collins's sale to the Chicago club is the first break in Mack's great infield, which has won pennants and world's championships.

Rumor has it that Baker will be next to go, a report from the West several days ago stating that the famous home-run hitter was about to jump to the Federals. Baker has not denied the report.

YANKEE DEAL ON.

President Johnson, while he did not deny that the American League was negotiating with Col. Ruppert, stated that the deal had not been consummated and might yet fall through. The name of T. L. Huston, a former United States army engineer, who made a fortune in Havana harbor work, was linked with that of Col. Ruppert in the purchase of the Yankees. Huston said that he was not financially interested in the deal, but had been consulted by Col. Ruppert as to the advisability of purchasing the club.

It was reported that there would be a meeting of the American League in this city on Friday, at which time transfer of the Yankees would be considered from all angles, and the deal possibly completed if suitable terms could be agreed upon.

PLAYERS LIMITED.

The National League magnates failed to disclose any similar sensations, but a number of interesting resolutions were adopted at the first meeting of the senior organization magnates, in which a policy of financial retrenchment was clearly discernible.

An amendment to the constitution was adopted limiting the number of players to be carried by any club between the period from May 1 to September 1, to twenty-one. At other times the maximum limit was fixed at thirty-five. During the season of 1913, the limit was placed at twenty-five and thirty-five, but last season this rule was suspended in order to prevent the Federal League from obtaining promising players.

A resolution also was adopted which fixed March 1 as the earliest date upon which a club could report for spring training, but this is understood to cover the individual spring training of veteran pitchers who may desire to work a week or two ahead of the club squad. The league went on record as opposed to barn-storming trips after the close of the season, and a committee was appointed to draw up a clause covering this abuse as an amendment to the constitution at the next annual meeting. The league adopted a resolution granting the National Association a member on the Joint playing Committee, this increasing the membership to seven, for each major league is represented by three members. A new board of directors also was elected in the persons of Barney Dreyfuss, C. H. Ebbets, Garry Herrmann, J. F. Gaffney and H. N. Hempstead.

MORLEY HAS SMALL CHANCE FOR SAN DIEGO FRANCHISE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Jim Morley, self-announced seeker after a San Diego baseball franchise in the Pacific Coast League, has so far failed to get in touch with President Baum.

Morley reached San Francisco Sunday and gave out an interview to the effect that in the event of Sacramento being declared out of the running he wanted to submit a proposition on behalf of San Diego. However, Jim has not submitted anything in the nature of figures or otherwise to league officials, and the suspicion is accumulating that Morley was gathering for himself just a little publicity.

From President Baum comes the rather startling announcement that if Morley does present his plea to the Coasters it will make the third separate proposition from San Diego. In other words, not including Morley, there are two different sets of men working along the lines of bringing San Diego into class AA baseball.

To be frank, there is little chance of the Southern California city being given the team. Henry Berry is opposed to the plan, as he does not feel San Diego could support continuous baseball at Coast League salary limits. He is far more inclined to look with favor upon Salt Lake, and, before he took his departure, said frankly that he was impressed with the showing, and if Salt Lake felt like making good on a guarantee there was a chance for that city.

The Last Fight.

DUNDEE SLAMS MILLION JABS IN RIVERS'S FACE.

Most Remarkable and Vivid Fight Ever Seen at Vernon Arena—Johnny Dundee Sets Too Hot a Pace—Mexican Piles up Early Lead—Italian has Rivers Reeling in the Nineteenth.

BY HARRY CARR.

THE last fight in the old Vernon Arena was the best fight. The old arena" died in a blaze of glory.

Little Joe Rivers, whose fortunes have risen and fallen in the ringed platform of the old barn, saw the end rather balefully, out of one eye that was banged shut, and out of another that looked over the vista of a blooded and swollen nose.

TOO FAST FOR JOE.

The pace was too fast for the Mexican. For fourteen rounds he held his own and even outboxed Dundee. But after that the little Italian boy's wonderful vitality turned the tide. From the fifteenth round on to the end Dundee kept his left on the Mexican's nose and right eye most of the time.

OUT ON FEET.

Joe was so tired that he couldn't get out of the way of Dundee's lightning jabs and Dundee slammed about a million left jabs into his face. In the nineteenth the Italian flung a hard right hook to the Mexican's jaw and followed it with another right to the jaw, and Rivers was practically out on his feet, standing in the middle of the ring swaying like a dying bull. He managed to stick out the next few seconds and the bell saved him.

Dundee's clean-cut victory was the more remarkable in that he had a badly injured left hand that hurt him like the cut of a knife every time he hit Rivers with it.

VIVID FIGHT.

It was in every way one of the most remarkable and vivid fights ever seen at Vernon, which has been the scene of some of the greatest ring battles in the world.

Although it was a cold, unpleasant night, a big crowd turned out to see the funeral of the old game. There were four red-hot preliminaries and some miscellaneous oratory from a bull-necked announcer who barked like a sea lion and attempted to pronounce the funeral oration, but who was howled down by the crowd.

FIGHTERS ENTER.

Some time during the noise, a little Italian boy crept in through the ropes, muffled in a bath robe and a sweater. That was Dundee. His clean, white skin looked like satin and his eyes were full of impatience for the battle. Rivers soon followed him into the ring. He, too, was wrapped up like an Esquimo.

When the orator of the evening had finally ceased his raucous howls, the boys stood up in the ring and their clothes were peeled off. Rivers was in good condition, but he did not seem so heavily muscled as the Joe of his earlier days. He looked confident and sure of himself and glanced rather scornfully into the little Italian's corner as he crawled past him through the ropes.

RIVERS SAVAGE.

Rivers weighed about 136 and Dundee 133 when they came to the center of the ring and touched gloves.

The first few rounds were just alike. Rivers crept in toward Dundee like a mountain cat. Then a sudden leap and a vicious swing. I never saw Rivers fight with such savagery or viciousness before. During these early rounds he forced Dundee all over the ring. But every time he landed, the little Italian came rushing back at him exactly as I have seen bull dogs when rolled over in a fight.

RIVERS ROLLS UP LEAD.

Rivers's wonderful speed in countering gave him round after round in the early part of the fight. Dundee would leap out into the air, leading with his left, and Rivers would counter and catch him in mid-air with a vicious hook.

The first was about an even round. But Rivers clearly won the second. The third was about even.

DUNDEE DUCKS.

In the fourth round, Rivers went after the Italian like a tiger cat. A very peculiar little incident happened in one of these rounds. Rivers forced Dundee into a bad corner and the Italian ducked his head and ran out of the corner, with his head down and his arms out, exactly like a chicken. And without stopping, and with his wings still out, he made a complete circle and tore back into Rivers fairly sputtering blows.

The fifth was about even. Dundee got a slight lead in the sixth, his left beginning to pepper into Rivers's eyes and nose. Often, Rivers would meet these blows with a frightful swing that missed as often as it connected. And it was soon apparent that these misses—these wild swings through the air were tiring him. Several times he landed hard on Dundee's stomach—hard enough, it seemed, to have knocked out an ordinary man; but Scotty Monteith, in Dundee's corner, never turned a hair nor changed his attitude. He was leaning over into the ring with his elbows on a folded up rug like a man leaning over the rail of the gallery.

PACE GETS FURIOUS.

The seventh and eighth were about even rounds, with Rivers fighting like a fury and Dundee tearing in and out. Jabs and swings flew around at such a rate an electrical timing machine couldn't have kept track of them. This was, without doubt, the fastest fighting ever seen at Vernon. No one who saw it will ever forget.

In the ninth round, one could see that Rivers was beginning to fade. His lids were beginning to sag open. His eyes began to look hollow and distressed. Every few seconds he would fall back a little and take in his breath with a great sigh. The pace was beginning to tell. Dundee, on the other hand, with his wonderful heart and lungs, was going faster and faster. Rivers had begun to shuffle heavy-footed along the floor, but Dundee was leaping up and down as though he was made of rubber. Dundee's lightning left which he delivers while in mid-air was beginning to find Rivers's nose and eye.

JOE WEAKENS IN TENTH.

Rivers made a desperate effort to rally his strength. He was fighting in furious gusts now. Several times he carefully measured the distance, holding his left out almost against Dundee's face in the hope of swinging out one of his murderous right hooks and stopping the torture of weariness with a knockout. But Dundee nearly always cracked him with a right hook for his pains. Dundee was ducking nearly all of Rivers's fearful swings. Rivers landed many straight blows but missed so many of these swings that his strength ebbed fast.

TWELFTH ALL DUNDEE.

After the twelfth round, Rivers never had a chance. Dundee's left was pecking into Rivers's face every few seconds. Once Rivers made a furious rush and forced Dundee clean across the ring and into the ropes; then fell back from sheer weariness and stood panting. Dundee bounced against the ropes and came running back to the Hen Hero.

ANGEL DEAL CLOSED; CAP. DILLON'S JOB UNSETTLED.

HEN BERRY will sign away all his interest in the Angels to Tom Darmody and Tom Stephens today. Berry, the proud owner of the Seals, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. Tom Stephens gets in today.

The closing of the deal will only take a few minutes, as nothing but the affixing of the "John Henrys" is needed.

Berry refuses to discuss "Cap" Dillon. If Dillon is to manage the Seals, Berry is keeping it a dark secret.

"Dillon is still the property of the Angels," he said. "Tom Darmody and I have not talked managers. I don't think anything will be done until the first of the year. I'm going to forget baseball until then."

Hen Berry says that the baseball outlook in San Francisco is bright. The fans are enthusiastic. The moving of the Seals back to Recreation Park tickles them especially. They are tired of freezing in bleak Ewing Park.

L.A. High Tennis.

DORN AND BRENT WIN HARD-PLAYED MATCHES.

PAUL DORN'S defeat of Morris Ankrum and Brent's victory over Cooper were the feature matches in the first day's play in the Los Angeles High School tennis tournament. Both the winners are first-team men. They were forced to play extra games in every set.

Ankrum, playing at half of fifteen handicap, gave Dorn a scare. The score was 5-7, 8-7, 9-11. Ankrum was aggressive and went after everything. It looked for a time as if Dorn was to drop the last match. But Ankrum weakened after forcing it to nine all.

Brent had an easier time with Cooper. But the latter's playing was a surprise.

The finals in the men's singles tournament will be played Thursday. Manager Noyes has arranged to have the women's singles to begin the same day. The doubles and mixed doubles will be the tournaments of next week.

The large number of entries may force the tennis tournament over into next year. Noyes fears now that he will not be able to get all the matches played off before the Christmas vacation.

BIG LEAGUE MEN FAIL AT BRAWLEY.

PLAYERS FROM NATIONAL CLUBS NOT STRONG ENOUGH FOR VALLEY FANS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRAWLEY, Dec. 8.—Brawley has some fastidious fans. The Imperial Valley town, whose population at the hour of going to press numbered 2698, has a ball team which sports exotic class in four members of the Brooklyn Nationals. One is "Big Jeff" Pfeffer, who twirled twenty-three victories out of thirty-four games last season.

But is the imported quartette good enough for all the Brawley fans? Nix and nein! "Thew them out—bats, balls and baggage," is the pith of a petition some of the disgruntled fans are circulating.

Brawley copped the Valley League pennant last year. This season the fans got behind the team in enthusiastic fashion. An association was incorporated and some of the most substantial men of the town elected as officers.

W. T. Dunn, president of the First National Bank, is president; Harry Baum, one of the big merchants, is vice-president; "Doc" H. L. Fulton, another merchant, is treasurer; Lem Dever, a newspaperman, is secretary, and J. A. Sheffield, another merchant, is managing director.

The best ball park in the valley was built, and Mickey La Longe, catcher for the Buffalo Internationals, installed as manager. He brought together a team that looked like a winner, on paper at least. Besides several players in his own league he secured Beal Becker of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Bert Daniels of Cincinnati for the gardens. From the Brooklyn Nationals he imported a block of four—Pfeffer, George Cutshaw, second base; Gus Getz, third base, and Catcher McCarthy.

With the fans' expectation aviating high in the blue empyrean, things did not "break" well for the Brawley bunch, and the team, after losing seven out of nine games, finds itself in the cellar.

So now a few of the disappointed ones are looking for a goat, and the Brooklyn quartette is it. They want better players, or at least players who will play better. They want "bushers." "Bushers" will exert themselves anyway, they say, which is more than the easterners are doing.

However, the petition is not finding favor with the real fans, and still lacks many signatures to make it effective. In the meantime La Longe has his players out practicing daily and promises the other teams a run yet, and that is what most of the fans expect.

PRINCIPLS VOTE ON RUGBY TODAY.

SOME MAY PLAY AMERICAN AND OTHERS RUGBY; OPINIONS RESERVED UNTIL VOTE.

The principals of the city high schools will decide whether Rugby or the American game is to be played by their students or not today. The meeting will be at the Olive-street school again.

"It may be that some of the schools will play the American and some Rugby," said Vice-Principal Oliver of Los Angeles High School, last night. "But we may all have to play the same game. A great deal depends on the vote. Personally I'm sorry that the University of California students did not take their vote on the games. It might have had some influence here."

The principals are refraining from expressing their opinions until the meeting.

BALL PLAYERS HUNTING DUCKS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, Dec. 8.—Ball players in the Valley League have gone in for duck shooting so strongly that the Brawley club has posted a rule that no member of the team shall go hunting the night before a game. Of the local team, Teddy Kaylor, an Oakland Coaster, is the star nimrod. Hardly a morning passes but that he walks six miles out along the New River.

The other morning Fanning, Middleton, Hetling and Corhan arranged for an autoist to take them out in a machine. For over an hour they waited at Bill Donovan's place for the tardy conveyance when Kaylor, returning, hove in sight. He was on the hoof and had a fair bag. That was too much. The day's sports were called off.

It is reported from Calexico that Phyle, who, with Phinney, is umpiring the valley games, will give up his berth and return to the coast.

MEDALS FOR TENNIS.

National lawn tennis champions are to be presented with gold medals. The details of the plan and the selection of the design will be made at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association to be held in New York Friday, December 18.

INDIAN PITCHER ON WAR PATH.

SIOUX CITY (Iowa) Dec. 8.—"Chief" Johnson, the Federal League's star Indian pitcher, went on the war path today at Winnebago, his home town.

Justice of the Peace Colligan decided that Johnson was intoxicated and tried to arrest him. The latter refused to be taken. A firearm was brought into play and it crashed down on Johnson's head. He fell and in some manner the gun was discharged.

The bullet hit Herman Biover, a spectator, in the groin. This created a diversion, and while the wounded man was being cared for, Johnson made his escape. Biover's wound is not considered serious.

MOTOR BOAT CLUB HOLDS MEETING.

Members of the Los Angeles Motorboat Club held their annual meeting last evening, elected officers and discussed plans for the ensuing year. Reports of retiring officials showed most favorable conditions for the coming season, with a $5000 clubhouse nearing completion and much interest in boats built and planned, as well as racing measures.

The new officers are: Commodore, George F. Barber; vice-commodore, H. G. Voorhauer; rear-commodore, J. C. Wright; directors, E. R. Abbott, R. J. Cope, A. J. Hodge and O. D. Stone.

William Ruess was appointed port captain, with jurisdiction over the fleet anchorage, where the fifty fleet craft now in commission are to ride in waters specially granted by the city.

All visiting yachtsmen are to be considered guests of the club during exposition year.

NUMBER PLAYERS.

The New York State Basketball League has adopted the plan of numbering the players, so that patrons who do not know the players personally can tell who they are by looking at their programmes. President Stack has allotted numbers 1 to 10 to the Troy team, 11 to 20 to Utica, 21 to 30 to Gloversville; 31 to 40 to Cohoes; 41 to 50 to Kingston, and 51 to 60 to Paterson.

Former "Potato King of Ventura County" Dies While Sleeping in His Home at Oxnard.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, Dec. 8.—Stephan Charles Volkert, resident of this county since 1876, and during his ranching days widely known as the "Potato King of Ventura County," died while asleep in his bed in his residence here today. He had been slightly indisposed for several weeks.

Mr. Volkert was a native of Bavaria, 75 years old. He retired from active ranching a few years ago. While farming he devoted a small acreage to the growing of potatoes each year and was wonderfully successful in producing fine tubers. Potatoes grown by him took gold medals at the St. Louis Exposition and at the Portland fair, and were eagerly sought for seed by growers all over the country.

Besides his widow, he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Fred Otts of Oceanview, Mrs. Bert Luther of Santa Ana and Mrs. Ira B. Gottfriedson of Los Angeles.

NEW SERVICE ON COAST.

Blue Funnel Line Steamers Will Connect England and California via Suez Canal and Orient.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—San Francisco agents for the Blue Funnel line of steamers operating between England and the Pacific Coast of the United States, announced today that direct service to San Francisco has been installed and that the first of the big freighters will reach here January 7.

Hitherto the Blue Funnel liners have had their American terminus in Seattle, Wash., the journey from England having been made via the Suez Canal and the Orient.

"New Big Man."

A.A.U. GIVES IN TO WEST.

Home Rule to be Policy of the Union.

Seward A. Simons Head of Rules Committee.

Panama Zone Part of Local Branch.

BY HOWARD W. ANGUS.

The A.A.U. has accepted the Southern California way of looking at amateur athletics. Seward A. Simons, president of the local branch, gained every point for which he fought. He came near being the dominating figure at the National A.A.U. meeting. He read his report to the Southern Pacific Association last night.

HOME RULE.

The one man, czar rule is at an end. The associations will be allowed to settle their own affairs and answer their own questions without running to the secretary and treasurer with their fights. While there was nothing but praise for the work of James E. Sullivan, the national delegates expressed themselves in strong terms as opposed to his Bismarck policy.

Now the man in trouble will telephone Simons instead of telegraphing the national head, as he once sent wires to Sullivan.

REVISION.

The rules will be revised. Seward A. Simons is the chairman of the Rules Committee. The rules will be brought up to date, clarified and interpreted by common sense.

The Panama Canal Zone has been placed under the jurisdiction of the local association. The Southern Pacific Association is now as large in jurisdiction as any in America. It has gained its fitting recognition.

Women will be allowed to enter the A.A.U. swimming meets. They will have to register like any other athlete. Seward A. Simons and McCabe of Boston fought this through successfully.

WESTERN VIEWPOINT.

In other words, the East listened to Seward A. Simons, caught the western viewpoint and decided his way. Southern California has no more bones to pick. The L.A.A.C. can stay within the A.A.U. with honor. All talk of a western outlaw league is ended.

F. W. RUBIEN.

President Simons spoke highly of F. W. Rubien, Sullivan's successor. Rubien is one of New York's chief engineers. He is a master of detail. He is not as aggressive as James E. Sullivan was. But he is more judicial. He believes in leaving the local associations to work out their own problems. He will not insist on running Southern California affairs according to New York's idea. His policy is liberal.

PROFESSIONALS.

Professionals will be allowed to compete the same evening as the amateurs. But they will have to hold their races and events either before or after the amateurs. They cannot mix with them. They will have different officials.

Amateurs will not be allowed to compete against professionals in football, basketball or baseball. The national delegates were unanimous in that decision. That means that the collegians cannot play summer baseball.

SIMONS.

A $10,000 memorial will be erected to James E. Sullivan.

Seward A. Simons also reported that there are 15,290 athletes registered under the A.A.U. and that there is $25,000 in the treasury.

There can be nothing but praise for the work of Seward A. Simons. They called him the "new big man" at the National A.A.U. meeting.

Dundee Slams Rivers.

fray. His knees were going like those of a style park cob. His feet seemed to barely touch the floor. He was so full of pep and ginger and life that he seemed almost to bubble back across the ring.

Looking from haggard and weary eyes at the Italian bounding around as though just out of bed in the morning was too much for Rivers. Something went out of his face. It was like the lowering of a curtain. Hope left the Mexican. The rest of the fight was just despair.

RIVERS A TARGET.

In the fourteenth round we counted twelve straight lefts that Dundee pounded into Rivers's nose, one after another, like the work of a machine. Rivers seemed unable to stir. He stood like a fixed target, his head now covered with blood, snapping back as the Italian's blows went home.

JOB ON HIS KNEES.

In the fifteenth round Rivers rallied his strength and tore in after Dundee. But he was so tired that in missing a blow he went down on his knees in the ring. As he came up, Dundee met him with a stinging left that rocked his head.

In the sixteenth Rivers was missing swings and Dundee was pecking with his left. Every time Rivers succeeded in landing, Dundee flew back at him like an angry hornet.

POOR OLD RIVERS.

Rivers was a pathetic picture of abject weariness in the eighteenth. He was so tired that he once put his left on Dundee's face and simply pushed. He seemed too tired to hit. His eyes were full of distress and his mouth was a gasping hole in the midst of splattered blood.

The nineteenth was a dramatic round. Rivers hurried out from his corner with the desperate hope of ending it with a knockout punch. He forced Dundee back against the ropes; then drew away from him drawing his tortured breath in great sighs. Dundee went with a whang against the ropes. His arms straightened out at his sides. His head lowered until his eyes were fixed on Rivers's eyes. Then he marched out to the middle of the ring like a grenadier, his arms straight down and stiff at his sides. Then they sprang at one another like two mountain cats. There was a fierce mix-up with blows that flew too rapidly to chronicle.

OUT ON HIS FEET.

Then Rivers suddenly reeled and turned half round. Dundee had met the Mexican's straight left for his stomach with a cracking right cross that smashed against Rivers's jaw. Before Joe could raise his arms, another right shot like lightning into his stomach and he was practically out on his feet. He reeled drunkenly about in the middle of the ring. His eyes looked dull and glazed and his head swayed like an old bull about to fall in its death agony.

DROPS INTO HIS CHAIR.

He managed to pull himself together after a little for a feeble rally and as he drew near his corner, his seconds squirted water over him from a sponge. The bell rang and he fell into his chair—saved from a knockout.

The twentieth was fast and furious but without special incident. It was Dundee who was now trying for a knockout, and it was Rivers who was backing away trying to hold out to the end.

The truth is, all the ginger oozed out of Rivers after he saw Dundee come bursting back into the fight that desperate moment back in the middle of the fray, stepping like a race horse when his own legs probably felt like lead and his feet weighed a ton each.

CLEAN YEARS WIN.

It was not so much Dundee's lightning left as Dundee's years of clean, simple living and hard, faithful work that sent Joe Rivers out of the ring last night, the last loser in California.

If it had been Freddie Welsh instead of Joe Rivers in the ring last night, there would have been a new world's champion in the lightweight division this morning.

Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants is working on details of a tour of South America, which he intends to take with Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox, after the close of the 1915 baseball season. McGraw's team will be practically the same as his next year's nine.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CROPS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CORONA, Dec. 8.—As the picking time for citrus fruit in the immediate vicinity of Corona is drawing near, it becomes more and more apparent that the shipment record of last year, which was far more than any previous year, will be broken this season. It is estimated now that at least 300 additional cars will be shipped out during the next three or four months.

Although there has been no cause for alarm many of the fruit growers have already placed their smudge pots in readiness for any severe weather that might come.

Information gathered from reliable sources bring the estimate of the total number of cars to be shipped at between 1500 and 1600 cars. The Queen Colony Fruit Exchange alone expects to ship approximately 1400 cars and the individual shippers will add another 200 cars. Last year a total of 1250 cars was shipped from all sources in Corona.

As the season advances it is seen that the shipment of oranges and lemons will be about equal. The lemon crop was never in better shape. The oranges will be a trifle less in number, but in quality, especially the navels, which this year are larger, will more than make up the shortage.

Several cars of oranges will be shipped this week through the Queen Colony Fruit Exchange for the holiday trade. They are coloring up very fast and are unusually sweet for this time of the year.

MOUNTAIN STOREHOUSES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OAK GLEN, Dec. 8.—The handling of the apple crop in this district has just been finished and practically all of the apples are in storage for the winter. Some of them are stored here as the mountain storage plan is being tried out. Storehouses have been built high up in the mountains, where it is cold for several months and it is believed the apples will keep well there.

The crop this year has been light, much lighter than was expected, although this is what is known as the "lean year." About 25,000 boxes were picked and packed, little more than a quarter of a crop. The growers got some consolation out of the fact that the trees are in excellent condition and the crop next year should be a heavy one.

The growers here have just organized into what will be known as the Oakglen Apple Growers' Association. The association plans to put out a uniform pack and has adopted the name of "Snowline" for the brand and "Sky High Quality" as the trade mark.

NAVEL ORANGE CROP.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—According to statements of local fruit men the navel orange crop for the present season will not be more than 80 per cent. of a normal crop.

It is said Valencias will run about 85 per cent. of an average crop and that sweets and St. Michaels will not be more than 65 per cent. These estimates are for Orange county.

Up to this time last year about fifty carloads of fruit had been shipped east for the holiday trade and up to this date not one has been moved this season but it is said five or six cars of local Fullerton and Placentia fruit may be shipped out next week, although some of the local fruit companies are advising their members not to ship any oranges east until after January 1.

CANTALOUPE PLANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HEBER, Dec. 8.—The 1915 cantaloupe crop will be the greatest Imperial Valley has produced. Nine thousand acres for planting have already been signed up, according to Charles Hall, local agent for one of the large valley fruit companies. This is an increase already of 3000 over this year's acreage.

Brawley and the Keystone district, which last year had 4400 acres in melons, will this year have over 6000. The Heber district will have 1800 acres, an increase of 200, and the Calexico district will have 1100 acres in cantaloupes, which is nearly double that of the last planting.

ONIONS IN FAVOR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 8.—The onion has become a mine of good fortune to the ranchers of this county. From 25 cents a sack it has leaped to a commanding position. Growers were allowing their onions to rot in the ground. Now the price has mounted and every available man is being pressed into service to harvest the crop, which would be ruined by the rains.

The sudden upward tendency is due to the failure of the enormous Texas crop. There are more than 50,000 sacks of onions to harvest in the Lompoc district alone, and possibly 30,000 in the Santa Maria Valley.

HONEY FOR SHOW.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, Dec. 8.—The Southern California Panama Exposition Commission has come to this county for its show specimen of honey. The commission has secured six cases of this prime extracted sage honey for exhibit at the two expositions, in preference to honey from any other section because of its clearness and great purity. The honey was produced by D. J. C. Kennedy, the honey king of the Simi, whose apiary is at Tapo Alto, near Santa Susana.

ORANGES SHIPPED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 8.—Only five cars of oranges have gone out from this district for the holiday trade. The shipments were made last week by the Highgrove Fruit Association, which expects to ship five more cars before Christmas. Other local associations are making preparations to ship after the holidays, but it is believed that very little more will be shipped before New Year's.

FINE HAY CROP.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOMA LINDA, Dec. 8.—James Nelson, ranch foreman for the community here, says that the hay crop is reaching the highest mark for several years. There are now 155 acres in grain alfalfa that will bear approximately 5 tons per acre. Already 75 acres have been cut and

Why Bob Burman is the World's Fastest Automobile Driver

BY AL G. WADDELL.

Bob Burman is the world's fastest motor driver, the "Speed King" of them all, because he had the confidence in himself to drive the great Blitzen Benz at top speed.

At Ormond-Daytona Beach, Fla., April 23, 1911, Burman traveled faster than any human being who ever lived. He drove the 200-horse-power German racer, the car with the most powerful motor ever built, at the rate of 141.87 miles an hour. His record for the mile is 25.40 seconds. Burman traveled two miles in 51.23 seconds and drove the kilometer in 15.88 seconds.

AFTER BARNEY.

It was Burman's one ambition to break Barney Oldfield's speed record and to do it he had to open the Blitzen Benz wide open. The great speed performance was not the work of a day. Many weeks were spent in preparation for the crowning achievement of the speed king's career.

The meteoric drive occurred on Burman's twenty-seventh birthday. He believes that fate had much to do with the weird flash through space faster than a man would travel, falling 1000 feet through the air. That's why he had the nerve which he calls mere confidence in his own ability as a driver and the mechanical combination of the German speed creation.

THE SOOTHSAYER.

A horoscopic expert read Burman's horoscope. He told the driver that his twenty-seventh birthday was to be the greatest day of his life. This was forgotten.

For two months, Burman waited for the tides to put the beach course in condition. There is but one time each year when the tides wash the beach smooth and when the tide is out, the course is the best. Always after a severe storm, the Ormond-Daytona Beach is excellent for speed purposes.

A freak storm put the beach in excellent condition. Preparations were completed. The A.A.A. sanction was secured. The A.A.A. officials were wired for.

On April 21 there was a sixty-mile-an-hour wind blowing down the beach and with that behind him Burman was certain of a fast performance. The officials did not arrive. On the following day, when the official timers and judges arrived, Burman tried to break the record and failed utterly.

INHUMAN FORCE.

That night the idea of a strange inhuman force seemed to flash through the minds of Burman, E. A. Moross, his manager, and Billy Wellman, his traveling companion. It was the night before his 27th birthday. What did it mean?

Before going to sleep Burman remembered that the horoscopic expert wired to his mother to find out the hour of the day at which he was born. Then he went to sleep, confident.

The next day he seemed unnatural. His manager talked to him and he seemed to be thinking of other things than the great record-breaking performance.

ELECTRIC TIMING.

The electric timing device was installed with wires across the course at every mile. Fred J. Wagner was the starter, A. R. Pardington officiated as referee and Harry Knipper of Detroit handled the electric timing device for the A.A.A.

The driver had constructed a special steel brace to hold his head against the wind. The vibration wore into his brain. He then made a wild-looking face mask and lowered his seat until only his eyes appeared above the cowl and he held his head forward and down to break the wind.

GETS UP SPEED.

The first mile was to get up speed. The second and third were timed and it took almost two miles to stop the car. When he passed the finish there were hundreds of spectators cheering him. Burman saw nothing. Everything was a blur, from the end of the first half mile. It was only drive and fly through space.

Once he put out his hand to grasp the brake. The wind carried it back. Then he thought of what a brake would do at that awful speed.

Finally he shut off and the wind held the car back like ten brakes. He was then almost a mile beyond the finish line.

Gradually the car slowed down until the driver could see the water, then stopped. It was easy, he said. Never once did he feel fear or give a thought to what might happen. He was a speed demon.

That night he received a wire from the Imperial Kaiser congratulating him on the great record of the German monster and he knew that that was his great day.

Burman has never won a great road race, but he is the speed king of them all.

SANTA MONICA RACE POSSIBLE.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 8.—As a lever to work against the few property owners along Wilshire boulevard and other highways composing the great Santa Monica race course, the Racing Committee has secured reliable legal advice which shows that the city can pull off the races here next February.

If the land owners cause an injunction to be issued, it will fall flat, for the State says the city can have the speed events, provided the city obtains permission from the State, which has complete jurisdiction over the road, and can sanction a race if it so chooses.

A few property owners along the eight-mile track object for various reasons, but it is thought that their efforts to have the races kept down will be futile, and the committee and the men interested in the promotion of the sports are going ahead with preparations for a record-breaking event. A big purse will be hung up, as it is expected that the contemplated races will eclipse any race ever staged in the West.

CORNETT WANTS PITCHER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, Dec. 8.—If Los Angeles has some slab artist who needs a day's work, let him apply to "Bill" Cornett, director of the destinies of the local team. Cornett will be in Los Angeles Friday, and if he finds anyone of sufficient class as a twirler, said twirler may have the midwinter sensation of delivering to players from nearly every league in the country, except the Federals. Cornett wants someone to relay with Irving Kantlehner, and hopes to get in touch with Alvah Gipe.

TARGET WORK POLICE NEED.

COMMISSION RECOMMENDS COUNCIL SUPPLY AMMUNITION.

Chief Sebastian Writes Pertinent Letter Upon Recent Gun Battles Between Officers and Crooks Stating that Cartridges Should be Furnished and Men Made to Practice.

Stirred by a forcible letter from the Chief of Police anent recent criminal attacks upon patrolmen and the public necessity of adequate preparation on the part of the officers, the Police Commission yesterday approved and passed to the City Council the Chief's application for ammunition to be supplied the force under rules requiring their constant practice with revolvers or automatic pistols. The convincing communication follows:

Gentlemen:—

Criticism by the press and citizens in general has been repeatedly directed at this department on account of the poor marksmanship displayed by some members of the department in gun battles with criminals.

Police officers should not be criticised for not hitting their mark every shot, for they nearly, if not quite, always shoot under a handicap of darkness, sudden attack, shooting on the run, etc. Naturally such conditions require a man to be thoroughly familiar with his weapon, and to have ability to shoot it, if he makes any hits at all. Unfortunately, some of the members of the department are not sufficiently proficient with firearms to do good shooting and these are the ones who cause the criticism.

When it is remembered that members of the department are recruited from all the different occupations and that no particular ability to shoot is an entrance requirement, it is not strange that there are some poor shots. Although the department has three ranges where revolver practice may be had, such practice is not very generally indulged in, as the men find the expense of ammunition rather burdensome. Although the men are required to provide themselves with a revolver, they are not required to use it, and I have no authority to require them to practice at their own expense.

The proper protection of lives and property demands that this condition of affairs be remedied, and that it shall be generally known that every police officer is proficient in shooting a revolver. The only way a man can become, or remain, proficient, is by practice; and I believe that practice should be compulsory.

The police department has in its ranks some of the best revolver shots on the Pacific Coast, but they keep themselves so only by practice. As the members of the department cannot be compelled to furnished their own ammunition, I believe that the city should furnish practice ammunition, and that the men should be compelled to practice weekly.

I would furnish each man with ten rounds weekly and would arrange to have it used under proper supervision. By having a fixed amount issued to each man, and having it used only under the direction of a competent instructor, there would be no ammunition wasted, but every shot fired would work toward greater efficiency. I recommend that this matter be brought to the attention of the City Council with a request that provision be made for furnishing this department with 25,000 rounds of 38-caliber revolver ammunition per month for use under the above plan.

Respectfully,
C. E. SEBASTIAN,
Chief of Police.

DUCK HUNTERS IN GOOD HUMOR.

FIND GOOD SHOOTING ROUND SOUTHLAND, THOUGH WARY BIRDS.

Duck hunters reported varying successes yesterday for their shooting bags on the whole being satisfactory except in the neighborhood of Las Bolsas, where road hunters have plied their weapons so assiduously as to drive the flocks elsewhere.

William H. Holmes brought down a full bag at the Pacific Gun Club, his companion, F. M. Witman, getting twenty-one.

At the Willow Gun Club Victor Harkins, Charles Smith, Dr. Norton, Burt Dequine, Harry Tichenor and E. E. Eckdale averaged ten birds each.

L. E. Parker, Jacob Dants and A. E. Morro returned yesterday from Crane Lake, where they all secured their limits of canvasback, redhead and bluebills. In returning, they passed through thirty miles of snow varying from four to eleven inches in depth, the fall stretching from Elizabeth Lake to Bailey's. The roads were in bad condition.

Fifty-eight gunners mingled with thousands of ducks at Dominguez, where they secured from five to twenty birds each. J. B. Eada, J. B. Eada, Jr., E. Hewitt, and Fred Grewell together brought in fifty-two fowl.

Ed. Dubois pulled down a fine bunch at Del Rey.

Jack Topley shot ten at Sunset, and O. H. Bilden a like number at Alamitos.

Chris Krempel, Joseph Sinder and Otto Pachmayr earlier brought in limit bags from the San Pedro Club grounds.

Hunters look for the cold weather in the north to drive the ducks south, in spite of the rain flooding out. The lakes in the Sierra Nevadas are reported as beginning to freeze over. The early snows are covering the feed, so the ducks will be forced to turn south.

BAR FRESHIE ATHLETES FROM 'VARSITY GAMES.

...Dec. 8.—At a mass ... of the Associated ... of the University of Cali... decided to recommend ... with Stanford ... to be held in January, that ... from athletic ... the two univer...

...with the desires of ... years past and ... strenuous practice ... where the ... to discourage re... ...ory schools for ... all taint of ..., which has not so many undergraduates to draw from, always has played freshmen when they were of varsity caliber.

The Associated Students also recommended that freshmen games between the two universities, which have been allowed to lapse, be restored, in order that the freshman may share in the athletic life of his university.

Supplementary to the rule barring freshmen was a recommendation that no student, resident less than six months, be allowed in varsity competition. The intent is to exclude athletes drawn from other colleges who might enter the upper classes.

Abandonment of Rugby for the American game of football, which it was rumored would be voted on, did not even come up for discussion.

MONROVIA, Dec. 8.—One of the most remarkable hunting exploits of this locality was accomplished yesterday by Charles Pratt of No. 161 North Magnolia avenue, who killed a seven-foot, full-grown mountain lion in Clamshell Canyon, less than two miles north of Monrovia, with a sixteen-gauge single shot gun, knocking down the beast with one charge of No. 6 bird shot.

Pratt saw the lion on the opposite bank of the canyon, and although he had but a single shell immediately available, let drive and knocked the big cat down the mountain side. It rolled and slid, clawing and snarling, into a shallow pool at the bottom. Pratt had to open another box of shells before he could fire again, and was naturally somewhat nervous, as the lion was only seventy-five feet distant, and in a very ugly mood. He fired four more shots into the body before he killed it.

The skin is one of the finest ever brought into this city, of a dark gray color and unusually heavy. Many of the tiny leaden pellets did not pierce the hide, but were imbedded in the inner side. It is considered remarkable that a shot could have reached a vital spot.

The purity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been an established fact. Give it to the little ones.—[Advertisement.]

May Robson is to go into motion pictures after her present season closes. She will appear with the Famous Players in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" and "A Night Out."

Miss Robson expects to do these pictures during the coming summer. For next season she is considering two new plays, one by Edgar Allen Wolff on the subject of woman suffrage, in which the woman, while all the time preaching anti-suffrage, really acts out the tenets of the woman who believes in suffrage, for she's always looking out for some man to "put one over on her," and always advising her sisters not to be imposed upon by members of the opposite sex.

The other play is by James Forbes, author of "The Clever Woman."

"The Clever Woman' was one of the best plays I ever had," said Miss Robson, "but it was over the heads of a lot of people. For instance, I'm supposed to be furnishing my house, and I have a line which says: 'But I don't know what kind of furniture to choose, there are so many Louis' to choose from. That first Louis was a saint, but the rest ran to furniture.' A woman asked me soberly one day after she had seen the play: 'What did you mean by that? Is Louis a furniture dealer?'"

Eddie Dillon took his entire company down to Corona, and, picking Eddie Pullen as the winner, told him he must win the race or the picture would be ruined! Pullen answered, all right, he'd consent to win, and the plot was woven round the big auto driver.

When Fay Tincher said good-by to Pullen at the start of the race, the crowd cheered. They thought he was saying good-by to his wife or sweetheart.

Richard Stanton, actor-director with the Ince Company, returned from San Francisco.

Mr. Stanton brings a thrilling tale of the rescue of the survivors of the wrecked steamer Hanalei off the coast of California.

Stanton had gone to San Francisco with a large part of his company to stage a sea story, and no sooner had he stepped from the train than he heard the news of the big sea catastrophe. He and his camera man drove in an automobile seventy-eight miles to Bolinas Bay, where the vessels was on the reef. Here he joined the life-saving crew, and did all that he could toward a rescue.

The fog was so dense that photography was impossible.

Frank E. Woods, scenario manager for the Reliance and Majestic, has just completed writing the scenario for "Rays of Sunshine," dealing with the career of an ex-convict. Mary Alden is being featured.

In David Griffith's production of "The Clansman," Eagle Eye, the full-blooded Indian actor, made his three-hundredth fall during his association with the Griffith Mutual aggregation.

He made that three hundredth fall when he plunged headlong down the side of a gully during one of the battle scenes in "The Clansman." Each of the falls made by Eagle Eye averages seventy-five feet, and, computing on this basis, the Indian actor has fallen during the past year a distance of 22,500 feet.

The Indian has made a scientific study of falling dead for the pictures, and can hurl himself down the side of a mountain and come up smiling without the vestige of a bruise.

He's a real suffering hero once in a while, however. In one of Griffith's productions, Eagle Eye, dressed as an Indian warrior, and wearing nothing but a breech clout, plunged headlong from the back of a horse traveling at full speed, and alighted in a bed of cactus. Although the prickly cactus penetrated his flesh, he remained lying prostrate for several minutes, so as not to spoil the picture. And he says he was "good picking" for several days.

FELLOWS PLANS FAST MOTOR BOAT.

BUILDER HAS SOLD FELLOWS II; DESIGNS FORTY-FIVE-MILE SUCCESSOR.

The Fellows II, the fastest and most consistent motor boat in Southern California, has been sold.

Joe Fellows, the designer and builder of the speedster, took a mining men out in her last Sunday and bucked the breakers and ran around the Harvard for a few minutes, with the result that the gent from the desert pulled out a roll the size of the national debt and said, "How much?"

Fellows is now contemplating the building of another boat, which he will probably race at San Francisco in the summer, as well as in the local races.

If he can secure the engine he wants for it, which develops a little less than 300 horse power, he will build the fastest boat ever made in this part of the country and says that nothing less than forty-five miles an hour will do.

Fellows makes a specialty of consistently-running boats, and when he says that a boat will run forty-five miles an hour he means that it will run that fast for that length of time and not for about five minutes.

He will not start work on his latest creation until some time in the spring.

NO ENTRY FEES FOR BIG RACES.

Chairman Hughson also announced that the entry moneys already received will be refunded immediately.

SAN FRANCISCO CROSS-CITY RACE.

The big cross-city race held annually on the opening day of the year in San Francisco under the auspices of the San Francisco Bulletin, is attracting an extraordinary amount of attention.

It will be the opening event of a year of athletic activity which has never been surpassed on the Coast as practically every national championship is to be contested in the Bay City this year.

The course is 7⅝ miles in length through the city streets, starting at the Ferry building at 10 o'clock on New Year's Day and it will finish at the Seal Rock House near the cliff.

Bobby Vlugint of St. Mary's College won the race in 1912 and 1913 and Oliver Millard of the Olympic Club in 1914. Both of these men will compete again this year.

The event is exclusively for California runners and there are about a dozen prizes up for the first high school runner, college man, Y.M.C.A. man, soldier or sailor, unattached and the first out-of-city man.

There will also be about twenty minor prizes. More than 250 runners are expected to be in line at the start of the race.

VALLEY LEAGUE UMPIRE FIGHT.

IMPERIAL, Dec. 8.—The discharge of Umpire Bill Phyle today opened a breach in the affairs of the Valley League, which threatens to widen. Phyle says disgruntled bettors at Brawley are responsible for his release and that President Peter Hovley, who is Mayor of Brawley, went beyond his authority in releasing him.

The umpire says he will be at the local ball park tomorrow to run the game if Umpire Billy Murray of the American Association, who was offered a job, is not there. He says he was put to great expense in moving his family down here, and that the directors outside of Brawley will not support President Hovley's action.

The feeling against Phyle took shape after Sunday's game, which Brawley, the tail-enders, lost, and in which Phyle was criticised for unfair decisions.

WHITTIER BOYS IN A.C. INDOOR MEET.

George Brashear and John Paschal, the two wonderful negro sprinters of the Whittier State School, have sent in their entries for the L.A.A.C. indoor meet, which comes off tomorrow night.

Both of these boys are really wonders, the former being credited with 10 flat for the century and the latter having placed in the Coast interscholastic meet at California last year.

Both of them have entered in four events, the high school twenty and 25-yard dashes and the open events at the same distance. In the latter events they will be seen in action against Howard Drew, the colored sprinter from U.S.C.

The officials in charge of the meet declare that this will be the largest indoor meet ever held west of Chicago and expect to have more than 100 entries.

MEXICALI BOXING CLUB.

There is a live fight club down at Mexicali which is putting on fights every Sunday. This is a new organization, known as the International Sporting Club.

Earl Puryear, Coast bantam champ, is to meet Jimmy Hanlon, a Brooklyn bantamweight, next Sunday. As a curtain raiser there will be a five-man battle royal staged. Puryear won a ten-round decision from a party by the name of Mike Krieco on Thanksgiving Day and is a big favorite in the valley.

FEDERALS SIGN BURTON.

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) Dec. 8.—William Burton, first baseman of the Venice team of the Pacific Coast League last season and formerly with the New York Americans, announced here today that he has signed a contract to play with the St. Louis Federals next year.

son road yesterday is one of his greatest achievements. There was more danger in the run of 9.41 miles up the mountain than in the Corona road race, according to the driver, and those who motored to the summit to witness the finish of the run.

MANY DANGERS.

The sharp turns, the narrow road, and the melting snow made the course most difficult to drive at high speed. The last three miles of the 6000-foot climb were heavy with snow. The cars which went up ahead of the record-breaker, broke through the snow and made ruts which turned to miniature mountain streams before Carlson arrived.

Such a run is a great strain on both car and driver. The pilot of a machine on a record run over any mountain course is busy every minute. Carlson rode alone. The risk was so great that he did not wish to subject a mechanic to the dangers of the slippery mountain highway.

P. A. Lord, Harry Lord, Teddy Tetzlaff and many members of the local Maxwell staff, the Lord Motor Car Company, accompanied Carlson to the foot of the trail. Five machines went up ahead of the racing driver, carrying motion-picture operators, photographers, newspaper men and representatives of the Lord company.

VETERAN CAR.

The car which Carlson drove is the same Maxwell "22" which he piloted in the last Los Angeles to Phoenix road race. It was stripped, but carried full stock equipment, including United States tires.

When the five touring cars arrived at the summit, the phone line was opened so that the timers could get the start. P. A. Lord sent the car away shortly after 11 o'clock. Five watches caught the time.

GRAY STREAK.

A few minutes later the roar of the little motor could be heard echoing up the canyons. Louder it grew. Minutes passed and then the little black car rounded the last turn and finished in a splash of gray mud and snow.

On the trip down Carlson's tracks were examined and showed where in several places he slid out to within a few inches of the edge of the bank. Almost any place along the course the car would have been wrecked and the driver probably killed had he blown a tire. On the narrow turns there would have been no chance for him to handle the car and many of the drops below the narrow shelved road are hundreds of feet.

For slow touring the Mt. Wilson road is not dangerous. Any capable driver may pilot the car to the summit, 6000 feet high, with safety, but a 6000-foot climb in twenty-nine minutes over a winding mountain road requires all the skill and nerve of a truly great driver.

ENGLISH TURF CLASSIC.

One hundred and fourteen entries have been made for the 2000 Guineas of 1916, including nine made in New York. This is one of the English turf classics. King George has entered five horses. For the 1000 Guineas ninety-six have entered, including seven made in New York. King George has four entries in the latter event.

LITTLE, BUT IT HELPETH THREE.

RED CROSS SEALS ON YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS ARE MERCY TOKEN.

A Christmas gift that helps a sufferer, your city and yourself. That is the slogan adopted by the Los Angeles Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis to aid in the sale and distribution of American Red Cross seals.

The seals are small and they cost but a cent apiece, but they carry a message of hope. The gift is small but none other will so truly express the message of Christmas time than one of these small Red Cross seals. Every seal carries with it a ray of hope, a relief, and perhaps even life itself to some unfortunate sufferer of consumption. The Red Cross seal also aids in the wiping out of consumption in the community and thus protects your health as well as the city's.

Thus, when the recipient of some elaborate gift from you receives your token of esteem with a little Red Cross seal attached, the gift is far more acceptable, for with it is message of the mercy that has been extended some consumptive.

These seals may be received either from "The Christmas Seal Committee," care J. Todd Cook, chairman, No. 340 North Main street, or from the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., at the rate of a cent apiece.

AUTO BANDITS SCARED AWAY.

ESCAPE IN MACHINE AFTER ATTEMPTING TO ROB GROCERY.

Three automobile bandits who attempted to burglarize Hartford's Elysian grocery store at Allesandro street and Los Feliz road last night escaped in their machine just before the officers arrived. Two of the bandits wore white masks and one was dressed as a woman.

Neighbors in the vicinity of the attempted burglary heard the three trying to enter the grocery by forcing an entrance. An attempt was also made to enter another store across the street, but this endeavor was also frustrated.

Apparently frightened away by persons in the vicinity the bandits left their work uncompleted. The one dressed as a woman hid in the weeds on the roadside, another ran down Los Feliz road and the third disappeared in the darkness. In a few minutes a big yellow, low-built automobile with three headlights, dashed up to the scene, the "woman" and the others stepped in and the car was driven swiftly along Los Feliz road toward Tropico.

Police and Sheriff's automobiles appeared a few minutes afterward and followed the bandits' car as far as the new Los Feliz road, which is macadamized. The car could not be traced on the smooth road.

PIG'N WHISTLE OPENING.

Third Store Here Is Beautifully-fitted Sweetshop, Decorated in a Pleasing Tone.

Pig'n Whistle shop No. 3 opened yesterday at No. 712-14 South Broadway, and the public gave the new place a welcome, crowding it during the noon hour, all afternoon and far into the night.

The beauty of the fittings and decorations created much enthusiastic comment and Messrs. J. H. Gage and I. H. Ackerman were the recipients of unnumbered congratulations.

The front of the new store is finished in an old ivory enamel, a new process of baking being employed which gives the effect of a continuous china glaze. The wee pinky-white dancing pig, the emblem of the stores, is repeated at odd and unexpected places in the decoration of the store front, as it is throughout the interior. Rosy pigs are ensconced in shell-like fonts above each booth, where they shed their effulgence from hidden lights upon those within the enclosures, luminous piggies are seen at the bases of the square pilars which support the massive beams of the ceiling and upon the newel post of each booth is seen again the pig. A painting at the back of the large room portrays a sylvan scene where the fluting pig becomes the center of a gay and dancing crowd of wood nymphs and their followers.

The coloring throughout is on the Pompeiian order, in a soft, dull shade of blue, the woodwork polished to an enamel finish and touched at intervals with dull Pompeiian gold. The tiling of the floors is novel, the border being extended upon the walls where the floor and wall round together, precluding the corners which are the bugbear of those sanitarily inclined. In fact, sanitation and comfort have been given as much attention throughout the establishment as has beauty, the most approved of ventilating systems being in effect, and every modern device in use throughout the confectionery factories and the kitchens.

OSTRICHES IN KERN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 8.—One hundred and fifty adult ostriches arrived here tonight from Arizona to be distributed to a number of buyers. Two carloads of these will proceed in the morning to the Kern County Ostrich Farm at Buttonwillow, and the remainder have been taken by smaller purchasers. The total importation to this county recently amounts to 340 ostriches, as 190 birds were unloaded at Caliente a few days ago for the Tejon ranch. The interest now shown is largely because of the results attained by Mrs. William Tracy of the Kern County Ostrich Farm, who pioneered the industry north of the Tehachepi, and had seventy-five fine birds before this shipment arrived.

NEW BIG BIRD RANCH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALIPATRIA, Dec. 8.—The newest enterprise here is ostrich raising. Six hundred birds are now on the way to this point from Arizona to form the nucleus of a large ostrich ranch at which the birds will be propagated. The new industry is being managed by B. Dryer, who is said to have had experience in raising the big birds in Africa. Ten cars are being used to transport the birds and will arrive here Friday. They will be corralled temporarily in a block-large enclosure. The ranch property is yet to be selected but will be near this city.

CONVENTION CALLED HERE FEBRUARY FIFTEENTH

After Three-day Session an Executive Committee of Local Members the Western Association of Fruit Jobbers Will Go to "See" California's Famous Sights—Three Thousand Expected.

Date for the annual convention of the Western Association of Fruit Jobbers of America was announced yesterday by the local committee in charge of arrangements for the fair. The actual days of meeting will be next February 15 to 18, inclusive, and the jobbers will then adjourn their meeting to a final session in San Francisco, where they have been invited by the directors and officials of the Panama-Pacific Exposition to dedicate the opening of the convention Hall, on February 19, the opening day of the big fair.

At least 3000 jobbers of California fruits and vegetables, who operate from the principal dealers as far East as the boundary of Pennsylvania, will be in attendance according to the estimate of A. M. Klein of the Klein-Simpson Fruit Company, chairman of the arrangements. "This occasion will be an opportunity for the fruit growers, producers and packers to display the methods employed in handling and shipping," said Mr. Klein. "Our programme is to be highly educational and will have its inception several days before the meeting is called to order."

The initial plans as outlined at a committee meeting call for a junction of all special trains at Riverside on the morning of February 11. Automobiles will be in waiting the delegations there and the members will be carried to Redlands, San Bernardino and various other points of interest, to return to Riverside for a banquet at the Glenwood Mission Inn.

Following this event, the visitors will go directly to San Diego to remain there two days, visiting the Panama-California Exposition. That evening will see a grand reception. The following day and evening will be devoted to business and a theater party. Thursday will be devoted to sports and the delegation will leave in the evening for Portersville, where they will immediately go to the orange groves. From there they will have the liberty to continue on their way home or remain in California, as they may decide.

The president of the organization is William Wagner of Chicago, and the secretary, W. D. Tidwell of Kansas City. These officials are co-operating with committees in the East, and to insure unusual attendance to the meeting local committees have planned a publicity campaign among the fruit growers and will write them letters. Also some new feature that has been suggested to lend to the natural attractiveness of the occasion.

Lovely Tiffanies.

Everyone loves Tiffany Favril glass, but these new bud vases excel in grace anything heretofore sent out from Tiffany's. Or at least so thought those who admired the bud vase of shimmering glass which, in the window of that always-delightful Broadway jewelry house, contained a single half-blown rose of that new sort which we have read so much about—a Hungarian rose, it is. There are, in the Tiffany room of that establishment, many exquisite examples of this charming ware—articles entirely different from anything heretofore produced.

For a Violet.

Something not heretofore seen are those vases for a single violet or for a single Cecile Brunner rose. They come either as a setting for some useful piece such as a rest for the knife or a holder for a candle and they are a single short shaft of crystal, which makes room for one of the wee, charming flowerlets.

Black gloves are more frequently seen than formerly.

A lovely bronze-green is among the favorite shades.

Homespuns and tweeds are good style for the young.

The latest brassieres are lined with flesh-colored silk.

Dark green is firmly settled among the staple colors.

Rhinestone and sterling silver jewelry are very popular.

Government Wins Right to Probable Rich Oil Land and Aged Spaniard Gets His Homestead.

The government won what is thought to be forty acres of valuable oil land in Kern county by a decision handed down yesterday by Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell of the Land Office. Suit was brought by the government against John W. Galbreath to cancel the entry, on the ground that the land is mineral-bearing, it having been shown that there are several oil-bearing wells in the immediate vicinity of the Galbreath entry.

The decision is based on a recent ruling of the department, by which entrymen may have the surface rights of lands adjudged to be oil-bearing, reserving to the government all rights to deposits on account of which the lands are withdrawn from public entry. Under this ruling, Galbreath gets the land, but not the oil, if there be any existing there in commercial quantities.

The Register and Receiver yesterday also confirmed the right of Felipe H. Valenzuela, an aged Spaniard, to a quarter-section just over the line in Ventura county. It was contested by Eugene E. Parks on the ground that Valenzuela had not done the required amount of improvement on the land, and that he had not lived continuously on it.

It appeared from the testimony that Valenzuela, who cannot speak English, had been induced to register as a voter in Santa Monica, and it was claimed that if he was a citizen of that township for voting purposes that he could not be a legal resident in Ventura county, where his claim is located. There was evidence to show that he had lived on his homestead continuously since May, 1911.

Portland Company Alleges Anaheim Concern Failed to Deliver According to Contract.

T. W. Jenkins & Co. of Portland, Or., in the United States District Court yesterday sued the Anaheim Sugar Company of the defendant corporation to carry out a contract for the delivery of a certain amount of granulated beet sugar.

It is claimed that on June 12, 1914, at San Francisco, a contract was entered into between the parties by the provisions of which the Anaheim Sugar Company agreed to sell to the plaintiffs all the granulated beet sugar they needed during August, 1914, at $4.20 a bag, which was then the prevailing market price. It is also charged that 4800 bags of sugar were ordered by the firm during the month, and that of this amount but 600 bags were delivered, leaving 4200 bags yet to be delivered under the terms of the contract, which the Anaheim Sugar Company failed and refused to comply with.

It is also charged that T. W. Jenkins & Co. were then compelled to go into the open market and purchase the 4200 bags of sugar at an advance of $3.10 a bag over the price called for by the contract.

SORE ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Started with Blisters. Itched So Could Not Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Three Weeks Was All Healed.

Route No. 3, Box 67, Little Falls, Minn. —"Our little boy was taken sick with a fever and after the fever he broke out with a sore eruption all over his body. We could get nothing to help him. The sores were large and red and bleeding. They started with blisters as if he were burned and when they broke they would bleed and they itched so that he could not sleep for some time. We had him all tied up with bandages and then we had to soak them off every day.

"We bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which soon gave him relief. We used the Cuticura Soap to wash him with and used the Ointment afterwards and in about two weeks he was able to sit up. Now he is as well as can be for in three weeks he was all healed by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) George Walters, Jan. 29, 1914.

TO TELL WHAT NOVELIST SAW?

Korean with Jack London in War may Write.

Kind Deed to Earn Learning that He Covets.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Dec. 9.—C. H. Choi, a Korean, employed in the dining-room at the Hotel Green, may at last be permitted to realize his heart's fondest dream—and obtain a good English education.

As interpreter for Jack London, when that writer was a war correspondent during the Japanese-Russian struggle, the young Korean had so many thrilling and dangerous experiences that an ambition was born within him to write of his experiences over here. But he was thwarted because of his limited knowledge of English.

If the gossip of the hotel corridors be true, however, he may yet go to college. A few knowing ones declare that once upon a time Choi did an easterner a mighty good turn, which was not forgotten. The easterner learned a few weeks ago that Choi was at the Green, and declares he will give the Korean an education. The man in the case is not divulged.

Choi, though ambitious, is very modest, and declares he is not very bright. "Any boy most," he said, "should have learned a lot, given the same chance that I had. Mr. London, after returning to the United States, used to give me a half hour every morning when he was home, teaching me English and arithmetic himself. Once he bought me a wheel and let me go to night school."

Choi speaks Manchurian and Japanese fluently and English and French fairly well. He declared yesterday that although he has had some of the most thrilling and peculiar experiences, including dozens of hairbreadth escapes, he had almost given up hope of ever being anything more than a mere working boy, "because," he said, "I can't afford to stop working long enough to go to school and besides, I am not very bright."

But there are those at the hotel who say Choi may yet tell his thrilling story in scholarly English.

MINISTER'S FUNERAL TODAY.

The funeral services of Dr. Levi P. Crawford, the oldest minister in California perhaps, and one of the most beloved, who died at his North Euclid avenue home late Sunday night, will be held at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Dr. John Gilbert Shue of the First Presbyterian Church will officiate at the services, which will be held according to Dr. Crawford's wishes without ostentation of any kind. There will be no songs and no flowers. Interment will follow in Mountain View Cemetery.

TOO NOISY FOR 'EM.

Because they object to being awakened so early in the morning, guests at the Hotel Green have taken their troubles to the City Commissioners and ask that the ringing of the wig-wag bell of the Santa Fe at the crossing at Green street and the noise of the newsboys crying out their wares be stopped.

The protest of the guests at the Green was referred to Chairman Metcalf of the City Commission by David Boice, assistant manager at the Green, and yesterday H. B. Sherman, agent of the Santa Fe, appeared before the Commission to learn what he could do about the complaint. He declared the Santa Fe could stop the noise of the newsboys, but, since the wig-wag bell was installed at the instance of the city, the Commissioners would have to settle the question in that quarter.

WORKS IN BELGIUM.

Emil F. Hollman, a Pasadena boy who, as winner of the Rhodes scholarship, is a student at Oxford, is also one of ten classmates who have volunteered to do relief work in Belgium. Mr. Hollman is already in Belgium and is serving under the American commission. Mr. Hollman, who is a graduate of the Pasadena High School, won the Rhodes scholarship while at Stanford, where he was also graduated. For a time he was private secretary to Dr. David Starr Jordan, and traveled extensively with him throughout Europe.

According to reports which are now going the rounds, Alhambra, Monrovia and Arcadia are to have three of the handsomest floats in the Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day.

Each of these towns has made a formal entry and committees are already busy with designs for the floats.

The Chamber of Commerce of Alhambra made the entry for that city and the Monrovia entry is in charge of the Monrovia Day Association.

Co-operating with Mrs. Anita Baldwin McClaughry, the Board of Trade in Arcadia expects to have one of the most wonderful floats in the tournament.

BABY, GUN'S VICTIM.

Lead Accidentally Discharged Pierces Wall of House and Heart of Infant. No One Blamed.

HANFORD, Dec. 8.—Seated in his high chair eating bread and milk from his new toy mug, 2-year-old Emilio Freddi, the son of Mr and Mrs. John Freddi, who run a dairy ranch south of here, was instantly killed this morning by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of John Fantana, a hired man who had been sent out after breakfast to kill a chicken.

Fantana did not exactly understand the use of the pump gun and stopped outside the kitchen door to examine it. He discharged the gun sending the contents of a shell through a thin partition into the heart of the child as it sat eating its morning meal.

The Coroner's jury exonerated Fantana.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Dec. 8.—Miss Bertha Bonar, 12 years old, of No. 903 Pacific avenue, escaped serious, if not fatal injury this afternoon, when she was precipitated over a bench under the municipal bandstand into the sand, after losing control of her bicycle at the top of the hill at Locust and Ocean avenues, and engaging in a wild ride down the smooth pavement until she bumped into the woden seat below. She was thrown over the front of the handlebars of her wheel when she hit the bench, miraculously escaping injury by landing in the soft sand beyond.

Witnesses to the accident rushed to the side of the girl, expecting to find her unconscious, but she was able to rise unassisted and proceed home.

NEAR DEATH IN FIRE.

Entailing a loss of $1000, a fire of mysterious origin partially destroyed the seven-room bungalow occupied by Walter D. Clifford, No. 905 Redondo avenue, early this morning. The house was owned by Mrs. Pauline L. Moore. Neighbors discovered the blaze and Mr. Clifford was roused from sleep barely in time to escape with his life.

WHO WAS WRONG, THE TELEPHONE?

EL CENTRO, Dec. 8.—Suit for $50,000 damages is expected to be filed tomorrow against John W. Breedlove, a grading contractor known throughout the county, alleging alienation of the affections of Mrs. William T. Brooks and all because Mr. Breedlove's telephone was not in good working order.

Mr. Brooks, a dairyman, had prepared the papers in his suit, according to his attorney, and today called Mr. Breedlove on the telephone with a request to meet him on the Courthouse steps.

Mr. Breedlove, who had gotten wind of the proposed action, went instead to the District Attorney and swore out a complaint charging Mr. Brooks with "a threatened offense."

Mr. Brooks was arrested and upon being released on $1000 bond said he had only told Mr. Breedlove that he wished to patch up their difficulties without having to institute suit. But Mr. Breedlove says his telephone did not receive any such conciliatory message. Now Mr. Brooks says the papers will surely be filed.

HUNT WOULD-BE WRECKERS.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 8.—Under the belief that an attempt was made to wreck the Lark Sunday night special officers of the Southern Pacific are making thorough search today to discover the identity of men believed to have attempted to open the derailing switch on the main line at Carpinteria. Profound secrecy has been thrown around the discovery that the padlocks on the switch were found by switchmen to have been tampered with. The locks had been pounded until they were useless. It is believed the work was that of vagrants angered because they had been thrown from a train.

Woman Stops Husband From Using Tobacco

She Tells What She Used

A well-known Ohio woman, whose husband has been a heavy user of tobacco for years, broke him of the habit by the use of a simple home recipe that she gave secretly. She very gladly told what she used but requested that her name should not be made public, as her husband does not know why he quit using tobacco. She said: "The recipe is inexpensive and can be obtained from any drug store, and given secretly or with the patient's knowledge. To 3 oz. of water add 20 grains of muriate of ammonia, a small box of Varlex Compound, and 10 grains of pepsin. Give a teaspoonful three times a day at meal time, in the food or in the coffee, tea or milk. This recipe is perfectly harmless and has no color, taste or smell, and will be found effective for the tobacco habit in any form."

BITTEN BY PET; DIES OF RABIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANAHEIM, Dec. 8.—Chained securely to his bed at the local sanatorium, with two attendants and physicians watching over him, George Snurr died last night of hydrophobia. Only a few hours before he died the unfortunate man attempted to escape from the room.

Two months ago Mr. Snurr's pet dog bite him as he was lifting the animal into a wagon. Five days later the dog died and his master supposed the pet had been poisoned. About a week ago Mr. Snurr noticed some trouble in his throat and found it difficult to swallow water. He thought the trouble was rheumatism.

Saturday night he was overcome by a spasm and sent for Dr. Beebe. When the physician reached the ranch home of Mr. Snurr at Olive, he found the man suffering with rabies and at midnight brought him to the local sanatorium.

The attending physicians wired to the laboratory at Berkeley to ask if the patient might be saved when the disease had reached the advanced stage observed. The answer was that nothing could be done to save the man.

Mr. Snurr was then told to make his will, as he could not live long. The patient laughed and said, "I have only had rheumatism."

It usually requires from one to three months for the disease to develop after infection. In this case it was two months before the rabies spasms occurred.

Mr. Snurr was 50 years old, a single man, and a member of the Eagles Lodge. He worked as a teamster for a paving company.

Physicians here have advised persons bitten by a dog not to kill it, but to chain the animal or send it to a veterinary and watch developments.

ESTATE TRUSTEE WARMLY GRILLED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, Dec. 8.—Referee Louis Drapeau, appointed by Superior Judge Clarke to report on the condition of the Denman estate matter, made his report yesterday to the court. The case is one of long standing and involves the estate of Frederick C. Denman, who owned a valuable ranch on the Conejo road. He has been dead some twenty years and an accounting was sought by Isaac R. Denman, a beneficiary under the will from Trustee Abram C. Denman.

Referee Drapeau in his report stated it had been found that real estate belonging to the trust fund had been sold without an order of court and that the assets of the fund had been changed in form several times without court authority and the report said that Trustee Denman had "mingled" the trust funds with his own bank account, directly contrary to the rule for the administration of trust funds. The referee recommended the removal of the trustee and the restoration of the trust fund in cash. The referee finds the amount to be turned over to the court is $54,297.68. This amount, the referee says, can be somewhat reduced if the trustee is successful in locating certain vouchers which have been lost.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The will of the late William A. Arnedll has been filed for probate by the widow, who is named sole legatee and devisee and executrix to serve without bonds. The will disposes of an estate of the value of some $80,000, consisting of money in an Oxnard bank, $4562.89, 155.16 acres of land in Pleasant Valley and 91.9 acres on the Rancho Colonia, together with personal property.

A new grand jury for the coming year will be drawn Monday from the following list: H. E. Stetson, S. L. Geisler, E. L. Gardner, W. T. Neel, Henry Levy, T. S. Newby, F. E. Davis, N. W. Blanchard, Jr., C. J. Daily, W. S. Warring, H. F. Sprague, T. W. Pliduck, Allan P. Fraser, T. A. Rice, George E. Hume, E. S. Thacher, H. S. Valentine, W. E. Goodyear, Walter E. Johnson, W. H. FIVE IN PERIL IN LAKE STORM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BEAR VALLEY, Dec. 8.—Five men of Redlands had a dangerous experience yesterday while shooting duck from an open boat on the lake here. One of the sudden storms that come up over the lake almost instantly and whip it to fury, broke while the men were out some distance from shore. To make it more dangerous, it was a sleet and hailstorm.

The men were Fred Gowland, S. H. Kanady, M. Shellheimer, M. Gessman and Ed Mosbaugh, chief of the fire department there. By dint of hard work they made the shore, but the hail cut their faces until the skin was raw and bleeding. The lake is treacherous in these sudden squalls and the men consider themselves lucky.

Hunting is fairly good and several Redlands parties left today after fair luck. There have been two snowstorms and the mercury has dropped to 8 above.

STARVATION IS FAMILY'S LOT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Dec. 8.—While hundreds of Ontario people have been contributing liberally to the relief fund for European war sufferers, a family of eight, including six little girls, all under the age of 12, has been starving to death right here in this city, according to Mrs. Mira J. Glidden, principal of the Euclid-avenue grammar school and chairman of the Emergency Committee of the South Euclid Parent-Teacher Association. She issued today an appeal for aid for the stricken family.

When Truant Officer Kempert visited the home of Fred Ruez, No. 426 East Park street, today in order to learn why the children were not in school, he discovered a sad state of affairs.

With the father unable to secure work and with the mother on her death-bed, the six little daughters of the family, without sufficient clothing to protect them from the chilly weather, were found literally starving to death. The officer at once reported the case to Mrs. Glidden and temporary aid was rushed to the family.

A few months ago members of the family are said to have been afflicted with diphtheria, at which time the health authorities ordered that most of their bedding be burned. The result is that they not only lack sufficient clothing and food, but have little or no bedding and no fuel with which to heat their modest home.

POULTRY MEN ELECT.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Pigeon and Poultry Association, held last evening at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, J. W. Williams was chosen president of the organization for the ensuing year. Other officers elected include: R. R. Deihauer, first vice-president; B. S. Smallwood, second vice-president; O. F. Goettel, third vice-president; G. P. Gabb, secretary and M. Morgan, treasurer. The three vice-presidents will act as executive board for the coming year

NEW HEALTH OFFICER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BALBOA, Dec. 8.—Interrupting, it is alleged, a feast set out on fine linen in a vacant summer home, Deputy Sheriff Ulrich of this place arrested three youths at Corona Del Mar this afternoon. They are held on charges of burglary.

It is alleged the trio made free with things in the summer cottages of Dr. A. L. Macleish, Mrs. Halliday, Miss Alden and Torey Everett, who live in Pasadena. They were caught, it is declared, at the Halliday house.

The prisoners give their names as Earl Young, Edward Mitchell and Richard Hunter and say they live in Los Angeles.

They will have a hearing at Santa Ana tomorrow.

GIGANTIC WATERSPOUT CHASES CRAFT AT SEA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 8.—Like a hunted hare, the steamer Chehalis, lumber-laden, from Eureka, ran into port today, fresh from a chase in which her engines were pitted against a waterspout that towered into the heavens and roared so near the craft that she trembled in the edge of the vortex.

Capt. Erensen was pacing the bridge as the sturdy little craft breasted the seas just south of Point Piedras Blancas. Throughout the passage rude seas and heavy winds had buffeted the Chehalis, but she made good weather of it and there was no imaginable danger.

Suddenly, quite close, a great column of water rushed up from the sea. Like a huge arm, it reached up and touched the sky. The water about it, far and wide, was strangely agitated and whipped constantly into a circling, seething, frothing plane, the center of which the pillar swayed and towered upward. It roared and hissed like a thing alive.

Capt. Erensen seized his indicator and called for all speed ahead. Swiftly the edge of the vortex was reaching toward the little steamer. The engines throbbed and she went ahead, buffeting the waves with harder blows and leaving a tossing white smother astern. But her speed was no match for that of the pursuer. Slowly the circle of the vortex gained till Capt. Erensen saw his craft sucked into it. Striving against the race of the agitated water, steaming with all the power of her engines, the Chehalis fought away from the danger.

Another vessel appeared and was drawn into similar danger. The whistle of the Chehalis was blown—a call of encouragement. A wisp of steam showed the stranger, only a few shiplengths away, had blown an answer, but above the hissing of the great water column nothing could be heard.

Then, as suddenly as it had appeared, the waterspout grew attenuated and the vortex subsided. The Chehalis took headway on her course, at last responding to the efforts of her engines.

Capt. Erensen reported his experience on arrival here.

COMMERCIAL.

Rather a delightful surprise on the market at this late date has been the arrival of raspberries and blackberries grown outdoors as well as a fine assortment of strawberries in the past few days since the rain. The strawberries yesterday morning sold all the way from 5 to 11 cents a basket, the high-priced fruit being of the long stem variety. The blackberries were offered from 13 to 15 cents a basket and only a few trays were received. Raspberries were more plentiful and sold all the way from 12 to 15. There was a good demand for them from the hotels.

Some very fancy northern quinces are arriving. They are exceptionally large and are selling at 85 cents a lug box. Alligator pears are a little more plentiful, coming from Florida and a few from Mexico and selling from $4 to $6 per dozen. Some Bartlett pears are still obtainable. Malaga, Cornichon, red Emperor and Tokay are the grapes that are still obtainable in quantity.

Egg receipts were 109 cases. May storage were offered in a jobbing way at 25½, April at 26; eastern fresh at 28½; seconds at 24 and Chinese eggs were also offered at any price obtainable but failed to move. The northern market on eggs continued at 40 cents. Butter in the north was quoted at 31½ and here remained unchanged. Receipts were 54,850 pounds. There was a good call for Tillamook cheese but the price asked was a trifle high. California Jack cheese was also freely offered. Receipts were 1000 pounds.

There has been a gradual decrease in receipts of Idaho spuds in the past two weeks and the market is appearing more steady on this account. Receipts were 3030 sacks. Onion trading has been very lively since the last jump and buying orders from here in the north have been heavy as evidenced by the sudden increase in arrivals, which yesterday amounted to 3057 sacks.

Pink beans were freely offered yesterday morning. Other varieties were in small demand. Receipts were 1034 sacks. Sweet potato arrivals were 176 sacks. White sweet potatoes are being featured at 75c a lug box. Apple arrivals were 4431 boxes.

CHIEF OF POLICE FOR STATE REGULATION.

Will Prepare Bill Modeled on Sullivan Law of New York to Curtail Possession of Deadly Weapons. Police Commission Gives Plan its Approval.

The Police Commission yesterday gave its unanimous approval to the plan of Chief of Police Sebastian to prepare a bill, modeled on the Sullivan law of New York, to be introduced at the next session of the Legislature, for the purpose of curtailing the sale and possession of firearms.

Chief Sebastian in his presentation of this subject before the commission, said:

"With your permission I desire to prepare for presentation to the honorable State Legislature a bill similar to the Sullivan law of New York, forbidding the sale of firearms and other dangerous weapons, having them in possession, etc.

"I know of no better State law in the United States than this one, and I deem such a law absolutely necessary in this State to enable the peace authorities to cope with the murderous thug, burglar and highwayman.

"At this time it is possible for a criminal to go to any pawnshop, second-hand store or regular sporting goods house and purchase firearms and other weapons. The law-abiding dealer usually makes a record of the name and address given by the purchaser, but we find in many instances that these are fictitious.

"A strong State law, patterned after the New York law, would, if enforced, be of great assistance to us. It would not prohibit or prevent the reputable citizen from obtaining a permit to purchase a revolver, and it would operate to make it very difficult for the thug to own and carry one.

"If your honorable body approves my request, I shall confer with one or more members of the State House of Representatives and with his assistance present the bill to the Legislature."

Under the provisions of the Sullivan law, which is to be closely followed by the proposed California statute, it becomes a misdemeanor to give any firearm to any person under 16 years of age, and it is a felony to carry a dangerous weapon with intent to use the same unlawfully.

The law also provides that possession at one's residence of firearms that could be concealed upon the person, without being in possession of a proper written permit, is a misdemeanor, and that persons more than 16 years of age who carry concealed firearms without a proper written permit commit a felony. It provides that persons not citizens of the United States shall not carry firearms, and a violation of this provision becomes a felony.

The law also declares it to be a nuisance to unlawfully carry blackjacks, billies, metal knuckles, daggers or other dangerous weapons. The police authorities are empowered to destroy all such weapons that are taken from violators of the law.

Persons purchasing firearms that may be concealed on one's person must register names, ages, occupation, address and such other information as may be required with the seller of the weapon. The purchaser must also show that he has secured the permit to carry such weapon.

Proper records must be kept by dealers in firearms and these shall be open at all times to the inspection of peace officers.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL.

ASK STATE'S PERMISSION.

The City Council decided yesterday to make immediate application to the State Board of Health for permission to discharge the effluent from the treated sewage into the east basin at the inner harbor.

The city proposes to erect a sewage-treatment plant at the foot of McFarland street, Wilmington, to handle the sewage from that district. The State has control of the discharge of sewage into the ocean, and it is necessary to obtain such a permit, according to the advice of the City Attorney.

The Board of Public Works received from the City Engineer yesterday a report that the lowest bidder for the construction of the proposed plant is the Los Angeles Planing Mill Company, its figures being $4237. The budget appropriation for this project was $5500. The board will withhold the award of this contract until the desired permit is secured from the State Board of Health.

NOB HILL RAZING.

GRADE WILL BE LOWERED.

It now seems a certainty that Nob Hill—private property and streets and alleys—will come down to the grade of the harbor boulevard. The movement has reached the point where the form of contract has been submitted to the Board of Public Works for its approval, as it is interested in so much as the streets and alleys are to be included in the project for razing the entire hill. This contract was submitted by the board to the City Attorney yesterday for his approval as to its legality.

F. H. Gridley and John F. Dodson are the prospective contractors. The work is to be done under private contract, the city simply issuing the required permits for excavating in the streets and alleys.

It is proposed to do this work for 22½ cents per cubic foot. The hill will be sluiced away with water from the bay, and the earth will be piled across the bay to be deposited on Terminal Island.

This project will add a large area of valuable territory to the business district of San Pedro.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

ACTION OF COMMISSION.

The Police Commission yesterday granted a transfer of the saloon permit held by Fred Meriwether for No. 535 South Spring street to Trueblood & Smith for No. 256 East Second street.

The commission granted a transfer of the wholesale liquor permit for No. 530 West Sixth street from John Shepek to the John Shepek Company, a corporation recently formed.

The No. 2 restaurant liquor permit for No. 315 West Third street was transferred from Leslie M. West to Emanuel Ferrari.

The commission denied the applications of the San Pedro Business Men's Athletic and Social Club for a social club liquor permit for No. 129 Sixth street, San Pedro, and of George Joerissen for a No. 1 restaurant liquor permit for No. 423 West Eighth street. It laid on the table the application of the Blue and Gold Social Club for a social club liquor permit for No. 314½ Central avenue, pending some vacancies in the list of such permits. This is a negro organization.

TURNS DOWN KILFOIL.

NO CHAUFFEUR'S PERMIT.

For the second time the application of Phil A. Kilfoil was before the Police Commission yesterday for a chauffeur's permit. Kilfoil was convicted of rape and has appealed the case. He is at liberty pending the decision on this appeal.

Mayor Rose and Commissioner Owen were emphatic in their expression of disapproval of the application, but Commissioner Morgan supported it, and voted against the motion to deny the application.

Kilfoil in a letter accompanying his application stated that his was an unusual case. The Mayor and Commissioner Owen declared that this certainly was the case and that it was impossible to let a man convicted of rape have a chauffeur's permit, so that he might be brought into contact with women and children in the way such a business would permit.

Improvement at Harbor.

John Balch was awarded by the Board of Public Works yesterday the contract for the improvement of Fifth street, San Pedro, from Pacific avenue to the westerly city limits.

The contract price is $44,774.37, and the inspection fees will amount to $400. The City Engineer estimates that 110 days will be necessary to complete this work.

The improvement includes oiled macadam paving, a storm sewer, curbing, gutters and sidewalks.

STIRS THE EAST SIDE.

The recent action of the Police Commission in granting a social club liquor permit to the East Side Merchants' Club, No. 2124½ North Broadway, has stirred up certain circles on the east side so that they propose to file charges of misrepresentation in an endeavor to secure a revocation of the permit.

The opponents appeared before the commission after the permit was granted, and were told that they were too late. A meeting on the subject was held in Asbury Methodist Church Monday night, and a delegation was appointed to wait upon the Police Commission yesterday morning to renew the efforts for action on revocation of the permit. The delegation was informed by Mayor Rose yesterday that the time for protest against issuance of the permit had expired, but that if the statements made as to misrepresentation of membership could be substantiated, they should be placed before the Chief of Police and doubtless would result in the club officials being cited to appear before the commission to show cause why their permit should not be revoked.

The club officials aver that the club has 119 members, composed of representative east side business men. With their application they filed a statement of the recent vote on prohibition in the fifteen east side precincts, showing a vote of 2187 for prohibition and 3411 against it, or a majority of 1224 against a "dry" programme.

The allegation is made by the opponents that men whose names appear on the membership roll of the club never saw it and had no intention of becoming members. On the other hand, the officials of the club state that every man whose name appears had signed an application for membership and was voted into the club by the directors. They declare that their actions have been open and that they court investigation.

CURTAIL LIQUOR SALES.

NO PUBLIC SOLICITATION.

Upon the recommendation of Mayor Rose, the Police Commission yesterday adopted a resolution that puts the ban upon the general solicitation of orders for liquors for the family trade by proprietors, solicitors and employees of wholesale liquor establishments.

The resolution states that the present manner of such solicitation, and the furnishing of samples of liquors, has been such as to constitute violations of the law and an inconvenience to the public.

The resolution provides that the Chief of Police shall serve notice upon each holder of a wholesale liquor permit "that the personal solicitation of the public for orders covering the sale of liquors by the holders of wholesale liquor establishment license permits, or any employee, will constitute improper conduct of the business, provided, however, that this restriction does not apply to the solicitation of orders from those engaged in the sale of liquor."

WANTS MARKSMEN.

TARGET PRACTICE FOR POLICE.

The Chief of Police yesterday recommended that the Police Commission request the Council to provide for 25,000 rounds of ammunition for 38-caliber revolvers, so the police may have weekly practice at target shooting, with ten rounds a week for each man to be used under supervision.

Chief Sebastian states that the patrolmen have been strongly criticised for their poor marksmanship, but that it is not fair to require them to keep in practice at their own expense. The commission decided to ask the Council for the supplies required.

TRAGIC DRAMA OF HOME LIFE.

BROTHER AND WIDOWED SISTER ENTER ODD COMPACT.

Each Agree not to Marry and to Contribute to a Common Fund When They Set up Housekeeping Together—Then She Passes Away and ——.

Moved by motives of sympathy for her widowed state and the incumbered condition of her property, Theron L. Hurlbert came to the rescue of his sister, Mrs. Lillian D. Hoag. He provided means for burying her husband, Abraham Hoag, bought feed for the cattle on his 620-acre farm in Riverside county, and assisted his sister financially.

Mrs. Hoag, he says, expressed great gratitude for his help, and proposed that she would not remarry if he did not take a wife. If he provided for her during the rest of her life, she said she would keep house for him. Each was to save for old age, and the accumulation would become the property of the survivor.

Now, Mr. Hurlbert confesses that he is not a business man, and he accepted his sister's terms. With his own savings he paid off an accumulation of $1100 on the ranch, giving his sister a clear title. He worked at his trade and turned his wages over to his sister. Ten year ago they moved to Los Angeles, sister and brother continuing to reside in the same house.

Mrs. Hoag was taken sick and died May 24 last. He says she did not take him into her confidence and did not explain what she had done with the deed. It appears that she executed a will and that the Title Insurance and Trust Company, executor of the estate, filed an inventory as her separate property.

Under the terms of the will Mr. Hurlbert is to receive the income from the property, which is to be held in trust. At his death one-third of the estate is to go to her niece, Millie L. Hurlbert, and two-thirds is to be held by the trustee for the benefit and education of the two grandnieces, Laura and Beatrice Cobb, minors.

Mr. Hoag opposes the administration of the estate. He filed a complaint yesterday, naming the executor, his niece and grandnieces, defendants, Pierce Bros. & Company, the Clara Barton Hospital and Harley E. MacDonald and others, also defendants as general creditors. The court is asked to issue a restraining order and to ad judge Mr. Hurlbert owner of the property.

ALLEGES BETRAYAL.

"LITTLE END" DEAL.

The complaint of Gus H. Bauer, in which is exploited, as it appears, a betrayal of a long-existing friendship, involves an exchange of property, the little end of which he apparently got. He sets out that James North, a real estate dealer, was his friend for many years. He says he employed him as his agent to sell or exchange property he owned. He alleges that U. S. Armstrong, also a real estate dealer, knew N. Mercadante, who owned property at No. 901 Stanford avenue.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Armstrong had a written option from Mr. Mercadante agreeing to sell his property for $16,000. It further asserts that the agreement between Mr. North and Mr. Armstrong was for the former to deal with Mr. Bauer and the latter to act for the owner of the property.

It is alleged that Mr. North represented to Mr. Bauer that Mr. Mercadante agreed to exchange his property for $24,000. He said that Mr North believed it to be worth that sum. He advised Mr. Bauer to make the exchange.

The deal was made, Mr. Bauer putting up 5000 shares of stock of the Cudahy Walnut Land Company, worth $7500, lots at Raymond avenue near Twenty-ninth street, a note for $6000 and $6000 cash. Mr. North was to receive $500 commission for the exchange. It is alleged that Mr. Armstrong was paid by Mr. Mercadante $1000 out of the money Mr. Bauer turned over and that $425 was paid to Mr. North.

Mr. Bauer asks for a temporary restraining order; that Mr. Armstrong be enjoined from selling or disposing of the property, and that the 5000 shares be decreed the property of the plaintiff.

CHARGE DISMISSED.

RICCARDI IS FREED.

Attorney C. V. Riccardi, charged with embezzling $1500 from his former client, William E. Shaw, an engineer, was discharged in Judge Craig's court yesterday on a motion by Deputy District Attorney Doran.

In asking for a dismissal of the case Mr. Doran explained that he had received a letter from Mrs. Alma Shaw, wife of the complaining witness, and the State's principal witness, mailed from a New Mexico town, in which she stated that she would not appear against the debonair attorney.

NOT "THE" JUDGE.

RIVERA LOSES OUT.

R. P. Rivera has had the trouble and expense of being elected police judge for the short term for his pains. Judge Shenk decided yesterday that Judge White's term does not expire until January 1 next. The decision was the result of a special proceeding to require Judge White to turn over the records of his office to Mr. Rivera, who claimed to be the duly elected and qualified police judge, and entitled to the possession of the records, and to discharge the duties of the office.

Judge White set up Section 111 of the Code of Civil Procedure of the Act of 1880, which provides that when a vacancy occurs for justice of the peace the Board of Supervisors shall appoint an eligible person for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Mr. Rivera based his claims on the County Government Act of 1897 which provides, in sub-section 19 and Section 25, that the Board of Supervisors shall have power to fill by appointment all vacancies that may occur in any elective county or township office except Superior Court judge or Supervisor, and that the appointee shall hold office for the unexpired term or to the next general election.

The court held that a general statute does not repeal by implication or otherwise a previous special statute; in other words, Section 111 is a statute on a particular subject, mentioning a particular office, and under its provisions Judge White holds office for the unexpired term until January 1 next.

LIBEL SUIT.

ALL OVER IRRIGATION.

The $50,000 libel suit of Harold A. Gilman, an attorney, against L. V. Shepherd and thirty-three other defendants, is on trial before a jury in Judge Houser's court. The alleged libel is based on a communication sent to entrymen and land owners which is asserted to be malicious and defamatory.

Mr. Shepherd, it is alleged in the communication, turned over to Mr. Gilman $2613.96. The latter was secretary and a director of the Chuckawalla and Palo Verde Irrigation Association and was appointed its attorney. The letter set forth that it was Mr. Shepherd's policy to work for the Newlands bill.

It is alleged that Mr. Gilman stated to the board of directors that he proposed to cut loose from the Newlands bill and have the association build its own reservoir. He proposed to employ an engineer and prospect for a reservoir site in Arizona, and in order to cover the cost of construction, he would assess entrymen 75 per cent.

Another proposition was to construct a dam at Bull Head Canyon. It was stated that R. M. Teague found he could not do this after spending $10,000 in a vain endeavor. It was also asserted that the whole thing was a huge land-selling proposition, that Mr. Gilman claimed to have 45,000 acres, the commission on which if sold would amount to $20,000.

Mr. Gilman alleged that the intent of the communication was to charge him with misconduct as an officer of the association; that he was not of good moral character; not a person to be trusted; was professionally unfit as an attorney, and that he was dishonest, unscrupulous and desirous of cheating and defrauding the members of the association.

The defendants objected to the introduction of testimony, on the ground that the complaint did not state a cause of action. The day was taken up in argument on this question.

DOUBLE JEALOUSY.

BOTH ARE TO BLAME.

Mrs. Eleanor J. Lovins and her artist husband, Henry Lovins, are just where they started. Judge Monroe yesterday denied her complaint and Mr. Lovins's cross-complaint for divorce. The court said it was a case of jealousy on both sides. Both were to blame for the domestic infelicity. One was as much to blame as the other. He found no ground for a decree.

As they are separated, with no likelihood of coming together, the court gave Mrs. Lovins the custody of her daughter, Jeanne Louise, and ordered Mr. Lovins to pay $12.50 a week for her support. The couple were married at Denver, September 3, 1911, and separated August 5 last. She says he has real estate worth $10,000.

ATTORNEY'S FEES.

PUZZLE BEFORE COURT.

What lawyers consider a reasonable fee was the thesis in the Boland-Tufts suit in Judge McCormick's court yesterday. Francis H. Boland, who testified that he had been retained by Mrs. Jenny H. S. Roe Tufts to bring a divorce suit and to investigate the character of her husband and his associates, placed his services for fourteen months' work at approximately $20,000.

Former Judge Gray, Ora W. Morton, Carroll Allen and E. B. Drake were called by him yesterday to fix a reasonable fee. Judge Gray, who was called first, was asked a hypothetical question, containing the facts as brought out in Mr. Boland's testimony. He said such services were reasonably worth $20,000.

"How many lawyers are there in this city?" he was asked on cross-examination by Attorney Schenck.

"I don't know," was the frank response.

"Well, would you say there are 400?"

"Oh, a great many more than that."

"Now, as a matter of fact," continued Mr. Schenck, "the average of the whole array would not be one-fourth of $20,000?"

"No, I don't think that is a matter of fact," was the reply.

While Mr. Boland brought suit to recover the balance of fees claimed, the testimony went thoroughly into the scenes and incidents leading up to the trial of Mr. Tufts, charged with having obtained property of his wife. Mr. Boland says he stepped in when $100,000 of the estate has been squandered and prevented the great bulk of the estate from being wasted.

SAME OLD STORY.

DANCE HALL "ROMANCE."

They met at a dance hall; he found she had a little money. They eloped to Santa Ana, and she became his wife. Then the divorce court was sought to untie the knot, and it kept them hitched.

This is the thumb-nail history of Annie Brobst, aged 45, who thought she had found a mate in Henry Brobst, 52. She testified in Judge Monroe's court yesterday that, after marrying Mr. Brobst, he did not work and when he added to his other sin that of drinking, she ordered him out of her home.

"Were you introduced to him at the dance hall?" asked the court.

"Yes," was the reply.

"I suppose an introduction was given by the floor manager?"

Mrs. Brobst admitted it was.

"And you had only known him twelve days?"

That was also correct.

"Well, I never knew it otherwise," commented Judge Monroe. "Of course, you had a little money and the man is always after that in such cases. You will continue to patronize dance halls?"

"No, I have cut them out," she sadly replied.

"Well, I think you had better. The decree is denied. The evidence is not sufficient. You were old enough to know what you were doing."

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

SENT TO WHITTIER. Thomas Combs, colored, aged 12, who wanted to see the engines run and caused the destruction of the Seventh-street school, was sent to Whittier by Judge Taft yesterday until he reaches his majority. Tommy is a little chap who did not seem to realize the enormity of his act. He admitted setting fire to the building.

GRANTED DAMAGES. A jury in Judge Houser's court yesterday gave judgment for $4500 in favor of Thomas J. Hurley in his suit against the C. J. Kubach Company for personal injuries in September, 1912. Mr. Hurley, an employee, asked $50,000 damages, alleging a cement chute had struck him while he was working at something else. He alleged injuries to his spine, ribs and lung, and claimed that the company was negligent. The company set up that it was an unavoidable accident.

DIES WITHOUT WILL. Edward Eliot, who died last Wednesday, left an estate of $75,000. A petition for letters of administration was filed by the Union Trust and Savings Bank yesterday. The heirs are the daughters and sons—Clara E. Noyes, Edward L. and John V. Eliot, Wilhelmina E. Wotkyns and Laura E. North.

WANTS HIM ENJOINED. Mrs. Lula C. Hill filed suit yesterday to compel her husband, Charles E. Hill, a railroad man, to remain in his position. She alleges that he has mortgaged the bulk of their personal effects and that he contemplates leaving the city. She further asserts that she is afraid of him. Separate maintenance is prayed for.

BISHOP'S ESTATE. An appraisement and inventory of the estate of the late Bishop Robert McIntyre was filed in the Probate Court Monday, the value being $28,810.75. The estate consists of real and personal property, stocks and bonds.

GRANTS NEW TRIAL. Judge Conley, who tried the suit of Gottlieb Rahmel against Jules and Mary Rost, giving judgment for the defendants, has granted a new trial and allowed the defendants to file an amended answer. Word to this effect was received by Attorneys Jaffray and Brown, counsel for Mr. Rahmel, yesterday. The action was the result of Mr. Rahmel trading a lot and three houses in this city for 160 acres in Shasta county. He alleged in his complaint that the defendants represented the land as heavily timbered; that $4000 worth had been cut off, leaving a quarter of the land with timber. An investigation showed that the land was covered with brush only, according to Mr. Rahmel. He asked damages.
